DENMARK'S KING

KING CHRISTIAN IS EIGHTY-SIX YEARS OLD.

Old Gentleman is Called 'The Father-in-Law of European Loyalty' - He is in Excellent Health and Robust for His Great Age - His Mental Condition is Also of the Very Best - One of the World's Oldest Rulers.

Copenhagen, April 8.—In the midst of a family gathering of kings and queens, dukes and duchesses, to say nothing of numerous royalties of lesser degree, the venerable King Christian, dean of all the world's rulers and "father-in-law of European royalty," celebrated today his 86th birthday. Besides Crown Prince Frederick and Prince Valdemar, who are residents of Copenhagen, the family party included King Christian's second son, King George of Greece, his daughters, the Dowager Empress of Russia, the Duchess of Cumberland and Queen Alexandra of England, the latter being accompanied by King Edward and Princess Charles of Denmark.

There have been reports of late that the old king's health is exceedingly precarious, and some of the rumor-mongers have even gone so far as to state that, from a mental point of view, he has fallen into a state of senile decay. These reports are absolutely without foundation, as any person may testify who has had the pleasure of meeting him.

Some months ago he was rather seriously ill, but his splendid and marvelous physique enabled him to pull through all right and today, though not far from the ninetieth milestone of life's journey, is in the full enjoyment of excellent health. Those who see him daily in the grounds about Fredensborg or on his way to the riding-school cannot but be impressed by his soldierly bearing and still handsome face and figure.

Far from being in a state of mental collapse, as reported, the old king still looks after the affairs of his kingdom with as keen and watchful an eye as ever he did. Rising at his customary early hour he has a solitary breakfast and after a turn in the gardens 9 o'clock invariably finds him perusing the newspapers. State business is the next item on the program, and by 11 o'clock the king wishes to be alone. With his lighted cigar, he takes his stand at the ground floor window of the castle to watch the parade and relief of the soldiers on guard. He scrutinizes his guards with the skilled eye of an old soldier, and the smallest irregularity cannot escape him.

As before stated, there is not the slightest foundation for the reports that the king is "fast breaking up," and that his death may be looked for at any time. It is true, however, that in deference to the pleadings of his family, he has shifted a part of the burdens of state to the shoulders of the crown prince, in anticipation of the day, which cannot be far distant, when his own hand must release the reins of government.

GOVERNMENT AND INDUSTRY.

American Academy of Political Science in Session.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 8.—The eighth annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science began here today. This year's meeting is devoted to addresses upon the topic of the government in its relation to industry, and more than the usual number of distinguished Americans will make addresses at the several sessions. The session this evening will be devoted to the annual address, which will be delivered by George B. Cortelyou, secretary of commerce and labor, on the subject, "Some Agencies for the Extinction of Our Domestic and Foreign Trade." Other prominent speakers to be heard during the meeting, which will continue through tomorrow, are James M. Beck, former assistant attorney-general; Frank P. Sargent, commissioner of immigration; Professor F. A. Cleveland of New York University, and William B. Ridgely, controller of the currency.

TRADES UNIONISM.

Debate Between Oregon and Washington Universities.

Seattle, Wash., April 8.—Keen interest is manifested by the students in the debate tonight between the teams of the University of Washington and the University of Oregon. Oregon has the affirmative and Washington the negative side of the proposition: "Resolved, That the history of trades unionism in the United States for the last 20 years shows a general tendency beneficial to the best interests of the country." This will be the fifth annual debate between the two universities, each having won two out of the four previous contests.

NO MORE EXTENSION. Railroad Building Will Not Long Continue.

Chicago, Ill., April 8.—The large Western railroads have now under construction about 1,348 miles of new track. Practically all of this mileage will be completed within the next three months, and then most of the roads will cease new construction. Very few new lines are being surveyed.

The projects which will shortly be completed may be roughly listed as follows: Frisco, 305 miles; Missouri Pacific, 320 miles; Southern Pacific, 260 miles; Rock Island, 110 miles; Wabash, 273 miles. As far as known, none of these companies has any plans for extensive railroad building during 1905.

Cattlegrowers' Convention.

There will be a convention of the cattlegrowers of Oregon, held in Portland April 16, beginning at 10 a. m., and continuing in the evening. The people interested in this great industry are earnestly requested to be present, as subjects of the greatest importance to cattlemen will be discussed. The meeting will be held at the Auditorium, between Taylor and Salmon, on Third street.
