DESERTED FAMILY

MRS. JONES HAVING AN UNEQUAL BATTLE.

Penniless and Crippled by Rheumatism, She Is Trying to Return to North Carolina—Her Faithless Husband Has Left Her and Their Children to Shift for Themselves—The County Court May Take Some Action.

The county court and several of the citizens have been interesting themselves for the past few days with the case of Mrs. May Jones and children, who came here some time ago from North Carolina.

Last month the county court, at the request of the mother, took the children to the poor farm for a month in order to relieve her of their care while she made money enough to take the family back to North Carolina. Her efforts were in vain owing to sickness, and the little she had been able to accumulate was spent. She has been working for the Domestic laundry, but rheumatism in one of her hands caused her to give up her position and she is now idle.

Mrs. Jones was preceded to this county by her husband, who came to Walla Walla where he secured work and then sent for his family. They reached Walla Walla several months ago and Mrs. Jones found the man living with another woman and posing as a single man. She then came to Pendleton, and shortly after that her husband left for California, where he was last heard of in Sacramento. He has sent, during the months his family has been in Pendleton, a few dollars to the children, but nothing of late, leaving the whole burden on the shoulders of the crippled wife.

It is the desire of Mrs. Jones to return to her father's home in North Carolina, and several residents, in conjunction with the court, will take action to secure the necessary funds for the trip.

WORK OF THE RAILROADS.

How Oregon's Resources Have Been Heralded by Harriman.

The Pacific Northwest, a monthly magazine published by John E. Lathrop, in Portland, has the following truthful and interesting things to say concerning the work of the great railroad systems in advertising Oregon: "The O. R. & N. Co. and the Southern Pacific lines in Oregon are doing work of inestimable value in advertising the resources of this state among the people of the states east of the Rocky mountains.

"The enginery of their great industrial mechanism is given to the task and results are forthcoming. The tide of homeseekers is setting, and will increase in volume until it has swept into this state the thousands who are needed to occupy vacant lands and bring improvement along all lines.

"In this work, the Harriman roads are the chief factor. Indeed, beyond the desultory efforts that have been put forth hitherto by the promoters of the Lewis and Clark fair, and the spasmodic attempts of some of the numerous commercial bodies, the advertising of the Harriman lines has been virtually the only thing done to accomplish the exploitation of the state's resources.

"It has been the habits of people hereabouts to criticize adversely the management of the Harriman lines. This complaint a few months ago grew into an almost organized protest, and manifested itself in threats to injure that railroad system by withholding traffic.

"At the time these protests were assuming the form of organization, it was ascertained that in the banks of Portland was an aggregate of money between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000, that was practically idle, and that should have been placed where it would bring returns to the owners and develop the latent resources of the state.

"In other words, it was found that, while complaining that foreign capital did nothing for us, we were neglecting to practice the sound policy of first doing something for ourselves and then asking co-operation on the part of big interests located elsewhere.

"It is beyond peradventure that the leading men of this region have not exceeded the managers of the Harriman lines in zeal for the state's advancement. And the conduct of a bureau of advertising by that system of roads is one of the tangible evidences of the truth of the statement."

PORTLAND'S GROWTH.

Over 30,000,000 Passengers to Be Handled by Street Cars of That City in 1904.

"For 1904—30,000,000 passengers on street car lines," is the word that goes out from the men who manage these institutions. The total for 1903 was 23,025,000, which was a substantial increase over 1902, in which year the total was 18,678,900.

These figures are illustrative of the rate of growth that now is taking place in the metropolis of Oregon. Upon the first glance, they are rather astonishing to even the most enthusiastic admirer of this city and the most loyal disciple of the faith in its future. Yet, other methods of ascertaining the growth, such as directories and postal business, bear out the indication contained in the foregoing comparison.—The Pacific Northwest.

TWO LETTERS ABOUT TRIB

Man Who Was Willing to Try and Was Convinced.

A. S. Burroughs, Baker City, Ore., Dec. 15, 1902, wrote: "I have been a very hard drinker for twenty years, few people drank more than I. If your TRIB is a cure I want it." On May 15, 1903, Mr. Burroughs wrote: "It is a pleasure for me to recommend TRIB as a cure for the liquor habit. It has now been six months since I completed a cure with TRIB. I have never had better health. I eat well and sleep well. I believe it is the best cure for the liquor addiction yet placed upon the market." Tallman & Co., local agents.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
