"As man cannot go back to Eden, it should be his highest ambition to make some spot on earth an Eden."

Following Professor Smith's address, Dr. James Withycombe, of the State Agricultural College, delivered an address on the value and profit of dairying in connection with farming. His address will be published tomorrow.

Mr. Holbrook has just completed 3,800 feet of 5 1/2-foot barrel flume, on his Irrigon ditch, which now brings 18,000 acres under the ditch. New settlers are arriving at Irrigon every day and Mr. Holbrook's village is taking on metropolitan airs in every way. A public school, church, newspaper, stores, postoffice and other enterprises have been established and over two dozen new buildings have been constructed this spring.

ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Regular Meeting of Commercial Association Tomorrow Night Should Be Well Attended.

The regular monthly meeting of the Commercial Association will be held tomorrow night, and it is the request of President Borie that the entire membership of the association be present, if possible.

Business of importance will be transacted and it is desired to have as many of the members there to discuss the business as possible.

Several important items are to be considered, looking to greater activity on the part of the club. The meetings are so far apart that much of the pressing business is lost sight of from one meeting to the next and the matter of holding meetings every two weeks will be considered.

Will Reclaim Palouse Land.

F. H. Newell, chief of the reclamation service, has advised Representative Jones that in his opinion the Palouse project, which contemplates the irrigation of 100,000 acres of land near Pasco, is the most promising irrigation scheme in Washington, and it is the intention of the department to concentrate the investigation to this locality during the summer. If a subsequent investigation shows this project to be as satisfactory as contemplated, the secretary of the interior will set aside sufficient money from the reclamation fund to construct the reservoir and canals. It is estimated it will cost $25 per acre to irrigate the Palouse tract.

Hen Adopts Kittens.

A motherly old hen up at C. E. Chrisman's place has developed an unnatural liking for a litter of kittens and it is a strange sight to see the old lady spread her protecting wings over the four little furry kittens. Being refused permission to set on a nest of eggs and raise her own family, she became very indignant one day and when the mother of the feline tribe was out, walked over and usurped her place. From that time on she made daily visits; in fact spends most of her time there, her only grievance seeming to be that though she scratches with a will, the ungrateful adopted family refuses to eat the food provided.—The Dalles Chronicle.
