TWO LETTERS ABOUT TRIB

Man Who Was Willing to Try and Was Convinced.

A. S. Burroughs, Baker City, Ore., Dec. 15, 1902, wrote: "I have been a very hard drinker for twenty years, few people drank more than I. If your TRIB is a cure I want it." On May 15, 1903, Mr. Burroughs wrote: "It is a pleasure for me to recommend TRIB as a cure for the liquor habit. It has now been six months since I completed a cure with TRIB. I have never had better health. I eat well and sleep well. I believe it is the best cure for the liquor addiction yet placed upon the market." Tallman & Co., local agents.

NEWS OF ATHENA

MRS. M'INTYRE WILL UNDERGO OPERATION.

A Son Was Born—Lumber Yard Will Be Moved and Will Erect New Building—Thomas Ogle's Health is Improving—Easter Party on Rosenzweig Lawn—Partially Insane From a Kick—Farm Operations Backward From Too Much Rain.

Athena, April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, of this city, received a visit from Lawrence Gunigar of South Dakota.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Bell, April 1, a son.

Miss Lizzie McIntyre, accompanied her mother to Walla Walla Tuesday morning. Mrs. McIntyre will undergo a surgical operation for an abnormal growth in her throat, from which she has been suffering for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bowman of Pendleton spent Sunday in this city.

The Athena lumber yard will change its location to the south side of Main street, west of Second street. Workmen started yesterday to lay the foundation, which will be 50x120 feet. The wall will be 17 feet high, and on Main street 24. It will hold 400,000 feet of lumber.

Thomas Ogle, who has been ill for some time, is gradually improving.

Miss Eva McDonald of Walla Walla, spent this week here visiting her sister, Mrs. A. E. Dudley.

About 75 small children spent Easter evening on the lawn at the Rosenzweig cottage, most of them being her pupils. They spent a most enjoyable evening.

Republican delegates went down to Pendleton to attend the county convention this evening.

The most of the Athena people are busy putting in their crops. On account of the long, rainy season, they are so far behind it will keep them busy if they are to catch up.

Serious Accident to Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller, the harness maker of Weston, was driving to this place. A trace became unfastened. He got out to fasten it, when the horse kicked him on the chin. He managed to get into the buggy and came on to town, and stopped at the Miller residence. While attempting to wash his face he fainted and a doctor was summoned. Part of the time since it has taken four men to hold him in bed. He is partially insane, partly due to a fractured skull which he received several years ago.

Kramer and Fenn to Ride.

Newark, N. J., April 9.—For the opening of the bicycle racing season at the Vailsburg track tomorrow.

Joyful am I. My sweetheart awaits me. Where is she?

Frank Kramer has entered the inaugural stakes, a half-mile scratch race, and the two-mile professional handicap. W. S. Fenn, holder of the five-mile world's record, will also appear in both races, and is likely to share the honor of starting from scratch with Kramer.

They Live in Nests.

Travelers who have returned from the heart of Africa and the Australasian continent tell wonderful stories of nest-building people who inhabit the wilds of those countries. In the busmen of Australia we find, perhaps, the lowest order of men that is known, says the Penny Magazine. They are so primitive that they do not know enough to build even the simplest form of huts for shelter. The nearest they can approach to it is to gather a lot of twigs and grass, and taking them into a thicket or jungle, build a nest for a home. The nest is usually built large enough for the family, and if the latter be numerous then the nests are of a very large size. Sometimes the foliage above will form a natural covering, but there is never any attempt at constructing a protection from the rain and storms.

The knowledge of good and evil has been complete in the world from the beginning of history; man has had nothing to learn since but the application of it.

The Czar's Presence.

"In personal conversation with the czar one is struck immediately with the shrinking shyness and softly apprehensive, almost feminine sweetness of the Russian emperor," says Arnold White in Everybody's magazine for March. "The contrast between the melancholy and reflective czar and the exuberantly vital kaiser, bubbling and boiling with unexpended life power, can be appreciated only by those who have conversed with both."

"It must not be supposed that Czar Nicholas II is destitute of strength because his habitual outlook on life is rather one of Oriental resignation than one of hopefulness that might be expected from the head of a great Christian nation. The czar is remarkable for a dignity which is the more noticeable because he is small in size, and his voice is gentle and womanly. The dignity is like the dignity of Queen Victoria, which impressed every one who entered her presence."

Anyway it was pleasant to realize that we can go to sleep at night with der satisfaction of knowing that in about 500 years we will not have to wait for a street car because der flying machine will be der ven ve visse for it.
