AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

We quote the following from the Muscatine Journal of June 22:

"Daniei Norman V/limams, the sup-osed murderer of the Tumans, man posed nurderet of the Tumans, man, and wife, north of this city, in a lonely but in the Sherefy woods during the month of August, two years ago, will be hanged at The Dalles, Ore. July 22, for the murder of Miss Alma Nesbitt and mother, Mrs. L. J. Nesbitt, the jury at that place having convicted him of murder in the first degree and sentenced him to be hanged by the neck until dead for his awful crime

"Sheriff J. D. Stuart of Muscatine county, has been in communication with Sheriff Sexton of Wasco county. Oregon, the place where the murders were committed. Sheriff Sexton states in his letters that there is no doubt that the Williams held at that place under sentence of death is the Williams wanted at this place for the grim Tuman tragedy. The descriptions tally to a great extent. The moral degenracy displayed is to a cer-tain extent the same cold-blooded ferocity prompting the murders for gain."—The Dalles Chronicle.

and both parties appear to be equally positive. One of the most vital issues to the sport in the coming cam-paign is the stand taken by legislators on the gambling question. It is stat-ed by local gamblers that money is being collected at Scattle to fight this issue, with the idea that enough legislators will promise to sustain the gambling in the next session of the legislature to enable them to pass a iaw making gambling a misdemeanor instead of a felony—Walla Walla

Culdesac County Prosperous.

Farmers in all sections of the coun try are preparing for the harvest and in many localities the having has commenced. The farmers report that the quality of the hav is first-class and a large yield is being secured. The a large yield is being secured. The fall grain gives promise of a large crop but more rain will be needed to mature the spring crop. The farmers report that at the present time labor conditions seem favorable. There are a large number of men in the country who are seeking work in the harvest fields and it is believed that no trouble will be encountered during the summer in securing all the help that will be necessary to handle the crops.

The farmers have picuted a large area of potatoes in the vicinity of Culdesac and a large market is expected here next fall. The fact that pointoes were left in the ground during DR. M. S. KERN, DENTAL SURCEON the past winter and were in good conthe past winter and were in good con-dition when removed this spring has encouraged many of the farmers plant potatoes for commercial pur poses and a large tonnage is expected in the Culdesac section -Culdesac Correspondence.
