CLARK'S ROMANCE

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE SENATOR MARRIED HIS WARD.

Miss LaChapelle Was Educated by the Montana Senator in Europe and When She Ripened into Womanhood He Learned to Love Her—Secret Marriage at Marseilles and Subsequent Birth of the Girl Babe—Will Open Washington Home This Winter.

Hidden in the announcement of Senator Clark's secret marriage lies a very pretty romance. Mrs. Clark and her sister Amelia, now Mrs. E. S. Hoyt of Minneapolis, are daughters of Dr. and Mrs. P. J. LaChapelle of Butte, Mont. Like Senator Clark, Dr. LaChapelle was an early settler of this miner district, and was one of the pioneers of Montana.

Dr. LaChapelle died unexpectedly 13 years ago, and left his widow and several children almost penniless. Senator Clark's benefactions are no more forcibly illustrated than when he undertook the education of these children.

So much was he attracted by them that he sent the eldest daughter, Anna, to Europe to complete her education, after spending a couple of years in the young ladies' seminary at Deer Lodge, Mont., of which institution he was a member of the executive board.

A Most Accomplished Woman.

Not only did Miss LaChapelle possess exceptional talent for music, but she became proficient as a linguist. While under the tuition of Prof. Haselmann, the eminent harpist, she devoted a part of her time to German, French and some years later to the acquirement of the Spanish language.

She is now by the Italian lakes studying the Italian language. During the intervals of her studies, she traveled extensively in Europe and Africa with her sister Amelia and Madame DeCervellon, who was Miss LaChapelle's chaperon and companion from the time of her arrival at Paris, where she went with the senator's sister, Mrs. Abascal, until the present time.

Marriage at Marseilles.

About four years ago Miss LaChapelle, who had then developed into a beautiful woman with all the advantages of her thorough European education, returned here to visit her mother and sister.

She then went to New York and Washington. At the latter place she was the guest of Mrs. Mary Milmore, an old friend of the senator, and her sister Amelia, and after spending a few weeks there she returned to Paris.

Senator Clark followed in the spring. Then he learned his early affection for this beautiful girl had ripened into love. It was a happy moment in Senator Clark's life when he understood that his love for Miss LaChapelle was reciprocated, and soon afterwards, while at Marseilles, with Madame DeCervellon, the marriage was solemnized.

To Open His Washington Home.

It was due entirely to personal reasons, and with a view of allowing his girl wife to pursue her studies, that the senator returned to the United States without announcing his marriage.

When the baby was born, Senator Clark maintained that their child should be reared and educated in this country, where she might absorb the spirit of American rights and freedom.

With this idea in view, he will open his Washington home next fall, and bring his beautiful wife and baby to the capital, where he will enter, with renewed vigor, the strife in which a national politician must al-

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was. Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. F. W. Schmidt, special agent.

LIFE IN THE INTERIOR.

Ashwood Has a Thrilling Experience With a Cloudburst.

On Wednesday afternoon at about 4:30, a full-fledged waterspout struck Antelope amidship, and in less time than it takes in the telling, Main street was a raging torrent of mud, water and floating debris, says the Ashwood Prospector.

It was the heaviest precipitation of rain in the history of the town, and but for its location upon a wide flat, giving the water a chance to spread, great damage must have resulted to the town.

The waterspout was preceded by heavy clouds, and when the rain began to fall it came down in solid sheets for fully half an hour. Main street was submerged under a foot or more of water, cellars were filled, Hixson's barn resembled an aquarium and from the way it poured, one might have imagined that the bottom had dropped out of the skies.

The meadow near the race track was a river of muddy water, which rushed into the narrow gorge which is spanned by the bridge at the foot of College street with such force that the rock supports gave way and the bridge was wrecked.

The Ashwood stage had crossed the bridge not more than two minutes before it fell. No other serious damage was done here. The storm started in the northeast, shifting around to the north, from which direction most of the rain came.

No rain fell on the flat between this place and Shaniko, though a light rain fell at the latter place.

LOOK FOR A SPLIT

MUCH LACK OF HARMONY AMONG IOWA DEMOCRATS.

State Convention Gives Promise of Much Contention, and a Bolt is Predicted—Gold Democrats Encouraged by the Success of the Conservatives at St. Louis—Efforts Toward Harmony Have Little Force.

Iowa City, Iowa, July 18.—Unless some of the old politicians succeed in their efforts to bring about harmony, there will be a bitter fight between the rival factions for the control of the democratic state convention which meets here tomorrow. The purpose of the convention is to name candidates for secretary of state and the other minor state offices to be filled at the November election. The nominations are lost sight of, however, in the struggle of the two factions for supremacy. The early arrival of the most of the delegates and party leaders is evidence of the intense interest which is manifested in the contest for control.

There are two names mentioned as chairman of the convention, those of J. T. Stiger of Toledo, and Martin J. Wade of Davenport. The latter, who is congressman from the Second district, represents the gold wing of the democratic party in Iowa, and it seems probable that he will be chosen.

It is not improbable that there may be a bolt when an attempt is made to organize the convention. It looks as though Chairman Maxwell of the state central committee will not be allowed to organize his committee, which is called to meet here tonight. The division in the ranks of the party arose from the action of the state convention last spring to elect delegates to the national convention. The convention instructed delegates for William R. Hearst as a presidential candidate. It has since been made apparent that the instructions were due chiefly to the shrewd political scheming on the part of the Hearst managers and that the action of the convention was not in accord with the views of the rank and file of the party in Iowa. The revulsion of feeling against those responsible for the instructions has been intensified by the defeat of Hearst at the St. Louis convention. The success of the conservative element in St. Louis has given courage and strength to the gold democrats of Iowa and they are determined to crush the opposition, unless the latter gives in. Despite the strenuous efforts of the harmonizers the chances of conciliating the two factions appear exceedingly slim and unless all signs fall tomorrow's convention will witness a hopeless split in the party.
