The Wade Library, in which are some rare and valuable books, will be sold—Office Furniture, Mining Stock and Interest in Grain and Grazing Lands—Long List of Mining Stocks are the least valuable holdings.

A part of the horses belonging to the Wade estate which will be offered for sale April 8 at the Froome stable on Main street, are now in the city and will be kept at the stable until the time of the sale. NOT GOOD, NOT HERE

FROM "AMERICAN JOURNAL OF HEALTH."

The American authority on matters of sanitation and hygiene. "The factors which distinguish a superior from an inferior coffee are to be found, first, in the quality of raw material that is selected, and, secondly, in the skill and care with which the berry is treated. Illustrations of what is meant by a poor coffee are everywhere at hand. Examples of what an expert understands by a distinctly superior coffee, however—one which is characterized by the best quality of berry and the most discriminating skill and care throughout all the processes of preparation—these are met with only at long intervals. Despite this fact, however, such a coffee came before our attention only a short time ago. It was Spurr's Revere Coffee, offered by the Howard W. Spurr Coffee Company, of Boston. In response to a most crucial examination, this coffee displayed a purity, a strength, a delicate and delicious flavor, and a hygienic value such as to warrant its mention in our editorial columns and to justify us in recommending it to our readers in terms of most unqualified praise. A number of tests performed of different samples of this article served to exhibit the fact that there was no variation in its high standard of merit. The blending of the coffee in question was wholly faultless, as evidenced by the possession of a degree of savoriness which was all that could be asked by the most discriminating connoisseur. Now the fact to which in this connection the Journal of Health desire to direct attention is that a distinctly superior coffee such as Spurr's Revere Coffee has virtues of far greater importance than mere toothsome. Besides being eminently agreeable to the palate, a coffee like the one to which reference has just been made performs a hygienic function of such moment that it can not be neglected by any seeker after good health. The effect which a high grade coffee exercises on the digestive organs is beneficial in an eminent degree. It aids the process by which nutrition is converted into vitality; and by stimulating the desire for food serves to increase the stock of vigor which, through the agency of an increased appetite and a consequent enhanced consumption of nourishment we come to have at our command. Properties such as these belong only to a distinctly superior coffee like Spurr's Revere Coffee, and by no means attach to the general run of coffees."

The above sustains our contention that Revere Coffee is the best coffee in the world.

TAXES PER CAPITA

DELINQUENT TOMORROW ON DOGS AND THEIR OWNERS.

Something Will Be Doing in Both Instances—A Large Number of Canines That Had Been Captured Were Turned Loose—Operations to Be Resumed Tomorrow—No Penalty for Refusal to Pay the Poll Tax.

The city marshal is beginning to get his axe out again for the dog tax, and also for the poll tax, both of which will be delinquent tomorrow evening. The people have been noticing for some time that the howl of hunger and despair no longer rose from the concentrating camp at the corner of Webb and Cottonwood, and have wondered at the silence, but the marshal has arisen to explain. He started in to collect dog taxes in a right spirit, but a wrong manner. In the first place the taxes were due, but not delinquent until April 1, and he therefore did not have the full and unlimited right to slaughter until that date. So he turned loose his captives and rested.

Tomorrow the dog catcher will be abroad once more, but this time his lasso will not be for the dogs, but for the owners thereof. He will notify the owners that they owe the city tax, and if they do not dig up they will be hauled into court, where Judge Fitz Gerald will add a few costs to the original tax.

The poll tax will be also delinquent on April 1, and the marshal will make an effort to collect from all who are still owing the city. It will be an uncertain job, however, as there is no penalty attached to non-payment. The marshal can cut off the dog if the owner refuses to pay up, but it would hardly be permissible to rob a man of his head because he refuses to pay the tax thereon.

ADVERTISING INDIAN ROBES.

Manager Ferguson Outfitted the Murray and Mack Comedy Company.

When the Murray and Mack comedy company was in Pendleton, the manager of the company purchased 12 of the finest Indian robes in the store rooms of the Pendleton Woolen Mills, and began the arrangement of an Indian dance scene to be presented as one of the features of the Murray and Mack show. C. J. Ferguson, manager of the Woolen Mills, has just received notices from the company that the Indian scene was put on at Salt Lake, Denver, Grand Junction and other places, and that Pendleton Indian robes and the Indian scene had brought down the houses wherever it had been presented.

This company will introduce the Pendleton Indian robe into every large city in the East, and will do more genuine advertising for the city and institution making the beautiful robes, than any other advertising feature yet adopted by the mills. The company takes pleasure in displaying the Pendleton product in their travels and Mr. Ferguson feels that he has made a lucky hit in outfitting these people.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EXHIBITS.

All the Different Samples of School Work to Be on Display at Assembly Hall Tomorrow.

The educational exhibit of the Pendleton public schools, will be on display tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1:30 at assembly hall, for the inspection of the public, prior to being sent to St. Louis.

The exhibit consists of samples of writing, drawing, historical work, geography, mathematics, composition and all the regular branches taught in all the grades of the public schools, and the patrons of the schools are invited to inspect it before it is sent to the fair.

Professor Conklin regrets that the actual vital school work, such as reading, behavior, analysis, the general understanding of the subject and the ability to explain and enlarge upon the studies, in the schools cannot be exhibited in a written display of this kind, and can only be enjoyed by a visit to the schools, while in session.

EXAMINATIONS PROGRESSING.

O. R. & N. Employees Are Taking Physical Tests Very Slowly.

The physical examination of employees on the O. R. & N. is progressing slowly. It being a new system the employees are slow to understand its meaning and extent. Many of them think it is a plan to rid the service of objectionable men and others think it a system that will gradually replace the old employees with younger men.

So far as the examinations have progressed, no one in this city, La Grande or Huntington has been found deficient. The company is anxious to retain every old employee in the service and any discharges that may be made will be strictly in the interest of public safety, and not until after repeated examinations have been made and the employee found deficient in a pronounced degree.

FISHING SEASON OPENS.

April 1 Will Witness Rush of Sportsmen to Mountain Streams.

The trout fishermen are beginning to get out their rods, brighten up the brass trimmings on them, straighten out their lines, sharpen up their hooks and paint the files for the approaching season, which opens tomorrow.

Great interest is being manifested this year, and it is reported that the fish will be plenty and the sport good. The local enthusiasts are all making preparation to have the first pull out of the streams, and some of them are even planning to get out a few hours ahead in order to be in readiness to dabble their lines in the pool as soon as the clock strikes the season open.

The ladies are also going to do a little fishing this season, in keeping with the spirit of leap year. They are not going to allow their husbands and brothers and friends to have all of the fun, but will make them take them into the haunts of the speckled game. Last year many of the ladies accompanied parties to the upper mountain streams, arranging many delightful excursions, and some of them became quite expert with the rod and line. This year more will follow the creeks in search of the trout.

Owing to the importation of stock, and to the strict observance of the season, the fish will be as plentiful this year as last; but if more people pursue them, the catching will be another matter.

A heavily charged electric light wire fell across a telephone wire at Media, Pa. T. A. De la Hunt tried to use his phone and was struck dead. His children have secured a judgment of $15,000 against the company.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to me will call and settle their accounts as I need the money.

POPULAR ERRORS

HOMESEEKERS WHOSE PREMISES ARE FAULTY.

Many Are Comparatively Ignorant of Many of the Conditions Prevailing Here, and Cannot Get a Foothold Without Changing Their Basis of Calculation—Imperative Need of General Irrigation Schemes to Break Country into Small Farms.

The westbound trains are all filled with emigrants these days, who are coming to seek their fortunes in this Western world, and the local real estate dealers have been busy for some time showing to them the bargains in land which are to be found in the vicinity; but find that in most cases the newcomers have not the money to buy a farm in this part of the state.

There seems to be an idea prevalent in the East that this is a country where a few dissatisfied squatters are longing for some one to buy them out at discount prices, and so they come with a few hundred, or perhaps a few thousand dollars, and are surprised when they are told that the money they have will not buy a large farm here.

All the travelers seem to be good citizens, but many are coming to a place where they have not the capital to start with. All could buy small tracts, but the small tract will not pay, if it be wheat land or pasture. For that reason the particular class that is now on the road is not the class that stands long in Umatilla county, where land is worth something, and things are now done on a somewhat large scale.

If the country was irrigated it would be different, for the men with the little tracts would then be until that time comes, it will be the man with several thousand dollars to win him a home here. Yesterday a carload of tourists passed through town bound for Washington. They were all smoking, young men and men, and the old women. They expected to buy land in Washington and settle near together.

Going to Salt Lake. Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Markey, Port Huron, Mich., will leave evening for Salt Lake, where Markey goes in the interest of Maccabees. Mr. and Mrs. were taken on a trip to the reservation this morning by Dr. J. Smith and Lee Teutsch.

Coffee Did Not Kill Him

He came to Dayton from Maryland in 1832. He drank six cups of coffee daily all his life.
