PERSONAL MENTION

W. G. Hodder is at Helix doing carpentering.

Will M. Peterson, the Athena attorney, is in the city today.

Aron Turner, the lawyer, now has his office over Taylor's hardware store.

F. Donovan, O. R. & N. lineman, left for his home in La Grande last night.

Mrs. J. Halstead, of Echo, who has been in the city on business for several days, returned home this morning.

Mrs. S. R. Carnine and son, Sidney left Tuesday night for Portland, and Vancouver to spend the summer with relatives and friends.

Chester Dehaven has left the hospital and returned to his home near Horseshoe Curve. His feet were badly hurt a couple of weeks ago while undertaking to ride on a freight to Pendleton.

Miss Winnie Privett has returned from her visit to Portland and Eugene, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Mary Skipworth, daughter of the late E. R. Skipworth, of Eugene. Miss Skipworth will visit here for some time.

LIVES WITH BROKEN NECK.

Human Freak Now Making Tour of the World.

Barney Baldwin, a New Yorker, who has been living for more than six years with his neck broken, is in Seattle, says the Star. He says he is completing a tour of the world for a wager. Thirteen months of the time has already elapsed. He has only the distance between Seattle and New York to finish his trip. He will make that in plenty of time, he says, if it is necessary to walk.

Baldwin's case is most remarkable. In March, 1888, he was a Louisville & Nashville railway yardmaster. In a wreck causing a smash-up of half a dozen freight cars Baldwin was crushed and mangled. Among the injuries he suffered, which Baldwin now says are inconsequential, were the following:

Neck broken; right arm both legs and five ribs broken; watch crushed out of sight into his stomach; iron bolt driven into him with force enough to break his collar bone; two or three fingers crushed and other minor injuries.

SUIT FOR ACCOUNTING.

Mrs. Myers Not Satisfied With Disposition of an Estate.

Suit was filed in the circuit court today by Mrs. Edna A. Myers, as a beneficiary of the will of W. H. Smith, her father, who died September 12, 1887, against A. Waugh as executor of the estate. The heirs are Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Charles Cole, Julius Smith, Mrs. Effie G. Jones, Charles D. Smith and Archie L. Smith, all children of the testator.

Mrs. Myers alleges that Waugh has converted the estate to his own use and has allowed cattle to break down fences and injure the orchard on property at Pilot Rock, the damages aggregating $700. She asks the court to force Waugh to an accounting, and that the property be divided equitably among the children. Her brothers and sisters refused to join her in the suit, and are named as defendants with Waugh.

HEAVY BARLEY YIELD.

A. B. Cooley, Northwest of Pendleton, Begins Threshing an immense Crop.

A. B. Cooley, one of the prosperous farmers of Umatilla county, who resides 12 miles northwest of this city today began harvesting a crop of 700 acres of barley, which it is estimated will yield from 40 to 45 bushels per acre.

The grain is well filled and the yield will be the best in a number of years. The crop is being cut with a combined harvester.

"Doc" Campbell, living near Mr. Cooley, will begin harvesting his wheat crop on July 5. He estimates that it will yield from 25 to 30 bushels per acre. All the crops in that district are rapidly ripening and harvest will be general there in a few days more. The Campbell crop will be headed and threshed with a stationary machine.

Succeeds Miss Isaacs.

Miss Aggie Fletcher was appointed temporary forwarding clerk at the postoffice by Postmaster Livermore today to succeed Miss Edith Isaacs, resigned. The office being on the classified list, a permanent appointee must have passed the civil service examination, and there is not a young man or woman in the city who has qualified for a permanent appointment.

Grasshoppers on Butter Creek.

John Muir, the combined harvester man, who visited Sutter creek yesterday, says that grasshoppers are very thick in the vicinity of the Joe Vey place on the irrigation reservation. Some late spring sown grain has been seriously damaged by them.

Fighting Disease Germs.

Marshal Carney and Sewer Inspector Withee made a tour of the city this afternoon and had a heart to heart talk with residents having dirty back yards. Very few places have been found that need attention.

Heaviest Ice Trade.

Yesterday the Pendleton Ice and Cold Storage Company sold seven tons of ice to the local trade in the city, the heaviest sale of the season, so far.

John Minto, the new postmaster for Portland, will take charge of the office on Friday, July 2, his bond having been approved and his commission having arrived at Portland.

NELLIE PAUL MARRIED.

Popular Stenographer in Grand Guardian's Office Becomes the Bride of Robert I. Ewing, of Walla Walla.

Miss Nellie I. Paul, the popular and efficient stenographer in the office of Mrs. C. C. Van Orsdal, grand guardian of the Women of Woodcraft, was married this morning at 8 o'clock, to Robert I. Ewing, a prominent business man of Walla Walla.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jonathan Edwards, Congregational minister, at the Congregational parsonage, and the young couple left on the 9 o'clock train for Walla Walla, where they will make their home.

Miss Paul has been employed in Mrs. Van Orsdal's office for more than a year, and has made a host of friends in the city.

A Decorated Wedding Trunk.

When the trunk belonging to Miss Nellie Paul, now Mrs. R. I. Ewing, reached Walla Walla this morning there was a surprise in store for the newly wedded couple. While the trunk was in the O. R. & N. baggage room at this place this morning, awaiting the departure of the train, a company of friends, led by Miss Edyth Crockett, decorated it profusely with shoes—old shoes, new shoes, big shoes, little shoes, red shoes, blue shoes, shoe with hole in them and shoes as roomy as the trunk itself, almost, besides dozens of other tokens that would remind the young people of their wedding day. All this was done unawares to either Mr. or Mrs. Ewing, and a genuine surprise was sprung on them when they called for the trunk at Walla Walla.

WAR.

He went away to the war that day,
To the swinging bugle song;
All staunch and true in his suit of blue,
And sturdy, brave and strong,
Mid the tramp of feet, and the loud drum beat,
And the ringing of the cheers,
There were none to see such a one as she
Who could not see for tears.

And back again came the marching men,
With the bugle singing still;
Yet the music's surge was a sighing dirge,
All sad and slow and shrill,
For a woman wept, and a soldier slept
In the dreamless, silent sleep;
And the bugle song had a measure wrong,
For the buglers sometimes weep.

And the bugles' lure while the years endure,
Will coax them to the line,
And the lilting strains on the hills and plains
Still echo fair and fine,
But the suits of blue, and the sabers, too,
And the worn and battered caps
Will tell some maid what the bugle played
When it sighed the song of "Taps."
—W. D. Nesbit.

JULY.

Beneath the full midsummer heat,
Are stores of golden, garnered wheat;
Are billows of unripe oats, gray-green;
Are armies of corn-blades, trenchant, keen,
The killdeer flutes his mournful cries;
The hawk in charmed circle flies,
Berries ripen beneath the leaves,
And warm and still are the musky eyes,
The moon shines bright in the cloudless sky,
The crickets sing and the soft winds sigh
—Sarah A. Shafer, in the Outlook.

There is much self-satisfaction in being contrary.
