MEAT EATING TOWN.

Statistics of Animals Slaughtered Here for Consumption.

Pendleton is a meat-eating town. It takes from 30 to 40 heaves each week to supply the people, from 60 to 80 sheep, and about 100 hogs. During the winter season the demand is much heavier, but in the summer, because so many citizens leave for the heated season, the trade is sometimes cut entirely in half.

Besides the figures quoted, some meat is brought in by the farmers, and some families are supplied by stock slaughtered on the ranches of people who are living in town.

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month—a few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment a baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.
