EDUCATION WINS IN THE UNITED STATES

The editors of "Who's Who in America" have rendered the country a service by inducing more than 10,000 of the men now living in the United States, who are "most notable in all departments of usefulness and reputable endeavor" to report their education. These men have won enviable reputation and the facts they give will help answer the questions, "Does education help one to succeed?" and "What amount of school training helps most?"

According to the last census there are in the United States 14,794,403 males over 30 years old. The United States Bureau of Education estimates that these are divided educationally as follows:

- Class 1. Without education 1,757,023
- Class 2. With only common school training or trained outside of organized schools 12,054,335
- Class 3. With regular high school training added 657,432
- Class 4. With college or higher education added 325,613

Omitting the few persons under 30 years old, the report from 10,704 notables shows: Without education, none; self-taught; 24; home-taught, 278; with common-school training only, 1066; with high-school training, 1627; with college training, 7709, of whom 6129 were college graduates. That is:

From the 1,757,023 of Class 1 no notable reported. From the 12,054,335 of Class 2 came 1368, one for every 8812 (24 of these report themselves as self-taught; 278 as privately taught). From the 657,432 of Class 3 came 1627, one for every 404. From the 325,613 of Class 4 came 7709, one for every 42.

It thus appears:
1. That from 1800 to 1870 the uneducated boy in the United States failed entirely to become so notable in any department of usefulness and reputable endeavor as to attract the attention of the Who's Who editors, and that only 24 self-taught men succeeded.

2. That a boy with only a common-school education had, in round numbers, one chance in 9000.

3. That a high school training increased this chance nearly 22 times.

4. That college education added gave the young man about 10 times the chances of high school boy and 200 times the chance of the boy whose training stopped with the common school.

5. That the A. B. graduate was pre-eminently successful and that the self-educated man was inconspicuous.

From the nature of the case it cannot be claimed that these classifications are exact, but they are based upon the fullest statistics ever obtained, and the necessary estimates have been made by government experts. It is also doubtless true that other circumstances contributed to the success of these trained men, but after all reasonable allowances are made the figures force the conclusion that the more school training the American boy of that period had, the greater were his chances of distinction. How will it be in this century? It is unnecessary to extend this inquiry to woman. Education is practically her only door to eminence.

ECZEMA KEPT SPREADING.

Six years ago my wife had a breaking-out below her knees. At first red bumps appeared, but soon white, husky scabs came, and when these would shed off the place became red again, and would itch and burn so that she found it impossible to sleep. At times a yellow water ran from the bumps, and it kept getting worse and worse. Our family physician pronounced it Eczema, and prescribed ointments and powders, but it kept spreading, breaking out on her body and arms, and almost closed up her ears. The druggist at Garner told me to try S. S. S., which she did, and after taking several bottles was cured, and is well to-day and has been for years.

Garner, N. C.

The humors and poisons that produce the itching eruption, roughness and redness of the skin, must be rooted out before there is complete relief from the terrors of Eczema. Nothing applied externally does any permanent good, for whenever the blood is overheated or the skin is reacting during Spring and Summer, the disease breaks out again. You can't rely upon washes, soaps and salves, or such things as are applied to the surface, for they do not reach the seat of the trouble, which is internal and deeply implanted in the system; the blood is aflame with the itching, burning humors, which are carried by the circulation to the surface and are being constantly forced out through the glands and pores of the skin, and you can never heal the sores or stop the aggravating eruptions with external applications.

To neutralize the acids in the blood and expel the humors and poisons is the only way to get permanently rid of this torturing skin trouble, and no remedy known does this so quickly and thoroughly as S. S. S. It purifies the blood and restores it to health, and the outbreak of the poison through the skin ceases, and the sores and eruption gradually disappear. S. S. S. builds up the thin acid blood, makes it rich and strong, and restores to it all the elements of nutrition, and drives from the circulation all impurities; and under the tonic effect of S. S. S. the general system is invigorated and toned up, and you not only get rid of your old skin trouble, but the health is benefited in every way. S. S. S. being a strictly vegetable medicine, acts gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as do Arsenic, Potash and other minerals which are usually prescribed in skin diseases.

will find S. S. S. does its work well and thoroughly, and relieves the itching and burning soreness and pain, and soon produces a lasting cure.

Write us, and medical advice or any special information desired about this King of Skin Terrors will be given without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

HEIR TO THRONE A COMMON LABORER

The refusal of the widow of Count Carlo Murat to allow their two children to attend his funeral at Pasadena has turned local attention toward the family.

If the count's unboasted claim to the throne of Naples is substantiated by facts the real Prince of Naples is handling freight in the warehouses of the Southern Pacific road.

The real Princess of Naples, wife of Count Murat's son, W. H. J. Murat, is keeping house for her husband in a tiny rose-covered cottage at 155 Garay street, which is anything but an aristocratic thoroughfare.

Mrs. W. J. H. Murat is an Indiana girl and as the wife of the new prince of Naples would perhaps more properly be spoken of as the princess consort. The princess by birth is the daughter of Count Carlo Murat. Mrs. Gertrude Athey, who was also barred from attending Mrs. Murat's funeral by the present Mrs. Murat. She is living in Los Angeles with her mother, the former Mrs. Murat, who has married again and is now Mrs. Ryan.

But all these princesses and princesses and count and countesses they are just plain American citizens. The young Prince of Naples does not expect that the title will ever be more than a name, as his father was effectually barred from enjoying anything further.

His wife does not want to be a princess. She thinks the little rose-covered cottage in California is preferable to marble halls in Italy.

And Mrs. Gertrude Athey, the prince's sister, says she has no hopes or dreams. Lying upon a couch where she was prostrated through the experience at the funeral, she raised her hand and swore that her only motive of going was to take a last look at the face of her father, whom she loved.

The new claimant to the throne of Naples is credited with being a modest, industrious young man by his neighbors. They say he works hard to earn a living for himself and wife and never complains or bemoans the lot that has fallen to him.

He says, in contradiction to a statement by Mrs. Murat, that he has tried to see his father several times since he has been in Los Angeles and did meet him at one time. When he went to the residence he was told that his father was sick and could not be seen. He went by another name until he came to California and found his father using the name of Murat. He then adopted it himself.

Whether the children will press any claim to an inheritance is not known. They believe Mrs. Murat's enmity to them was occasioned by fear that they would do so. For many years the late prince had nothing but what he earned, but of late it is believed he has received some sort of an income from the old family estates.

TELEGRAM FOUR YEARS LATE

Sent From Auditorium Hotel, It Follows Addressed Around the World.

A telegram in a letter that followed a man from Chicago to Montana, London, Paris, South Africa, South America, Mexico and South Africa again, was delivered four and a half years after it had been sent from the Auditorium hotel, according to the Shafer and M. C. Dobson, the latter who received the belated message, told of the circumstances.

The telegram, Mr. Dobson said, referred to a $38 account. It reached Montana just after the address had left. His agent mailed it to his Paris address. The letter contained the journey and finally it was handed to Mr. Dobson in Pretoria.

The mining expert entered the Auditorium yesterday. "Hello, Shafer," he said, "I came to pay that bill. Got your telegram two months ago in South Africa."
