REBUKE THE OREGONIAN.

Portland Churches Resent the Attack on Rev. Edgar P. Hill.

Portland, May 31.—The Morning Oregonian has been soundly rebuked by 10 Portland churches for hinting that the presence of Rev. Edgar P. Hill, of the First Presbyterian church, of that city, was not wanted in the city, because of his stand against political and municipal corruption now found in Portland.

Ten churches and the ministerial association of Portland have passed resolutions of indignation against the Oregonian, and almost every Portland pulpit thundered its rebuke against its cowardly attack on a high-minded, self-sacrificing man.

Following is part of a sermon preached at the First Christian church by Rev. Mulkey yesterday:

"This paper does not ask Erickson, Blazier or the Portland Club to leave the city. To ask these public benefactors and promoters of morals to shut up shop and leave town would be a crime, the unpardonable sin, rank injustice. But on the contrary, it hints in unmistakable terms that such men as Dr. Hill, Dr. House and the rest of us preachers must 'shut up' or leave town. But we will do neither."

A. G. Stimmell, a prominent mining man of Spokane, was in the city for a short visit this morning while on his way home. He is now returning from a visit through the East and at the St. Louis fair.

He is much disgusted with the way the fair is being managed, and says that the visiting people are grafted in every way possible. The majority of those who have so far visited the fair are disappointed with the accommodations and the conduct of the exposition, and say that the present state of affairs will work to the detriment of the latter part of the fair. Mr. Stimmell is one of the prominent officials of the Spokane Fair Association.

SHE SWALLOWED RAW CHLOROFORM

Ida Raymond Tries a Short Route Out of Life and Its "Fitful Fevers."

CONSUMED TWO OUNCES OF THE DEADLY OPIATE.

The End of Her First Spree, Which Was the Miserable Ending of a Quarrel With Her Paramour, a Traveling Doctor—The Latter Has Disappeared—A Corps of Physicians Think it is Barely Possible That the Victim's Life May Be Saved.

Ida Raymond, a young woman who has been living at the Palace Rooming house on Main street for the past three weeks, attempted to commit suicide this morning a short time before noon by drinking the contents of a two-ounce bottle of chloroform. She was caught in the act by J. H. Williams, proprietor of the house, who knocked the bottle from her hands, but not until she had swallowed the greater part of the fluid it contained. A couple of doctors were immediately summoned, and when they arrived found the woman singing and dancing in the middle of the room. Almost as soon as they had reached the room, however, she was taken sick and quickly passed into unconsciousness, from which it has so far been impossible to rouse her.

Companion of Dr. Shattuck.

Miss Raymond is a young woman about 27 years of age, slight in build and weighing about 100 pounds. She is of dark complexion, and prepossessing in face and form. She came here in company with "Prof." F. P. Shattuck, a traveling doctor whose chief weapons of offense and defense against the ravages of disease is electricity, applied in various forms and ways.

Arriving in the city the couple went to the Palace lodging house on Main street, where they engaged rooms and where they have been living together since. A few days ago they had a violent quarrel and the professor left the city, going presumably to Athena, where he intended to remain for a time. Before leaving it is said he told his companion that he had decided not to have anything more to do with her, and that their relations would have to end.

The woman, though she had never done so before, began to drink, and for several days has been continually under the influence of liquor. Night before last she went to one of the drug stores and bought a bottle of chloroform. Last night she came to the same place and bought a second bottle. Later in the evening she was arrested and put in the city jail for drunken and disorderly conduct, at which time she gave the name of Jane Doe. This morning she was fined $5 by the city recorder and went to her room. She was still under the influence of liquor and the proprietor of the house kept a watch on her, as her remarks and actions had made him suspicious that she might attempt to harm herself.

Took the Poison at 11 a. m.

About 11 o'clock, going to her room, he saw the woman in the act of swallowing the contents of a small bottle, and rushing to her, snatched it away, but too late.

Dr. Shattuck, the man at the bottom of the trouble, came to Pendleton from North Yakima, and has traveled over the entire Northwest, the woman accompanying him during the larger part of the time. She is presumed to be from Portland, though nothing is known of either of them, as they were not in the habit of talking about themselves.

At the time of going to press Miss Raymond's condition is unchanged. The physicians think that there is a very slight chance of her recovery, but it is so slim that her death is expected at any time.

Depths of Misery.

Chicago, May 31.—Crased by rheumatic pains, Gustav Rolburg, 72 years of age, has endeavored to amputate his left foot to relieve himself of pain. As the old man sat on the floor in his home and began his operation, his wife, who is helpless from paralysis, looked on from her chair within a few feet of him. Her screams attracted two policemen, who rushed into the house and took the knife from Rolburg. He had severed an artery, and by the time he arrived at the county hospital was so weak it is thought he cannot survive.
