NEW FEVER GERM

GOPHERS TRANSMIT THE DISEASE TO HUMANS.

State Board of Health Finds That the Harmless Ground Squirrels Carry an Infected Specie of Tick That Transmits Spotted Fever to Human Beings—Board Has Found Numerous Cases of Infection From This Cause.

The state board of health has discovered that a very malignant form of fever is transmitted to human beings from the ticks infecting the common ground squirrel of Eastern Oregon, and the following interesting article from the Morning Oregonian of Friday gives the board's conclusions. The Oregonian says:

"A new disease, fatal to 90 per cent of those stricken, is being investigated by the state health board. Ticks which live upon the bodies of ground squirrels or gophers carry the disease germs into the human body through their bites.

Spotted fever is the name given to the new disease. It resembles cerebral meningitis, which is also called spotted fever, because eruptions under the skin become apparent within a short time after the victims feels the first symptoms of high fever. But the disease is entirely different in every other way from the dreaded cerebral spinal meningitis, though equally fatal. It is apparent only during the months of May, June and July.

Dr. Ralph Matson, bacteriologist of the state board of health, has proved that the germs of spotted fever are animal protozoa. Medical science now believes that the germs of nearly every disease but malaria and smallpox are not of an animal nature at all, but are of the lowest forms of vegetable life.

Malaria's animal origin has been satisfactorily proved, smallpox is generally held to be transmitted by protozoa and one or two other less common complaints are on the doubtful list. The fact that it is carried to mankind by supposedly harmless tick and that the germs themselves are one of the rare animal microbes are but two of the peculiarities of spotted fever.

The fever is at its worst in the Bitter Root valley of Idaho. Here from 85 to 95 per cent of those afflicted die. The cases are mostly sheepherders and prospectors, and for this reason the origin of the disease was long laid to drinking snow-water.

Harney county, the neighborhood of Huntington and the vicinity of Baker City are afflicted with the disease every year. Thus far there have been almost none of the fatalities shown in the Bitter Root valley. It is therefore believed that two distinct forms of the disease exist.

Dr. E. E. Maxey of Boise, Idaho, first brought the strange disease to the attention of medical science. Two bacteriologists were sent to Idaho by the Minnesota state board of health to discover the origin of the disease.

Gradually it was found that the disease always occurred in connection with the bite of a tick whose habitat was the gopher. This rodent is plentiful in Idaho as well as in nearly every part of Eastern Oregon. Apparently the gophers suffered no ill effects from the bite of the ticks, for the blood of healthy gophers was found to be swarming with the spotted fever microbes.

Finally a man from Idaho developed a case at Hood River. Dr. Woods Hutchinson, secretary of the state board of health, had a guinea pig inoculated with the blood of the patient. But the guinea pig was given too large a dose and quietly died within 48 hours after the experiment started. Had he lived he would have acted as a "culture medium" for the microbe.

It has been proved that the tick which lives on gophers is the vehicle through which the disease reaches the human body. The disease is apparently one of those harmless to one type of mammal but deadly to another. In this case the gopher is at one extreme and mankind is at the other end, and the wrong end at that.

Dr. Matson is now searching for some anti-toxin which will nullify the bite of the tick. But so long as there are millions of gophers there will be more millions of ticks to carry the spotted fever germ to the human body.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when burns, sores, ulcers and piles threaten. Only 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

Baker City Reservoir.

Near the top on the highest point on the beautiful evergreen, snow-capped hills west of Haines, is situated the famous reservoir, from which Baker City receives its water supply. This little mole hill is now known as Reservoir Peak and bears the proud distinction of being the highest peak in the blue mountain range, or 9300 feet above the level of the sea. We did not discover this by guess, but it was told us by J. K. Romig, who is a mining engineer and works his problems by figures. Besides, we were schoolmates at La Grande before the war—the Union county seat war—and unlike George Washington, Jim could tell a lie, but he wouldn't. This is a fact—the elevation of the peak, we mean.—Haines Record.

A cloudburst at Sodaville, Nev., destroyed several farm houses, one school house and several crops, Saturday night.

RESTRICTS SALES.

Annoying Ruling by Secretary of the Interior.

Charles Derham, who was in the city Tuesday from Trout creek, tells of a new hardship worked upon the people by Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department. Mr. Derham has a sawmill on Trout creek and is getting timber for it. He has had to buy from parties who have a final receipt but not a patent issued to them. The secretary of the interior, through his inspectors, has issued orders that such procedure must be stopped at once. Doubtless forfeiture of claims would follow refusal to listen to Hitchcock's order. If the orders are followed the available timber is so scarce on patented timber lands that the mill will have to be closed down before long. Surely the congress that passed the act of June 3, 1878, did not intend that the manufacture of lumber should cease when timber becomes scarce.—Prineville Review.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

SHEEP ON RESERVES.

Sumpter Paper Complains That They Spoil Water Sources.

John Tomlinson, who was sent out by the Sumpter Light & Water Company along the new McCully's Fork extension to the pipe line, armed with government notices to serve on sheepherders, returned last night, says the Sumpter Miner. Mr. Tomlinson found about 10,000 sheep on the Blue Mountain reserve, this side of the McCully's fork divide, and grazing on the waters which are to furnish the city its additional water supply.

The sheep in the main are from the vicinity of Heppner. Mr. Tomlinson says that several of the herders agreed to obey the mandates of the interior department, and move their flocks at once, but others used profane language and wanted to know where they would go. He informed them that this was no affair of his, but if they didn't hit the trail at once and vacate the reserve, they might expect a United States marshal after them.

The sheep are ranging all over Baldy and along McCully's fork. The bonfires seen in the vicinity of Baldy last night, were made by the herders after they had corralled their flocks to keep wild animals away. If they venture very far beyond Baldy they will be in Grant county, and within the jurisdiction of Tom Gray, superintendent of the Valley Queen and deputy sheriff of Grant county, who from his previous record in this line will make it extremely tropic for them.

FIRE ON COURT STREET

Last Friday on the corner of Court and Cottonwood streets I gave an exhibition of what my fireproof paint will do. On a roof that had been painted with "Downer's Everlasting Fireproof Paint," I placed two sacks of shavings and on them poured half a gallon of coal oil and lit it. The fire burned fiercely but did not burn through the shingles. This test should prove the merit of my paint. To those who are interested I will give full information. I can be found at the Alta House evenings or during the day. I can be found for this week at the residence of James Crawford, where I am painting his roof. I am making a special rate to introduce this preparation, and if you want to protect your home from fire and preserve your roof from rotting from the weather, you can save money by using "Downer's Everlasting Fireproof Paint."
