

SIGHT PRESERVERS.

The little lenses of glasses joined by their frame of gold or nickel are wonderfully potent for good or evil. Properly fitted, they build up the eyes and preserve the sight—improperly fitted, they tear down and destroy.

Reading a few lines of print with a pair of glasses is no test. The sight must be tried by modern and scientific methods.

We have every facility for making tests and can supply any kind of glasses required at moderate cost.

SUCCESSFUL PLAY

"AMONG THE BREAKERS"
HIGHLY APPRECIATED.

Professional Excellence Attained by Amateurs—Was More Than Interesting From Start to Finish, and the Large Audience Was Greatly Pleased—The Cast Had Some Very Strong Members.

The Frazer was well filled last evening with the friends of the junior class of the high school, who had gathered to hear part of the class present the melodrama "Among the Breakers." The piece was put on by the class as its customary contribution to the term-end oratoricals required of the school each year. This time, instead of each attempting separate selections, the class decided to produce the play.

"Among the Breakers" is a melodrama of stirring action and of a great deal of weight, and the class is to be congratulated for the manner in which it was handled last night. All the parts were built for actors and actresses and were hard to handle, especially in the emotional lines, yet the cast carried them in a very creditable manner.

Albert Warner as "David Murry," the villain, handled his part with fidelity and faithfulness. In the last act, especially he had a very hard role to sustain, but he did it with credit.

Milton Shaw was the lead in the piece, taking the part of "Hon. Bruce Hunter," the man who had been wronged by the villain and robbed of his child, but who lived down his sorrow and rose to the plane of lofty manhood. Mr. Shaw was very good in the part, and interpreted it well.

Miss Mary Rust, the old fortune teller and wife of "David Murry," handled the leading lady's lines with ease and naturalness. Her rendition was true to life, and her stage presence was graceful and becoming.

The supporting cast had been chosen well, and all did their parts to make the play the success it was. The comedy was funny, the pathos sobered the audience, while the strong lines were so read that they brought out the meat of the play in a clear and very interesting manner. It was a success.

The WOMEN'S CLUBS

Club Directory.

The Thursday Afternoon meets once in two weeks, Thursdays.

The Current Literature, alternate Fridays.

The Woman's Club meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

Mrs. C. F. Colesworthy entertained the members of the Thursday Afternoon Club with "A Day in Venice," and the Queen of the Adriatic furnished a wealth of material for a delightful afternoon. Mrs. Lina Sturgis read a pleasing description of St. Mark's which was followed by a brief sketch of Antonio Canova, the sculptor who became the greatest sculptor of his time, by Mrs. Fee. Mrs. Conklin gave a short talk on the Palace of Desdemona and sketched the life of Othello, the Moor of Venice. A characteristic and interesting letter from Venice, descriptive of the Duke's Palace and its famous picture by Tintoretter of Paradise, said to be the largest ever painted on canvas, was read by Mrs. Fred Lockley. Mrs. A. J. Owen read "Thos. Hood's beautiful and pathetic poem, "The Bridge of Sighs," in an impressive manner, and also a selection from Lord Byron's "Child Harold." Mrs. Lane led the party through narrow waterways and broad canals, past magnificent palaces to the church Frari, where is the tomb of Titian, and there gave a delightful sketch of that master of color. Mrs. C. E. W. Pruett, in an entertaining talk on this wonderful city, spoke of many interesting things which she had seen during her brief sojourn there.

Mrs. J. Ross Dickson sang "He Was a Prince," and responded to a hearty encore with "Till You Come." At the conclusion, delicious refreshments were served.

The annual business meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club will be held Tuesday at 2:30, May 24, at the home of the president, Mrs. C. F. Colesworthy.

The year book committee of the Current Literature Club, which met last week with Mrs. W. C. E. Pruitt, will meet with Mrs. James Fee Monday at 2 o'clock, May 23, to complete the work of the calendar.

Our Fish.

The total catch of food fishes in the United States and Alaska, as shown by the last canvass, was 1,733,314,324 pounds, valued at $45,531,165. The number of men employed was 214,956 and the capital invested was $72,261,646. The salmon pack of Puget sound alone in 1901 exceeded four and one-half millions of dollars, an amount more than four times as great as the entire silver output of the whole region drained by the Columbia river. The salmon output of Alaska for 1903 is valued at $10,000,000 which exceeds by more than two and one-half million dollars the amount which Alaska cost us; and if we add to the salmon the value of the cod, halibut and other fisheries of Alaska, the total greatly exceeds all the other resources of Alaska combined.—National Geographic Magazine.
