DIED LAST EVENING

UNEXPECTED PASSING OF MRS. CUNNINGHAM.

Was 45 Years of Age and the Second Wife of Charles Cunningham, the "Sheep King"—Her Husband and Two Children Survive Her—Was a Native of Ohio—Funeral at the Catholic Church Tomorrow.

The death of Mrs. Charles Cunningham, wife of the Eastern Oregon "sheep king," which occurred yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, came as a complete surprise to her relatives and friends. She underwent an operation for removal of a tumor at the hospital last Saturday, and appeared to be recovering from its effects. It developed, however, that her system was too weak to rally from the shock, and when what little vitality she had left was exhausted, she sank rapidly to her death.

The deceased woman was born in Hamilton county, Ohio, and was 45 years of age. Her maiden name was Ceclia Flanigan. She came West about 12 years ago and was wedded to Mr. Cunningham while living with her aunt, Mrs. Patrick Kine, a resident of this city. She had a large circle of friends who will sincerely mourn her untimely demise.

Mrs. Cunningham is survived by her husband and two children—Ceclia, aged 10 years, and Charles, aged 7. She also leaves a mother, a brother and a sister, all living in Indiana. Her aunt, Mrs. Kine, is the only relative living in the West. Mr. Cunningham was married previously and by his former marriage had a daughter, Sadie, aged 20 years, who is em-

FIRST NEW WHEAT.

Light Land North of Yoakum is Yielding About 26 Bushels Per Acre.

E. W. McComas, the grain buyer, has just received samples of new wheat from the William Yonka place, north of Yoakum and west of this city, one of the first crops threshed in the county this year.

The wheat is of an excellent grade, and Mr. McComas estimates that the crop will yield about 200 sacks to the quarter section, or about 25 to 26 bushels per acre, a surprisingly heavy yield for that district.

Other crops in that locality will yield about the same quality and quantity of wheat and the farmers in that dry district are highly elated over the extraordinary crop.

The average crop in the country west of this city and north of Yoakum is from 18 to 20 bushels, and prospects of getting from 25 to 30 bushels had given an impetus to real estate there.

John Crow's barley crop on the reservation is also being threshed and is yielding about 35 bushels per acre. His wheat was slightly damaged by the rains, but will yield well.

The first train was in charge of Conductor Wieden, with engine 310, and the second in charge of Conductor Stull, with engine 304. There were about 800 men in the two trainloads, which included about 20 men from Baker City and La Grande.

ONE FARE TICKETS

RAILROADS HELP SWELL MASS MEETING IN PORTLAND.

Oregon Towns Invited to Send Delegates to Portland on August 2 to Organize the Oregon Development League—Mayors of Towns and Villages and All Industrial Organizations May Appoint Delegates—No Restrictions on Tickets for the Occasion.

Recognizing the vital importance to Portland, and to the state of Oregon, of having a representative delegation from every corner of the state at the mass meeting in Portland, on August 2, for the organization of the Oregon Development League, the railroads have made a one fare round trip rate from all points in the state, for that occasion.

This remarkably low fare will induce delegates from every isolated point to make the trip and be present at the organization. It is the aim of the Portland Commercial Club to have a representative from every town in the state at this meeting. No pains will be spared to secure the appointment of delegates, if not by mayors and regular industrial organization, then by the citizens themselves, in mass meetings.

No point is so small as to be excluded from this meeting in Portland. A state industrial union is to be formed at that time. A combination of industrial interests, including every branch in the state will be consummated for the purpose of directing Oregon capital to Oregon resources, and for the purpose of directing Oregon products to the nearest and best markets, so that no industry in the state may suffer from congestion nor overproduction.

The commercial organizations now existing in the cities of the state are all strictly local. This Oregon Development League is to be general and embrace all the different portions of the state and every interest in the state in its organization.

This movement is being promoted by Tom Richardson, manager of the Portland Commercial Club, under whose auspices the meeting on August 2 will be held. Every town and city in every county is urged to send delegates. Mayors may appoint delegates, farmers' clubs, irrigation, horticultural, livestock, mining, agricultural, manufacturing, fishing, dairying or other associations may also send delegates and are all entitled to representation.

Portland invites the people of Oregon to meet in that city on August 2, and form this league, for mutual protection and mutual development. There is no restriction on the number or occupation of those buying the one fare tickets. The field is open to Oregon. All roads leading to Portland have granted a one fare round trip rate, without certificates, good for all trains arriving in Portland on the afternoon of August 1 and the morning of August 2. Oregon will do the rest.

TWO MILLION POUNDS.

Furnish Warehouse Handles That Amount of Wool.

It is estimated by Manager W. F. Taylor that by the close of the season about 2,000,000 pounds of wool will have been handled at the Furnish warehouse. The remainder of the month will be occupied in baling and then grain will be handled. Grain will be coming in and some will be handled prior to that time, but the big grain business will not come on until about August 1.

It has been commonly believed that considerable wool was damaged by the recent storm. It develops that the damage was not nearly so large as thought at first; certainly not at the Furnish warehouse.

"About 50 sacks were exposed to the rain on the south side of the house," said Mr. Taylor. "We had to cut open about 40 sacks and place the wool out to dry. These were under the drip and were wetted the worst. The damage amounts practically to the extent of the expense of handling the wet wool."

"I hardly think any of the wool will have to be scoured, as it is drying out in a satisfactory manner. Of course, it will be graded after the drying process is completed."

CEMENT DIPPING VAT.

Plant, Including Engine, Cost Eight Hundred Fifty Dollars.

One of the best cement vats for dipping mangy cattle in the state, has been constructed on the Butter creek farm of Asa B. Thomson at Echo. He sent to Portland for a two-horse boiler, which was installed today and everything will be in readiness for putting the cattle through the dipping process tomorrow. The vat and accessories cost $850.

The vat is the property of Thomson, R. B. Stanfield and J. B. Saylor. Six or seven hundred head of cattle owned by them will be dipped first, requiring about two days' time, and then range cattle to the number of two or three thousand will take their turn in the big tub. As soon as the cattle owned by the three men interested in the dipping process are put through they will be shipped to the Omaha market.

CRUEL JOKE.

Perpetrator Gets Five Days for "Fooling" Men Who Want Work.

For perpetrating a joke on a number of harvest hands, Clarence Bell was hauled before Police Judge Fitz Gerald yesterday afternoon and given five days in the city jail. He engaged about 50 of them to work for him on an imaginary farm near the city, and had them waiting to begin work. He also had a dozen men hang around the O. R. & N. depot, waiting to help unload a harvester which he claimed was to arrive from the East. Clarence told Judge Fitz Gerald he was only joking. His honor thought it would be a good plan to get in on the ground floor and participate.

One of the men complaining to Marshal Carney about Bell said the prisoner had hired his mother to do the cooking for the harvest hands he had promised employment. The authorities are of the opinion that Bell is demented, as he had not been drinking when placed under arrest.

WOOLGROWERS INTERESTED.

Delegates From Oregon Association Will Probably Be Appointed to the Portland Meeting.

J. H. Gwinn, secretary of the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association, in speaking of the appointment of delegates from the association to the mass meeting to be held in Portland on August 2 for the purpose of organizing the Oregon Development League, said the woolgrowers were deeply interested and would in all probability appoint delegates.

The sheepgrowing industry is one of the leading enterprises in the state and those interested in it are very anxious to advance every branch of industry in the state and would cooperate with other industries in bringing capital and the opportunity together, and also desire to see the widest development of all the resources.

Mr. Gwinn will perhaps attend the meeting and the regular delegates will be announced later, after he can confer with President Douglas Belts, who is now on his Birch creek ranch.

Man Wanted at La Grande.

City Marshal Carney received a telephone message this morning from La Grande to be at the depot when train No. 1 passed through, and see if a man wanted for obtaining money by false pretenses was aboard. His name is not known to the La Grande authorities, but a good description was furnished. The marshal was on hand, but was unable to catch sight of any person answering the description.

Returning From Europe.

Miss Grace G. Isaacs, of Walla Walla, a friend of Miss Ida Boyd, and a sister of J. P. and E. S. Isaacs, well known Walla Walla citizens, returned this morning from an extended trip through Europe. She also visited the St. Louis fair, and other points of interest in the East and South. She has been absent from Walla Walla for several months and returns greatly delighted with her visit to Europe.

Fish Did Not Bite Well.

Postmaster Livermore and his two sons, Robert and Lynwood, who went on a fishing excursion in the vicinity of Cayuse, returned last night. The day was warm and the fish did not bite well, but the sportsmen do not regret the trip, as they saw the reservation Indians engaging in a war dance. About a dozen bucks participated in the dance.
