NEW YORK FASHIONS

New York, May 21.—The summer is drawing near and with it the time of June weddings and graduating exercises. To the average girl the thought of the coming examinations with their puzzling questions and dreadful pitfalls, does not cause half so much worry and anxiety as the question concerning the dress she is going to wear at the customary commencement exercises. It is undoubtedly an important event in the life of a girl, when she graduates from school, after having for years worked hard at her studies to fit herself for her future career, whatever that may be.

The general custom of dressing girl graduates in white on the occasion of their graduation, is of quite ancient origin. It can be traced back to the old Romans, with whom the custom was so common that it even found expression in the term used for those who were about to graduate or who stood before their final examination. Such persons were called candidati, from the color of their toga, which was invariably white. The derivation of the custom is perhaps not quite correct and far fetched, but at all events the custom is as much in vogue now as it was when our grandmothers and great grandmothers went to school.

White Always Appropriate.

It is undeniably an appropriate custom. There is nothing more befitting youthful feminine charms, nothing sweeter to look at than a girl dressed in white. Youth hath charms of its own and needs not gems nor rich ornaments to make itself felt. Even the plainest girl looks pretty in a white dress if it fits her well and for handsome girls no better foil could be devised than the simplicity and delightful unobtrusiveness of a white frock. It lends an indescribable charm to the graceful lines and budding forms of the sweet graduating girl.

Although the custom of selecting white materials for graduating dresses prevails as ever, Dame Fashion has her say as to the materials, the cut and the trimmings of the costumes. Fortunately for a great many girls who are not daughters of millionaires, fashion allows considerable freedom in the selection of materials for graduating dresses. Fabrics of every description, from the cheapest to the most expensive used, so long as they are white and are cut and trimmed in the approved style. Judging from the general style of dresses in vogue at the present time graduating dresses will be unusually handsome and charming this season.

Simple and Suitable.

Among the simpler materials which will be used for such dresses are batistes and mullies of various degrees of fineness and expensiveness. India linens, Persian lawns, Swiss and organdie will also find many admirers. It may be said, however, that the softer materials, like batiste and mullie are preferable, as they lend themselves better than the stiffer materials to producing those soft and graceful effects so characteristic of present styles.

The question of trimmings and ornamentations is a very important one with graduating dresses. It is in the trimmings and ornaments that the bulk of the expense is. Hand embroideries and ornamental stitchings are extremely popular this year and will be used on graduating dresses just as they are on other dresses. If the girl is clever at needlework, or if she has a sister who knows how to do things and is willing to sacrifice some of her spare time for her graduating sister, the problem is comparatively simple and the expense of a suitable dress not great. But if the embroideries have to be purchased, the cost of even a simple dress may rise to a prohibitive figure.

The lines of the graduating dresses should be simple and graceful and their overloading with frills, flounces, etc., should be carefully avoided. However, there is ample room for elaboration of details in the way of embroideries, insertions, stitchings, etc., enough to produce a variety of effects from the plainest and most severe to the frivolously ornamental. Princess effects are very pretty and will be used a great deal this year. Graduated tucks are quite suitable for ornamenting the skirts. The waist will, in most cases, be made with a deep yoke and, perhaps, with a berth falling over the sleeves. There will be a great variety of sleeves, from the full top sleeve, with close fitting long cuffs of lace or transparent material, to the short elbow sleeves, with frills at the lower end.

PIONEER J. B. KEENEY.

Has Sold Out in Elgin and Will Locate in Walla Walla.

J. B. Keeney, the pioneer stage man of this city, but a resident of Elgin since 1894, passed through the city last night en route to Walla Walla, where he will possibly locate in the future.

He has sold the Elgin stage line from Elgin to Joseph, to McCully Brothers, who are now operating it.

Mr. Keeney took this rundown route in 1894 and by constant effort built it up to be the best stage line in Oregon. It is now the longest and best equipped line operated in the state, there being four teams of four horses each, four monster Concord coaches and the passenger traffic is heavier than on any line in the state, on account of the large territory tributary to it in the Walla Walla valley, and the necessary transfer from the railroad at Elgin to reach this district.

Mr. Keeney reluctantly retired from the stage business having followed it for the past 35 years in this portion of the state, at different times, but will probably locate in Walla Walla where he will engage in some business not yet decided upon.

The O. R. & N. Co. announce a rate of $1.50 for round trip for the spring meet of the Walla Walla Fair Association, held at Walla Walla, May 25-28. Tickets on sale May 24 and good returning until May 29. E. C. Smith, Agent.

BEARING DOWN PAINS

3647 Indiana Avenue.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 27, 1902.

I have been a sufferer with almost every kind of female trouble for years, but as long as I could get around and do my work I would not try patent medicines as I had no faith in them.

About eight months ago I had to take to my bed, suffering with prolapsus of the uterus, with bearing down pains and intense pains in the back. My aunt, who came to nurse me told me of Wine of Cardui and sent for a bottle. I am indeed glad that she did, for that first bottle started me on the road to recovery. In a few weeks I was out of bed and in three months I was in better health and stronger than I had been in years. I take a dose now, occasionally, of Wine of Cardui and am kept in perfect health.

Wine of Cardui brings certain relief to women suffering any symptom of female weakness and perfectly regulates the menstrual flow. Wine of Cardui stops bearing down pains by permanently relieving the irritation which weakens the ligaments holding the womb in place. You need not suffer every month if you take this medicine. The periodical discharge will be painless and healthy without continual weakening drains. Wine of Cardui will make your health right and you may treat yourself privately in your own home. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today.
