GROW MORE STRAWBERRIES.
Many Portions of Umatilla County Adapted to Their Culture.

Gibson, June 12.—The time will come when Umatilla county will increase her acreage of strawberries. Milton and Freewater have conclusively proven that the industry is a profitable one. There is no reason why Umatilla county, with irrigation, can not produce as fine a quality of berries as Hood River.

Many regions are particularly well adapted to strawberry culture, where but few are now grown. For example, on Henry Lacy's place near Bingham Springs, strawberries make a splendid growth. At L. W. Reed's place, four miles from Gibson, strawberries are raised fully equal in size and flavor to the far-famed Hood River berry.

One can get an idea of the size of the Hood River berry industry by watching the eastbound fast freight. On Saturday five cars of Hood River berries went through, billed to Omaha. On Friday eight cars, and Thursday six cars.

It is an industry that brings thousands of dollars to Hood River and scatters it among her people as much of the money is paid out to pickers. It has increased the value of the Hood River land from $50 to $250 per acre.—Fred Luckley.

RAILROADERS IN CHURCH.
Information Furnished Concerning Their Religious Sentiment Was Wrong.

Pendleton, June 12.—(To the Editor.)—In your issue of Thursday, June 9th appears an article concerning the irreligious sentiment of railroad men that is hardly a fair showing in my experience.

In addition to F. E. Holm, mentioned in that article, Henry Henson, George Hansen, Sr., and Louis Given, passenger engineers, and Tom Goll-ton, freight engineer, are members of the Presbyterian church. Two other elders in the La Grande Presbyterian church come from the blacksmith department of the railroad machine shops, while a number of other men in the employ of the road were regular attendants at church services when in town.

DIED OF PARALYSIS.
Young Boy Afflicted Following Attack of Scarlet Fever.

The boy had the scarlet fever some time ago, and never recovered from the effects of the disease. The child's parents bought the Alta House a short time ago, and it was there that the boy died.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Alta House, the services being conducted by Rev. W. L. Van Nuys, of the First Presbyterian church.

FISHING GOOD.

Pendleton Party Caught a Large Number of Young Ones.

Harry Thompson, Fred Kees, Wesley J. Bowman, William Keller and Frederick Lampkin went fishing yesterday. The party took a large lunch and started for the wilds of the North Fork, determined to lure the unsuspecting trout from the cool of the stream to the heat of the frying pan. And they did. They jumped onto a large number of small fish and came home with their baskets filled with fins, fish and foliage. They were quite successful in their efforts, having acquired such a package of fish that they were compelled to bring them home on the evening freight train, which they flagged with the remains of their lunch. The gentlemen report the fish small, but plentiful, each one of the party having seen thousands more than were caught.
