FOUND A FORTUNE

R. M. ALCORN STRIKES A WELL OF LIVING WATER.

Stage Gulch Farmer Who Has Hauled Water for 20 Years, Finds Excellent Flow of Water at 192 Feet—Hauling Water Has Been a Grievous and Costly Task—The Well Adds 25 Per Cent to the Value of His Land.

For 20 years R. M. Alcorn, who resides 12 miles northwest of Pendleton in the Stage Gulch country, has been hauling water from neighboring wells and from the Umatilla river for domestic and stock purposes.

He owns a farm of 640 acres, one-half of which is in wheat this year, and is in fine condition, and this week Mr. Alcorn considers that he added just 25 per cent to the value of this farm by striking a tremendous flow of water in a drilled well, at the depth of 192 feet in an old well which had been drilled to the depth of 120 feet several years ago but which had failed to furnish enough water for a team.

His farm is in the dry portion of the Umatilla county wheat belt, and the scarcity of well water in that district has been one of the most serious difficulties to contend with in farming there. At times the neighboring wells, at a distance from his home, would not furnish enough water to spare him a supply, when it became necessary to haul from the river, a distance of five miles. This caused great expense and inconvenience and has discouraged many farmers in that community.

Beddow Brothers, of Pendleton, bored the well for Mr. Alcorn. The well is six inches in diameter and flows about 10 gallons per minute.

The well is four miles from the well drilled by W. P. Temple last year, and many farmers in that vicinity will now take courage from this good luck and will immediately begin boring for water. The water is now standing 18 feet deep and cannot be lowered by the pump in any appreciable degree.

INDIAN CHILD'S LETTER.

Seven-Year-Old Indian Girl Writes to a Pendleton Merchant.

Superintendent Charles Wilkins of the Umatilla Indian school, has made a specialty of letter writing among the pupils of that school and the results are especially gratifying.

On certain days he requires the pupils to address letters to different persons in the city and vicinity, on subjects of their own choosing and some of the specimens show originality and ability fully equal to white children of the same age.

The following letter to a Pendleton merchant, from a child 7 years old, is an interesting specimen of the letter writing of the school:
Pendleton, May, 1904.

Dear Mr. _____:
We are writing letter today and I will write to you

I hop you will coming to our entertainment.

I like your store, your store is pretty. The girl and boys are going have a Noise Entertainment. You have a big store in town, tell all the people, you have a good store, your Friend Nancy Marshall, Indian school.

Meeting of B'Nai Brith.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 28.—The annual grand lodge meeting of the Independent Order of B'Nai Brith, which will begin a three days' session tomorrow, has attracted to Des Moines a number of men of national prominence. Other speakers who are expected are Samuel Alschuler, former democratic candidate for governor of Illinois; Edward Rosewater of Omaha, Adolph Kraus of Chicago, and Mayor Samuel Polk of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Dogs for Red Cross Service.

London, May 28.—The efficiency of dogs on the battlefield, a favorite idea of the German army, is about to have its first real test in the Manchurian campaign. According to a dispatch from Glasgow a Major Richardson of that city, who for a number of years has made a specialty of training ambulance and war dogs, has just received an order from St. Petersburg asking him to forward as many ambulance dogs as he has on hand for immediate service in the Far East.
