PORTLAND, WAKE UP

SO SAYS MARVIN OF THE MARINE COMMISSION.

Portland the Only City on the Coast Not Supporting an American Line of Ships to Foreign Ports—Says the Matchless Opportunities Should Be Graaped by the City—Nature Has Done Her Part.

W. L. Marvin, secretary of the marine commission and regarded as an authority on maritime law, is of the opinion that the importance of the American shipping problem to the city of Portland cannot be overestimated and that there is danger of its being passed too lightly by her people. He said to the Oregon Daily Journal:

"The city of Portland is the only one on this coast at which we find no American line of ships trading with foreign ports. This fact, in addition to others makes the hearings of this commission more vital to Portland than to any other city.

"The ports of Seattle, Tacoma and San Francisco having American lines, they are bound to outstrip Portland in every form of growth resulting from foreign commerce.

"While it is true that Seattle has a large shipbuilding plant, this industry only carries the special benefits that attend the employment of a number of workmen in that particular industry. The city that has a good harbor and is convenient for seagoing vessels may become a great factor in foreign commerce if the conditions are favorable to American shipping.

"A law has been passed, to take effect two years hence, which provides that all commerce of every kind carried on between an American port and any country under the American flag shall be carried by American ships.

"This measure alone," said Mr. Marvin, "would cut Portland out of all the rich trade that is coming or already here between the United States and her possessions in the Orient, and even in the Sandwich Islands. There is already in force and effect a law that provides that all troops of war, supplies and munitions for our men in the Philippines shall be carried in American ships.

"Therefore, you may easily see that it behooves Portland to do something at once in the way of a radical reform of her shipping conditions if she hopes to supply from this city and its rich producing territory any part of the commerce between the United States and American ports abroad. You have Seattle on the north and San Francisco on the south, both eager to seize every contract and fill every requirement of American foreign trade, and both of these cities have American shipping lines operating with the Philippines, China and the Sandwich Islands.

These cities will undoubtedly endeavor to increase their present American shipping lines to those ports, and it would not be long until Portland would be hopelessly distanced and out of the race. This city has a beautiful harbor, and in some respects has advantages over her rivals for this trade.

"She is well located in a rich producing district, and ships will always go up stream as far as they can with safety. She is backed by the fertile Willamette valley, with a vast productive power by which her granaries may be supplied.

"Given American ships and thus placed on an even footing in the way of transportation facilities, she would with her distinct advantages in other respects be invincible in the foreign trade."

End of Bitter Fight.

PENDELTON EATING HOUSES.

F. G. Woodcock, Organizer for the Woodmen of the World, Praises the Hotels of This City.

"The hotels are mirrors of the city, and I am frank to say that Pendleton is supplied with the best of every variety of eating houses of any place in the inland Empire, or in the entire Northwest," said F. G. Woodcock, organizer for the Woodmen of the World, today.

"There is no place in the Northwest where all classes of people can be accommodated as well, in the matter of eating houses as in this city. The best 25 cent meals are furnished here that I ever ate anywhere, and as to the higher priced meals, they are unsurpassed.

"As my business calls me to different parts of the country, I have ample occasion to notice this feature of all cities and towns in this northwestern country, and there is no place that compares to your city of Pendleton."

A YEAR OF GREAT EXTREMES.

Milton Evans So Designates the Present Crop Season.

Pasture at 110 per cent and fall wheat yielding 25 bushels to the acre, is the estimate placed by Milton Evans in schedule to the state statistical agent, as state correspondent for this section, says the Walla Walla Union.

All other crops are estimated at normal, except corn, which is placed at 75 per cent, and apples and peaches which are estimated at 80 per cent of a good yield.

"This year," states Mr. Evans, in his remarks, "has been marked by great extremes, from very hot to excessively cold weather. Late frosts prevailed until well on in June. The great cereal crops are of a high average. In the foothills, wild oats have appeared unusually strong."

PLAYED "NEVADA" WELL.

Margarita Fischer Company Gives Excellent Performance of Old Favorite.

The comedy drama, "In Nevada," or as it is perhaps more familiarly known, "Tennessee's Pardner," has upon several times been presented in this city, but the production at the Frazer theater last night by the Margarita Fischer company, was by far the best ever seen in Pendleton.

Miss Fischer's support last night was exceedingly good and in spite of the poor attendance, the company played with spirit. As Mr. Lewis remarked in his announcement for tonight, "Give us a house and we will show what we can do. It is very discouraging to play to empty benches." The play tonight will be "Mother and Son," a four-act drama, adapted from the French.

EVADE SUNDAY LAW.

Vale Saloon Keepers Open Up in the Street Sunday Mornings.

As a result of a local reform movement the Vale, Malheur county, council passed an ordinance prohibiting saloons from opening on Sunday. This was a hard blow at the saloon keepers, whose chief trade comes from cowboys and ranchmen that generally spend their Sundays in town, says the Democrat of yesterday.

Since Vale is a little way station—long before it became a county seat way back in the '80s—a man had never been forced to go thirsty on Sunday within the town, and the new order created consternation. When the men on some of the large ranches in the interior wanted to go on a hark they could dispatch a man on horseback to Vale on any day and get necessary liquid without any trouble.

So, when the Sunday law went into effect, there was widespread mourning. But the saloon keepers in Vale are evidently men with wits, for they finally hit upon a most successful plan of getting around the ordinance. There was nothing in the new regulation to say that whisky should not be sold on Sunday—it only said saloons closed. So, when Sunday morning came, bars were placed out on the street where men could come and quench their thirst at will, while the saloons were closed, according to the provisions of the ordinance. The salesmen were duly provided with licenses and escaped arrest.

"The Breakers"

Where to Stop at North Beach

The Breakers Hotel is conducted to attract the best patronage, and is a summer hotel that is unsurpassed on the Pacific Coast north of the famous California beach resorts.

The building has an ocean front of 100 feet, is 76 feet wide and four stories high, or 73 feet from the ground floor to the top of the observatory.

It has handsomely furnished rooms, single or en suite, for 250 guests, each room being carpeted.

The house is lighted by electricity with electric lights and electric call bells in every room, and these lights make it one of the most brilliant beaches on the entire coast.

The entire lower floor is thrown open to the public, and, being beautifully carpeted, the spacious reception room and large, airy halls always form favorite gathering places for guests. The billiard and pool room is also quite popular for merry gatherings.

An Aeolian and Pianola in the commodious parlor furnishes delightful music at all times, and musicals are pleasant features during the entire season.

The Breakers has a regular orchestra which furnishes music for informal dances and balls, and the large dining room, with its smooth, hard floor, makes an ideal hall for regular dancing parties.

An abundance of fresh and salt water fish, clams, oysters, crabs and other sea food is always on our menu; our entire supply of milk, butter and cream comes from our own herd of Jersey cows, and poultry and eggs are supplied from the hotel farm adjoining the grounds.

There are hot and cold, fresh and salt water baths in the house, with private baths and toilets.

The waves of the ocean at high tide roll within 200 feet of the hotel, and the beach in front is superb for surf bathing.

On the grounds are bowling alleys, golf links, tennis courts and croquet sets; on the lake, just back of the hotel, is a fleet of sail and row boats, and on Shoalwater bay, just east of the lakes, is a gasoline launch for parties of fishermen, picnickers or others who prefer the warm, still-water bathing to the tumbling of the surf.

All trains stop at the railroad station in the hotel grounds, and no crowding into hotel omnibuses or walking in sand is necessary, since the hotel ground is a perfect velvety lawn, where the guests are practically landed at the hotel door.

The Breakers Hotel is located at Breakers Station, a regular ticket office, where all trains stop. It is one and a half miles north of Long Beach Station.

In purchasing tickets see that they read to Breakers, Wash., and have baggage checked through to that point.
