

HOLT BROS.

Side Hill Combined Harvester

The latest improved two-wheel, side-hill combined harvester has proven a boon to wheat raisers. It is the most successful, most economical and easiest machine to operate ever built.

These harvesters have been given abundant trials right here at home and all users are highly pleased. None have been dissatisfied and all are high in their praise.

The Holt side-hill harvester on a side hill is able to stick to the side of the hill, while the header will slip down the hill. The main wheels are vertical, which braces the machine to the side hills. It works equally adapted to level land.

The Holt harvesters are sold exclusively in this section by

CROWD AT ST. LOUIS

BIG CONVENTIONS WILL MEET NEXT WEEK.

International Press Congress Next Monday Leads the List of Big Events — Federation of Women's Clubs Meets on Tuesday and All-Most Every Day Thereafter Will Witness Some Special Gathering.

St. Louis, May 14.—St. Louis expects to entertain one of the largest crowds in the history of the city during the coming week. To the number of individual visitors to the world's fair will be added thousands of delegates who come to attend the first of the series of national and international conferences to be held here during the summer.

On Monday the International Press Congress will begin its sessions. This gathering will be attended by famous journalists and newspaper workers from all parts of the United States and from most of the countries of Europe. Canadian journalists will hold a meeting during the week and there will also be meetings of the National Editorial Association, the trade press associations and the state organizations of editors.

The second big gathering of the week will begin on Tuesday. This will be the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The advance guard of delegates to this meeting has already put in an appearance and it is expected that by Monday there will be hundreds of representative women here from every state and territory of the Union. A contest for the presidency of the federation is on and there will be other features of the gathering that will undoubtedly cause it to be one of the most notable in the history of the organization.

KNOWS IMNAHA ROBBERS.

Engineer Al Stephens Remembers Barclay and Gale.

Barclay and Gale, two of the Imnaha postoffice robbers now being pursued by Sheriff Shackelford, of Wallowa county, are well known in Eastern Oregon.

Engineer Al Stephens, of La Grande, who pulls the O. R. & N. flyer between Umatilla and La Grande, especially remembers their faces, since an April morning in 1891.

Barclay and Gale were members of the gang of amateur robbers who attempted to hold up No. 7, the west-bound O. R. & N. passenger train at tunnel No. 5, five miles east of Telocaset, in April, 1891.

Al Stephens was engineer on the train and on rounding a curve just east of the tunnel, he saw a crowd of men with rifles and pistols leveled at the engine. The faces of part of the crowd were covered with sheepskin or goatskin, and the remainder of the crowd wore nothing to hide their features. The train was so close on the robbers when Stephens saw the rifles pointed at him in the dim dawn, that he could not stop, but giving the engine full steam he fell down in the cab and dashed through the tunnel, leaving the wondering bandits behind. They fired several shots at the engine as it passed.

He said the tunnel seemed a mile long that morning, for the instant he entered it he felt sure that the robbers had torn up the track in the tunnel to defeat just such a daring dash as he had made and he expected every instant to crash into some obstruction.

The track was clear, and when the engine emerged into the daylight the engineer and fireman breathed a sigh of relief.

The news was telegraphed in from Telocaset and after several days' search the gang was located and

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

The Day of the Big Ranch is Passing

Western Texas is suffering this spring from the severest drought in many years. Hundreds of cattle are dying on the ranches for want of water and grass, says the Kansas City Star.

The ranching business in that vast region is declining any way, and the present losses of the cattle raisers will probably accelerate the cutting up of the ranches into small holdings. This process has been going on for several years.

Perhaps in no other part of the world is so much land in big estates owned by individual property holders. In Texas there are ranches of more than 1,000,000 acres each, which are the property of the individuals utilizing them.

A New Yorker was traveling on horseback last summer over the prairies of Northwestern Texas when he came to a wire fence that stretched away as far as he could see. The road led him to a gateway in this fence and on it was a sign, reading, "Eighty miles from this gate to headquarters."

The horseman passed through the gate and in a little more than two days' traveling over the grassy plain reached headquarters. That wire fence encloses 1,500,000 acres of grazing land.

It is known as the J. A. ranch, and the sole owner is Mrs. C. Adair, who lives in a fashionable part of London, England, and for 10 years has made an annual profit from her ranch of more than $10,000. Last fall there were 38,000 head of fine cattle on the ranch and 6,000 head of steers are shipped on an average every year.

Twenty-eight years ago this vast area was purchased by the late Mr. Adair for 20 cents an acre. It is now valued at from $4 to $7 an acre.

There are four ranches in Texas with an area of over 1,000,000 acres apiece; and there are a large number of ranches with an area of 500,000 acres or a little less. But the days of great Texas ranches are about over and the reason is that more and more farmers are looking in this direction.

They find that the larger part of the lands which have been used for nothing but grazing have abundant fertility and water enough, as a rule, to insure good crops. They are buying hundreds of thousands of acres at $5 to $7 an acre.

It takes from 10 to 20 acres of these range lands to fatten a single steer. If the ranchmen can get $5 an acre or more for their land they can lend the money in that country at 8 per cent and make more than they do in the cattle business.

So the ranches are being continually whittled down to make farms, and last year over 1,000,000 acres of ranch property were purchased by settlers from the north and east, and the plow was set to work turning the sod under.

New York, May 14.—Admiral Dewey is to be elected governor general of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America at a meeting tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria. The meeting will be followed by a banquet at which Robert B. Roosevelt will preside and Admiral Dewey will be the guest of honor.

Other guests and speakers will include Walter S. Logan, who will speak on "The Spread of Anglo-Saxon Influence;" General Daniel E. Sickles, who will speak on the "Panama Canal," and Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, who will speak on "Oriental Development."

Dependent on American Cotton.

London, May 14.—The report of Professor Dunston to the Board of Trade on cotton cultivation in the British empire and in Egypt has been issued as a blue book by the government. The report sets forth that whereas in the early days of British cotton manufacture practically the whole supply of the raw material was drawn at first from India, and later from the West Indies, the amounts at present outstanding from these sources are relatively insignificant, and that the British cotton industry is now almost entirely dependent upon the United States for supplies of raw cotton, a state of things brought about by various causes, such as deterioration of Indian cotton, replacement of cotton by sugar in the West Indies, and improved cotton fibre in America.

"Your first duty as a lawyer," said the old judge to the young attorney, "is to see that justice is done." "Oh, of course," replied the youthful disciple of Blackstone. "I've noticed that the lawyer who succeeds in doing her the oftenest gets the biggest fees."
