 Jack Oliver, a locomotive engineer formerly employed on the O. R. & N., at La Grande, arrived from Los Angeles this morning. He will remain a couple of weeks on a visit with old-time friends.—La Grande Chronicle.
 J. A. Green is in town today. The family residence is at Colfax, and Mr.
 Greene speaks very highly of the place and the inhabitants thereof.
 Mr. Greene is traveling and selling agricultural machinery, more especially a weed extirminator.
 Mrs. O. E. Hull, accompanied by Miss Evelyn J. Shewa, left last night for Portland and the coast, to remain some time. While in Portland, they will attend the wedding of G. F. Martin and Miss Elizabeth A. Battin, which is to occur the 9th of next month.

There has been an abundance of moisture in that country, and there is a profusion of good pasturage. In consequence, stock of all kinds are in excellent condition, and the stockmen are confident.
 Mr. Baker, who is a cattleman, is a strong partisan of the Hereford breed. His experience and observation confirm him in the opinion that Hereford grades are the most hardy cattle and the best rustlers that are produced. He avers that they will keep in good flesh on less food, and will find and utilize more food in a given area than any other cattle. In these respects he considers them better cattle than the Shorthorns.
 A peculiarity of the Hereford which Mr. Baker has always noted but seldom has been referred to even in the stock journals, is that of not willingly nor easily straying. When they are full they lie down and mind their business; when out for food they keep together better than any other breed. They get lost less often in consequence. Even when they stray away, which is very seldom, they generally keep together or at least do not get far apart, when other cattle would be found scattered for miles.

NEEDS ROCK CRUSHER.
 City Should Do Something to Make Better Streets and Roads.
 Street Commissioner Brown is strongly convinced that a rock crusher would be a profitable investment for the city. He claims that every day demonstrates its needs.
 As things are going now it is an endless chain of hauling on pebble rock from the river at an average cost of 50 and 75 cents per load, only to see them either sink out of sight, or work to the surface. There is not the slightest consistency in the way river rock behaves. Hundreds of tons have disappeared entirely, while hundreds of tons after settling and giving apparent promise of making a permanent roadbed, have come to the surface where they slip and roll about, changing position with every stroke of a wheel or hoof until it is necessary to haul them away to get rid of them. They will not pack and make a roadway themselves, or make a foundation for anything else.
 These same pebbles run through a crusher, or what is better, quarry rock after going through a crusher, will make a roadbed that cannot be excelled. It will pack in fine shape if put down in sufficient quantity, and the more travel goes over it the firmer and smoother it becomes.

SINK HOLES.
 Those Along the Sewer Route Are Troublesome and Require Immediate Attention.
 The street commissioner finds a good deal of attention yet necessary to the routes followed by the sewers —especially the new sewers, as sinks are frequent and annoying, and they all require immediate attention. A few days ago a wheel of one of Wells' loaded water wagons dropped down, stalling the wagon until it was unloaded. The weight of the wagon dropped the wheel in a place where there was not the slightest external indication of a weak place.
 These sewer sinks are difficult to get out of, because the sides of the holes are either perpendicular, or else the edges are slightly overhanging, which is still worse.
