

Our Surpassing Soda

The soda water drawn at our fountain surpasses in absolute purity, in perfect cleanliness, in dainty appetizing service, in perfection of flavors.

We go the limit in making every drink as nearly perfect as it is possible to make it.

We spare neither time, trouble or expense.

There are many good reasons why you should drink all of your soda water here and for the fact that there is something about each drink that makes it taste different from other soda.

MAY BE LIBEL SUIT

Spokesman-Review to be the Defendant.

Edward Lewis Returned From the Bermudas to Be Confronted With the Belief That He Was Edmund Spencer, a Spokane Murderer—Has Been Subjected to Great Annoyance and Humiliation.

Edward Lewis, a waiter in the St. George restaurant, has a grievance against the Spokesman-Review, and that paper is in a fair way to be up against a libel suit to the extent of $5,000 or so.

At the time that Edmund Spencer killed his sweetheart, Ella Mundt, in Spokane about a year ago, Lewis was in the Bermudas; but the Spokesman-Review printed his picture instead of Spencer's, and now that Lewis is back in the west he is stopped every day or so with such queries as: "how long he has been out" and "how he happened to beat his sentence out of 12 years."

It will be remembered that Spencer, who was also a waiter, killed a girl in Spokane and was tried and convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to 13 years in the Walla Walla penitentiary, where he is now serving time. When Spencer was arrested the representative of the Spokesman-Review, in seeking for a picture to show to the world as the likeness of the man who was callous enough to murder his sweetheart, found a photograph among the belongings of the prisoner, and from it, a cut was made which appeared in the paper one or two days after the murder.

This photograph was a picture of Lewis, which had been given to Spencer before Lewis left for the east. The two men had been room-mates and friends while Lewis was working in Spokane, and during that time he had given the picture to the man who is now in the Walla Walla prison.

For a long time the friends of Lewis did not know of his whereabouts, and nothing was done about the mistake; but after he had returned west many of his friends, both in Spokane and elsewhere, have urged him to seek some reparation for the annoyance caused by the paper. Listening to their advice he is now contemplating bringing an action against the Spokane paper for $5,000 or more in damages, due him by the notoriety and humiliation brought about by the carelessness of the Spokesman reporter.

SHEARERS ON A STRIKE.

Two Hundred and Fifty Sheepshearers Want Higher Price for Work.

Rawlins, April 26.—Two hundred and fifty Wyoming sheepshearers are on strike for an increase of wages.

The shearers of Carbon county, Wyoming, after having sheared a few have found the sheep much harder than in former years and have made a demand for 1 cent per head additional for shearing, which demand was refused by the Woolgrowers' Association. With the advance, the price asked is 8 cents, the scale adopted by the union at Butte.

This action was taken for two reasons:

First—Because the sheep, on account of scarcity of snow during the past winter, are in a very dirty condition and in consequence there is a marked decrease in wages earned.

Second—That we desire to obtain the union scale of wages adopted at Butte, by the shearer's union.

The strike is being conducted in a quiet, orderly manner, showing the shearers are capable of conducting operations in such manner.

IRRIGATION IN IDAHO.

Total Length of Canals 5640 Miles; Average Cost Per Acre $6.67.

General irrigation statistics for Idaho issued today shows that the total area irrigated increased from 902,000 acres in 1899 to 1,132,000 acres in 1902, the number of farms reporting irrigation from 8,987 to 10,000, and the total cost of construction of the irrigation system from $6,129,499 to $6,189,971. The increase for the three years in number of irrigated acres was 18.4 per cent; in number of farms, 12.1 per cent; and in cost of construction 20.3 per cent.

In 1902 there were 2,332 irrigation systems in operation and the combined length of the main canals, and ditches was 5649 miles, an average of 2.4 miles per system. The average first cost per system was $2965, and the average first cost per irrigated acre $8.01.

Of the total irrigated area, 704,257 acres were irrigated from streams, 9045 from springs and 293 acres from wells. The entire construction cost of the stream systems was $6,124,136, an average of $5.70 per irrigated acre. The cost of the spring systems was $57,965, an average of $6.41 per irrigated acre and of the well systems $7970, an average of $27.20 per irrigated acre.

Left-Eyed Men.

Left-eyedness is looked upon by Dr. George M. Gould of Philadelphia, as of greater significance than left-handedness. He is seeking facts concerning the two and their association, but suggests that both may be due to the abnormal location of the speech center in the right side of the brain. He believes ambidexterity should be discouraged, while he has seen only bad results in the attempt to correct a decided use of the left hand.
