GORMAN'S ESTATE

ALLEGED AUSTRALIAN
HEIRS HAVE BEEN FOUND.

The Mysterious Old Irish Storekeeper Left Eight Thousand Dollars in Pendleton's Banks Which Will Be Escheated to the County if the Alleged Heirs Do Not Make Good Their Claims.

A. M. Cannon, of the law firm of Carson, Adams & Cannon, of Salem, is in town the guest of the Hotel Pendleton while investigating legal matters. It is the intention of the visitor to call up again the well remembered William Gorman case, and prove that heirs for the estate have been found.

The Gorman estate, it will be remembered, was left without heirs by William Gorman, the old Irishman storekeeper of Ridge, who died under mysterious circumstances some six years ago. Gorman was one of the characters of the county, concerning whose history nothing was known. It was supposed that he was an Australian refugee of some sort, though he never told of his past. He kept a little store near Ridge, and was in the habit of having considerable money scattered around the place, among the rocks and hiding places nearby. He also carried a small bank account in Pendleton, and was the owner of several hundred acres of land.

One morning his store was burned to the ground, and those who went to the scene found a few charred bones to be all that remained of the storekeeper. He had evidently been murdered and the place fired to hide any trace of the crime. A search failed to reveal any papers or data of any kind telling of the identity of the old man, and C. B. Wade was appointed administrator of the estate. He advertised in Australian and English papers for the heirs of the dead man and though several responded, none could prove their claims.

The estate was settled, and the money, amounting to $8,000, was turned into the hands of the county clerk, where it now remains. Some months ago A. D. Stillman was appointed a special attorney by Governor Chamberlain to escheat the estate to the county, but through a technicality the matter has been held in the hands of the district attorney.

Mr. Cannon now comes on the scene with three alleged heirs from Australia, who claim to be able to establish their identity. He will investigate the matter and take such steps as are necessary to obtain the amount of the estate.

WILL BE BUILT.

Work Begun on Second Story to Peoples' Warehouse.

The contractor for the erection of the second story for the Peoples Warehouse has lumber on the ground to build the scaffolding over the sidewalk. The iron columns for the support of the second story are now in place and are expected early next week.

Arthur Gibson, the contractor, states that the cellar is being excavated deeper, and the work of jacking up the center supports follows, and then the iron columns will be put in place.

Mr. Cohen hoped the work of installing the iron columns could be left until some time later, as it means the wrecking of the store. The entire front is to be changed, for instead of two entrances there will be but one.

The plans show a splendid two-story building that would be a credit to the city.

The growth of the Peoples Warehouse has been right along with the growth of Pendleton—larger, better, more facilities for the comfort of patrons, making easier buying and selling.

ANTE-COURT WORK

TWO OF THE DEFENDANTS HAVE PLEADED GUILTY.

George Clay, for Larceny by Bailee, Gets Eighteen Months in the Penitentiary—P. L. Snyder, the Texas Cowboy Will Serve Thirty Days in Jail—Others Expected to Take the Same Course to Avoid the Extremity of the Law.

Yesterday afternoon the district attorney made a start towards the work of the coming session of the circuit court.

George Clay was arraigned and pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary. Clay is the man who hired a team and carriage from the Froome stable, stating that he wished to take a short drive into the country, and then lit out over the Washington border, where he tried to sell the outfit. He was accused of larceny by bailee, and will be taken to the penitentiary at the convenience of the sheriff.

P. L. Snyder, the man from Paris, Texas, who slashed the girl in one of the houses on Cottonwood street, pleaded guilty to assault and battery and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail. Owing to extenuating circumstances surrounding the case, the charge was made light and the sentence no more than was necessary to give him proportionate punishment.

There are several other cases which will come up for trial before the convention of the court, and it is probable that the list of criminal cases on the docket will be materially shortened by pleas of guilty before the morning of Monday next.

ST. JOSEPH GRADUATION.

Very Interesting and Highly Pleasing Educational Event.

The Frazer was filled last night with an interested audience gathered to witness the graduating exercises of St. Joseph's Academy. The stage had been decorated with flowers and evergreens in honor of the event and formed a very pretty setting for the class of young ladies who were to receive their diplomas.

The orations of the young ladies were all good, as were the recitations given by them, and showed that they had been well and faithfully trained by the teachers, in addition to the thought and effort necessary on their parts.

Miss Frances Fitz Gerald had taken as the subject of her oration, "American Ideals," and she handled the subject in an original and pleasing manner very gratifying to her friends.

Miss Elsie Grant was unable to be present owing to illness, and her salutatory was given by Miss Mae Bettenbender in a very graceful manner. Miss Amelia Rabinovitz delivered the valedictory in a manner which won the audience, her delivery being graceful and easy, while the thread of her remarks showed thought and application.

Miss Mae Bettenbender sang "Inflammatus" in her usual graceful manner, winning fresh praise for herself by her effort.

In addition to the numbers given by the graduates there were several presented by the younger pupils of the school, which were much enjoyed by the audience.

Bishop C. S. O'Reilly delivered the address to the class at the close of the program, and presented to the graduates their diplomas.

NEW STORE OPENS.

Louis Moses, who did the buying for the Workingmen's Clothing Company, has had 25 years' experience in this line of business, which is in itself a guarantee that the goods were bought as low as money can buy them. They were bought for cash, and every saving was made in discounts, etc., which will enable the various lines to be sold at the lowest possible prices.

The new company asks the citizens to pay its store a visit and ascertain the bargains it has to offer in every department.
