removal sale is a decided success, and that each day the sales are increasing

People are surprised at the wonderful cuts they have made all through their stock. Customers are telling others, and the result is that they are selling their stock very fast.

They have added two more sales-men, and can handle the business very nicely and give each one good service. It was their intention to sell all of their stock in 30 days, but from the way it is selling it will not last that long.

Sullivan & Bond are well pleased with the way the people have taken hold of their offers, and they have some excellent bargains to offer for buyers in men's furnishings.

Those expecting to buy should come soon and get their choice of this pretty stock. Those who can should go and do their purchasing in the morning, as there is such a rush in the afternoons, and they wish to take plenty of time with each customer, and have them well pleased.

FRIEND OF HIGH SCHOOLS.

Superintendent Ackerman Does Not Credit Reflections Upon Professor French.

State Superintendent Ackerman was the guest of the Hotel Bickers today, having returned last night from Weston, where he has been visiting the normal school. He will address other the members of the high school graduating class this evening at the Fra-ZEP.

Mr. Ackerman will speak on the general subject of the high school and its relation to the young men and women of the state and the country; He will deal with the results to be expected from the work of the high school in the future, its influence on the lives of the future citizens of the state, and the good that can be expected to come from it in the years yet to come. He is a great enthusiast on the high school question, and his address will be very interesting to all, Though never having visited the Pendleton high school, Mr. Ackerman is very well pleased with the spirit he finds exists here among the students. Last evening he met a number of the high school students and was impressed with their culture and demeanor. He attended the party given by the Alpha Psi fraternity and was much pleased with the conduct of the young people there. It showed a maturity and refinement that was very gratifying All through there sems to be a spirit of earnestness and endeavor, and of loyally that augurs well for the success of the schools. And to Professor Conklin he gives a great deal of The students seem to be in praise. his confidence and he in theirs. He has influence with them, and they wish to be considered friends of his and to follow in the path he points. Ackerman was very much surprised to read in the Portland papers of the alleged trouble at the Normal College between President French and some of the teachers and stu-dents. In speaking of it he could not comprehend that such should be the case, or that President French should have made any statements not warranted by the facts, for he has known the president for a long time, and had judged that he was one who would weigh well his words and who would never make an unguarded statement, especially one detrimental to the character or standing of an-

Mr. Ackerman can well see how such a misunderstanding could have arisen, and how it could have been magnified. As to the report that the remarks were made against the com-pany of one of the teachers, Mr. Ackerman thinks some mistake has been made. He is of the opinion that if there is any ground for the story at all, it was brought about by conditions different from those alleged. President French might have made some remark, in a faculty meeting which, by a misconstruction on the part of one prejudiced could have led to the published reports, but not otherwise; and besides, Mr. Ackerman is of the opinion that the reports have been sent out by some one not friendly to the college, for he heard nothing of the trouble while in Weston yesterday.

Fine Prospects Around Ukiah.

Jacob Born, one of the well known farmers of Uklah, was in town today for a load of supplies. Mr. Born re ports that crops in his part of the country are growing as fast as possible, and that the prospects for a good year were never better in all the time he has resided in the county.
