PROSPECTS GOOD

REAL ESTATE AFFAIRS ARE VERY PROMISING.

Inland Empire Is Not Appreciably Affected by the Usual Depression Which Accompanies a Presidential Year—More Dwelling Properties Are Needed in Pendleton—Large Realty Deals Are in Sight.

Indications generally are that the real estate movement, both in city and country property, will be far livelier this year than last. An important factor in this presaged state of affairs is the increase in the size and quality of crops.

This is the report of C. R. Wade, of the realty firm of E. T. Wade & Son. In discussing the situation, Mr. Wade said that as a rule presidential years are duller than others, but that this part of the country does not seem to be materially affected by the uncertainty attending a national political campaign.

"At present," said Mr. Wade, "there are hardly enough residences in town to accommodate people who are coming in here. We anticipate that the demand this season will be greater than for some time past. Rents were high last year and are correspondingly higher this year."

"During the last month property has been looking up a little, and the outlook is that affairs will be moving along in excellent shape by fall. Brick business structures which will cost about $250,000 are going up, but there is not a corresponding amount of construction in the residence line. Extensive residence building will have to take place to balance the business growth.

AN ABLE ADDRESS

FAVORS AFFILIATION OF ALL LABOR UNIONS.

C. H. Gram by Illustration and Argument, Shows the Necessity of the Laboring Men Making Common Cause of Their Especial Interests—Women's Auxiliaries Favored for its Financial and Social Benefits.

An eloquent plea for the affiliation of all labor unions in the state with the Oregon State Federation of Labor, was made by C. H. Gram, president of the central body, in an address delivered last night to members of local labor organizations at Millarkey hall. The attendance was fair, and the speaker was listened to with the close attention called for by the importance of his theme.

"You all remember the story of the old man who called his children to his death bed and handed one of them a small stick, telling him to break it," said Mr. Gram. "It was easily broken as was a second and a third. Then the old man handed the boy a dozen sticks and told him to break them all as one stick. The son failed to do it, whereupon the old man said for his children to take it as an object lesson of the results of unionism—for that is what the proposition amounted to."

"The secret of industrial success lies in unionism, and the more nearly perfect the organization, the more invincible the front it presents. Many advantages lie in having a state central body, which should properly act as the governor to machinery. Every union in the state should be a member of that body, and the common advantages accruing to the unions will be multitudinous."

Support of the local unions was urged for several bills which will be presented by labor interests at the next session of the legislature. One is to abolish the stove foundry now conducted at the state penitentiary at Salem. Mr. Gram asserted that as by contract a Portland firm secures the labor of convicts at a price of 35 cents per day, free labor cannot be expected to compete with them. He advocated the purchase of a farm near Salem and the employment of convicts in agrarian pursuits, as well as setting them at work improving the public highways.

The trouble the unions of Portland had in establishing a union laundry at that point and the difficulty experienced in securing machinery was recounted by the speaker.

A woman's auxiliary to local organized labor was advocated. Mr. Gram declared that by entertainments, in which women take a keener interest than men, the union fund can be swelled appreciably. Being connected with the union cause, he asserted, will also tend to make mothers, wives, daughters and sisters more careful about purchasing goods and the label denoting union manufacture will under such circumstances cut a much larger figure with them than now.

In conclusion, Mr. Gram said he intends returning to Pendleton in September, and will then devote a week or two to organizing other branches of labor.

In the absence of E. D. Tramplesure, president of the Pendleton Trades Council, Secretary L. E. Wenham acted as chairman of the meeting.

Go into Office July 6.

Though the law says they shall take office on the first Monday in July, the new county officials will be unable to assume the mantle of office until next Wednesday. None can take office until his bonds have been submitted and approved by the county court, which will not meet until Wednesday. In addition to this fact, Monday will be a legal holiday.

Was Not Chicago Bank.

A serious mistake was made by the news bureaus in sending a notice of a bank closing to the East Oregonian this week. The item read the "First National of Chicago," when in fact it should have read "First National of Saratoga." The First National of Chicago is the third largest banking institution in the United States and is in no way involved.

Personal Property Sale.

Personal property belonging to the estate of Lewis M. Huson, was sold on the ranch west of Helix June 25, and a report of the sale is now in preparation by Attorney J. T. Hinkle. The property sold at a good figure, higher than the appraisements on the different articles. Included were 25 work horses, which are much in demand at this time of year, and several pieces of machinery. Something more than $1000 was brought by the property. Bill Yonka acted as auctioneer.

Personnel of the Legislature.

Infested With Hoboes.

Walla Walla is fast losing its hobo population. The 400 or 500 tramps who have laid around here the past few weeks are drifting out pretty fast the last few days. According to Chief of Police Brown there have been more tramps here this year than ever before. Times are hard over on the coast this summer and the wheat fields of Eastern Washington have tempted the hungry men across the mountains.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Will Visit in the Valley.

WOOLEN MILLS TO SHUT DOWN

REGULAR SUMMER VACATION NOW BEGINS.

Carding Room Closes Tomorrow Night—Weavers Will Finish Their Work in a Few Days and the Finishers Will Complete the Clean-up Soon—Past Year's Business Has Been Good—Employees Will Take Vacations Until September 1.

After one of the most prosperous years in the history of the institution, the Pendleton Woolen Mills close down for the annual vacation and season of repair and rejuvenation, in a few days.

Tomorrow night the card room, employing six men, will close until September 1. As soon as the present material now carded is woven, the weaving room, employing 20 people, will close for the same period, and as soon as the finishers complete the woven product on hand, that department will close and until September 1 the machinery will rest and the employees will take their regular summer vacation.

Manager Ferguson is highly pleased with this season's run. Business has been better every month of 1904, than it was in 1903, and the widespread popularity of the Pendleton Woolen Mills product is growing in scope and yielding better returns constantly.

This shut-down is a regular thing with the Pendleton Woolen Mills, as the employees need a vacation and it causes untold vexation for the force to be broken up, in taking their vacations a few at a time, so the policy has been to shut down on July 1 each year and give the force a vacation, and in the meantime overhaul the machinery and put the mills in first-class shape for the next year's run.

On September 1 the mills will resume with a full force, in prime condition to break all records in the following 12 months.

STORES WILL BE CLOSED.

No Business Will Be Done July 4 in Pendleton.

Every store in the city will be closed on the Fourth, all the employers agreed to give their clerks a holiday. A large number of them will go on the excursion to Walla Walla. On the other hand, the clerks have agreed to work until 8 o'clock in the evening instead of 6 o'clock until September 1, as July and August are the two months in which most of the trade is transacted with the country districts.

Isn't it reasonable to suppose that when the Bitters has cured thousands of cases of "weak stomach" in the past that it will cure you too? It is worth trying anyhow. It always cures Indigestion, Constipation, Poor Appetite, Dyspepsia, Flatulency and Biliousness.
