O. W. DUNBAR DEAD

WELL KNOWN NEWSPAPER MAN DIED THIS MORNING.

Was a Native of Oregon and Was Born Fifty-six Years Ago—Spent His Youth in California and Many Years in Astoria and Alaska—Belonged to a Prominent Family.

O. W. Dunbar, the editor of the Daily Guide, died at his home on Garden street this morning at 11 o'clock, after an illness of four months' duration, of Bright's disease and dropsy.

Mr. Dunbar was born in the Waldo Hills on the 6th day of March, 56 years ago. He spent his early days in the Willamette valley, and while a young man went to California, where he worked on the San Francisco Call. He remained with that paper several years, when he returned to this state and began the publication of a paper in Astoria, which he continued for 14 years. While he was editor of that paper Sam Simpson, the well known Oregon poet, was a member of the staff and became a personal friend of the editor.

After leaving Astoria Mr. Dunbar went to Skagway, Alaska, where he edited a paper for five years. Upon leaving Skagway Mr. Dunbar came to Pendleton and in November, 1902, commenced the publication of the Pendletonian, which was afterwards merged into the Daily Guide.

The deceased was of a prominent family: one brother, W. R. Dunbar, being register of the land office at Vancouver, Wash., for a number of years. He died March 24, 1903 of the same disease that claimed his brother. Another brother is R. O. Dunbar, one of the supreme judges of the state of Washington, who is suffering from the effects of a severe fall received a few days ago, and telegraphs he cannot come to his brother's funeral. He leaves to survive him a wife and one daughter, Miss Agnes Dunbar, well known as an elocutionist. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

PERSONAL MENTION.

P. S. Turner, of Elgin, spent the day in the city on business. A. W. Downer, a well known farmer of Nolin, is in the city for a short business visit. Thomas Stubblefield, who has been ill with pneumonia and heart trouble, is improving.

Mrs. J. E. Dishman, of Walla Walla, was the guest of friends in the city yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. White, of The Dalles, are visiting with Pendleton friends for a few days. Miss Maude Buxton, of Forest Grove, is the guest of Miss Blanche Bailey for a few days.

Miss Cora Murphy, teacher of the sixth grade, who has been ill for several days, is much improved. E. W. McComas left this morning for Echo, where he will visit with the men interested in planting sugar beets.

J. C. Lindsey, of Portland, traveling freight agent of the Illinois Central, was a business visitor in the city today. J. E. Moore, of Wallace, Idaho, the former proprietor of the Hotel Pendleton, was a visitor in the city today on business.

Professor E. B. Conklin visited La Grande between trains last night, going over on last evening's train, and returning this morning. Conductor J. B. Smith, who visited his brother, Henry Smith, who has been taken to the asylum, has resumed his run on the mountain division.

Mrs. Horace McKinnie, of Walla Walla, is the guest of Miss Edyth Crockett for a short time while returning from a visit with friends at Hot Lake. J. C. Stewart, one of the prominent farmers of Helix, was a visitor in the city this afternoon, having come in on the Hunt train to transact business.

OLD FOES TO MEET AGAIN.

Walla Walla Bowlers to Go to Pendleton Tuesday. Walla Walla bowlers will roll a game with Pendleton next Tuesday in the latter town, says the Walla Walla Union. This is a return game to that played here last December, when the local team secured a majority of about 400 pins on the visitors.

The Pendleton team has since been putting in some good practice, and bowling is a favorite game in that city, there being considerable rivalry between the "Holy Rollers" and the team captained by William Johnson, which will play the local men.

ELKS' "HOBO" PARTY.

Baker City B. P. O. E. Entertain 300 Guests in Royal Manner. The "Hobo" party given last night by the Elks' lodge at Baker City, was attended by about 300 members of the order from La Grande, Sumpster, Huntington, Boise City and Union.

It was one of the jolliest meetings ever held by any fraternity in Baker City, and the characteristic good fellowship overflowed, even worse than the Powder river during the recent freshet.

The 100-stamp smelter at Taklam, in the Waldo mining district, will be ready for business by June 1.
