PARKER DESCRIBED

CREELMAN'S SKETCH OF THE PROMINENT DEMOCRAT.

Full of Vigor, But is Not a Plunger Like Mr. Roosevelt—Was Born and Reared on a Farm in New York—is a Quiet, Able, Unostentatious Man—Descended From New England Stock.

James Creelman, the noted journalist and correspondent, writing of Judge Parker, the probable democratic nominee for president, says:

Considering the fact that within a few months Judge Parker is likely to be the democratic candidate for president, it is worth while noticing his working traits as a public officer. He goes at his task without nervousness. It is hard to imagine a less nervous man. He works with method and deliberately.

Unlike President Roosevelt, he does not lurch at things in a fury of energy, but makes progress in orderly and calm mood. After dictating an opinion he goes over the sheets and strikes out everything unnecessary or rhetorical. But his corrections ordinarily relate merely to details; he does not have to pull his work to pieces.

Nor is there any one who has ever heard him speak discourteously or in anger to a subordinate. His tact and natural kindness make things move smoothly. Yet there is an iron firmness about him.

A careful estimate of Judge Parker's wealth places the value of all his possessions at about $20,000. This property he has acquired mostly by saving and good business judgment. His farm at Cortland came to him from his father. He was born on it and worked along its furrows as a boy. He owns two other farms. On his father's side the judge comes of old English stock.

All of his paternal ancestors were farmers. The farm bought by the grandfather in 1803 is now the property of Judge Parker.

On his mother's side Judge Parker derives good New England blood. His white-haired mother, who lives at Derby, Conn., is a woman of refinement, education and strong character. In the summer she spends the judge's vacation with him at Esopus. Her constant aim is to warn him against ambition. When the newspapers grow too loud in his praise he is sure to get a letter from his mother exhorting him to be humble.

Began as School Teacher.

The judge was born on the farm near Cortland almost 52 years ago. For several years he taught school.

In 1877 he was elected surrogate of Ulster county and was afterward elected for a second term. That was his first experience in public office. In 1885 he was induced to become chairman of the democratic state executive committee and in the campaign which he managed, David B. Hill was elected governor. Mr. Hill appointed him to a seat on the supreme court bench when Justice Westbrook died.

When Judge Parker was 33 years old he was unanimously nominated for the supreme court bench by the democrats. The republicans would not nominate an opponent. Not a vote was cast against him. He served on the supreme court bench until his election as chief judge of the court of appeals in 1897, in a plurality of about 60,000 votes.

WEIGHT OF RAILROAD STEEL.

Siberian Road Built of 54-Pound Rails; American Roads of 85-Pound Rails.

A patron of the Journal has requested us to answer the following questions:

(1) What is the weight per foot of the rails used in the construction of the trans-Siberian railroad?

(2) What is the weight per foot of the standard American rail?

Responding to the first question, permit us to say that the popular notion has been that the Siberian railroad extending from St. Petersburg to Port Arthur and Vladivostok was built of 35-pound rail to the yard.

Mr. Samuel Hill, however, who traveled the entire length of this road some two years ago, says that it is built of 54-pound steel—the lightest used anywhere in the world.

Responsive to the second question, it is proper to say that for a good many years after railroad construction began in the United States 56-pounds was the standard.

About 15 years ago this was raised to 70 pounds, and about 10 years ago again raised to 80 pounds—and today 90 pounds is a common rail in use on the great Eastern roads like the Pennsylvania.

The new construction on the Great Northern which was completed east of the Rocky mountains last year, consists of 85-pound steel.—Salem Journal.

DUCKS SWALLOWED GOLD.

Wild Excitement Over the Nuggets Found in Crops of Wild Ducks.

One of the greatest mining excitements ever occurring near Salt Lake is now on.

A great number of wild ducks have been found dead near Basin City, and investigation proves that the fowls had been killed by eating small gold nuggets which lodged in their crops.

Soon after the discovery dozens of citizens began to hunt ducks. The new scheme of mining was profitable to more than one of the hunters. Dr. Walker of Hyattville found a nugget in a duck's crop worth $11.85.

Other finds were made, and the gold fever is on. The nuggets swallowed by the birds were picked up on the shore of Paint Rock creek. Prospectors are already on the ground staking claims.—Exchange.

WINDSTORMS INCREASING.

Destruction of the Timber on the Mountains Gives Gales Full Sweep.

Old residents of the Blue mountains say the past winter has been one of the windiest winters in the history of settlement at the summit.

Formerly no snow drifts appeared anywhere on the mountain above the timber line, but of late years heavy drifts have piled around cabins and fences and the wind whistles fiercely through the open spaces where the timber has been removed.

At Kamela and Meacham this winter the drifts are especially high, and the wind has been very severe. As the timber is cut into cordwood and hauled off the ground, it gives the wind a free sweep and the summit is almost as windy now as the valley, 20 miles below.

American Women.

The great secret of the American woman's charms is her individuality. She is always original, gay and merry, generally amiable, and more often than not good tempered.

But how they do love to talk! It is born in them. They are interesting and possess the faculty of making delightful conversation, even about uninteresting subjects.

An American woman is often delightfully pretty, or extremely lovely, but she is rarely classically beautiful.

She has a keen sense of what is proper to do under certain circumstances, and seldom fails. To her husband she may be capricious, inconsiderate, selfish and exacting, but in her relations to her children all the nobler qualities come out.

Her taste in dress is perfect; and of her genius for adapting herself to environment there can be no question.—Chicago American.

Many a man's peace of mind has been upset for the day by a piece of poor bacon for breakfast.

BEARING DOWN PAINS

3647 Indiana Avenue. Chicago, Ill., Sept. 27, 1902.

I have been a sufferer with almost every kind of female trouble for years, but as long as I could get around and do my work I would not try patent medicines as I had no faith in them.

About eight months ago I had to take to my bed, suffering with prolapsus of the uterus, with bearing down pains and intense pains in the back. My aunt, who came to nurse me told me of Wine of Cardui and sent for a bottle. I am indeed glad that she did, for that first bottle started me on the road to recovery.

Mabel Cook

Sec'y, Woodman's Circle No. 70.

Wine of Cardui brings certain relief to women suffering any symptom of female weakness and perfectly regulates the menstrual flow. Wine of Cardui stops bearing down pains by permanently relieving the irritation which weakens the ligaments holding the womb in place. You need not suffer every month if you take this medicine. The periodical discharge will be painless and healthy without continual weakening drains. Wine of Cardui will make your health right and you may treat yourself privately in your own home. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today.

W. W. HARRAH OWNER

HOLT BROS. Side Hill Combined Harvester

The latest improved two-wheel, side-hill combined harvester has proven a boon to wheat raisers. It is the most successful, most economical and easiest machine to operate ever built.

These harvesters have been given abundant trials right here at home and all users are highly pleased. None have been dissatisfied and all are high in their praise.

The Holt side-hill harvester on a side hill is able to stick to the side of the hill, while the header will slip down the hill. The main wheels are vertical, which braces the machine to the side hills. It works equally adapted to level land.

The Holt harvesters are sold exclusively in this section by
