MANY DEMOCRATS POPULISTS MEET

UNPRECEDENTED CROWD GATHERING AT ST. LOUIS.

A Week Long Fight is Confidently Expected, With Results All in the Dark—Several Carloads of Buttons Have Been Shipped in—Wisdom and Prophecy Are Both in the Dark About the Outcome.

St. Louis, Mo., July 2.—Outward and visible signs are already abundant that when the democratic national convention assembles here next week St. Louis will be called upon to entertain the largest crowd ever gathered within the city's gates. At all the large hotels every available room has been reserved in advance, and it is difficult to figure out how accommodations will be provided for the swarms of visitors who have not been wise enough to look out for a place to sleep before their arrival here.

The thousand regular delegates to the convention will be distributed among the leading downtown hotels, all of them within a short distance of the Coliseum, where the convention will be held. Within one block, at the Jefferson hotel, the national committee and several of the state delegations will be located. The headquarters of the Tammany delegation will be at the Southern hotel, but a part of the New York delegation will be located at the Jefferson. The Southern will also be headquarters for the Maryland, the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan and Georgia delegations.

It is not expected that the great number of delegates will be here before Monday morning. The majority of the rooms at the hotels have been engaged with this understanding. The outside visitors, however, are already putting in an appearance in large numbers. It is estimated that the crowd will be twice and perhaps three as large as that at the recent republican convention at Chicago. This expectation is based on the fact that the World's fair will naturally attract thousands of visitors who might not take the trouble to attend the national convention were it not for the opportunity of taking in two big shows for the price of one admission. Then, again, the politicians generally will come to the convention because of the probability that the gathering will develop into a spirited contest of the good-old-fashioned sort with plenty of oratory, sharp debates and political intrigue.

The belief here is that the convention will not be able to conclude its labors before next Saturday, at the earliest, and there are many politicians who are inclined to the opinion that the session of the convention will be even much more protracted.

The vendors of badges and buttons bearing likenesses of the several candidates for the presidential nomination, and without whose presence no political convention nowadays would seem complete, are rounding up in St. Louis in anticipation of reaping a good harvest. It is estimated that several carloads of buttons have been shipped to the city by Eastern manufacturers this week. "Bim," the original button man who won fame and fortune by accurately predicting the nomination of Roosevelt for the vice-presidency at the Philadelphia convention four years ago, is on hand with a large corps of assistants. As a result of the money he made during the last presidential campaign, "Bim" whose full name is Max Bimberg, was able to build several playhouses in New York city and to become a full-fledged theatrical magnate. His rapid rise, however, has not changed his picturesque personality in the least and he looks just the same now as when he himself peddled buttons on the streets and in hotel lobbies.

"Bim" has been a pretty good guesser on the way things have come out at previous conventions and the wise politicians are wondering whether he is still a good prophet. Their interest is founded on the fact that "Bim" is plunging on Gorman. He admits that he has about a ton of Gorman buttons on hand and expects that there will be a great demand for them, particularly after the convention has completed its work. The wiseacres say that "Bim" is following a false tip. He himself says that he ordered the buttons after he had learned that Mr. Gorman had bought 500 large and expensive photographs of himself for use in St. Louis. "Bim" thinks that Gorman, who is a thrifty man, would not waste this money unless reasonably certain of his nomination. At any rate, the tip was good enough for "Bim" and he says he is willing to take the chance. At the same time, he has had the foresight to lay in a good stock of Parker buttons so as to be on the safe side.

Tammany's Trip to St. Louis.
New York, July 2.—Arrangements have been concluded for the trip of the Tammany men to the democratic national convention. They will travel to St. Louis on six special trains—three by the New York Central, two by the Pennsylvania, and one by the Baltimore & Ohio. All will leave tomorrow morning.

PROSPECTS FOR POORLY ATTENDED CONVENTION.

Heat is Probably the Only Candidate the Democrats Might Run Who the Populists Would Endorse—Claimed That Old-Time Leaders Are Deserting the Party and That its Affairs Are Muddled.

Springfield, Ill., July 2.—Though the date set for the meeting of the populist national convention in this city is but two days off, very few of the party leaders or delegates are on hand. The indications are that the convention will not be largely attended. While the states of the Middle West will almost without exception be represented, the South, formerly a stronghold of the party, will not be much in evidence.

Opinions expressed by the delegates already on the ground show that great doubt exists as to what action the convention will take. The call sets forth the purpose of the convention to nominate candidates for president and vice-president, but it is not improbable that this work will be held over until the democrats have made their nominations at St. Louis. A certain element of the populists would, it is believed, favor an endorsement of Hearst in the event he received the democratic nomination. It is not believed that any other of the candidates mentioned for the democratic nomination would receive the support of the populists.

In the event the populists decide to go it alone they will be at a loss apparently, whom to put up for the head of the ticket. As a matter of fact the party appears to be considerably demoralized from having supported the candidate of another party in two campaigns. The old-time leaders are deserting the flag and unless new men capable of acting as leaders come to the front a rapid disintegration and final decay are bound to follow. Jo A. Parker, chairman of the middle of the road faction, announces his intention to retire. Ex-Senator Marion C. Butler, chairman of the executive committee, has fled to the republicans and is advising all populists to support Roosevelt for president.

It looks as though another four years will see the bulk of the populists returned to either the republican or democratic banners, while the irreconcilables will probably find refuge in the ranks of the socialist labor party or some similar radical organization.

Piles Upon Top of Piles.

Piles upon piles of people have the piles, and DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures them. There are many different kinds of piles, but if you get the genuine original Witch Hazel Salve made by E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago, a cure is certain. H. A. Tisdale of Sumnerston, S. C., says: "I had piles 20 years and DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me after everything else failed." Sold by Tallman & Co.

HEAVY HORSES SOLD.

W. P. York of Grant County, Disposes of Six Work Teams Today.

W. P. York, a well known farmer of the northern part of Grant county, reached the city today with 15 heavy draft horses. He disposed of 13 of them for $1625 in short order, and had a deal on to sell the other two this afternoon. He will leave for home tomorrow and will return with a freight team in about three weeks.

Five head of horses were sold to William Temple. Two were bought by Walter Wells and two by J. McDonald. A span was also bought by Charley Marks. Four head were sold at Dale on the way to Pendleton.

The crop prospects in Grant county are reported by Mr. York to be good. As it is a cattle region, a slight depression has followed the low prices prevailing. Prices are expected to rise in the near future. J. E. Reynolds, a Montana buyer, purchased 800 head of yearling steers in the John Day country and started for the Lower Yellowstone with them last Friday. He announced his intention of driving them all the way through.

The pill that will, will fit the bill. Without a gripe.

Don't forget.

Weak Hearts

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, the stomach expands—swells, and puffs up against the heart. This crowds the heart and shortens the breath. Rapid heart beats and heart disease is the final result. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, takes the strain off the heart, cures indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body.
