CHEHALIS NO MORE

FAMOUS PENDLETON STALLION DIED IN VERMONT.

History of the Rise of the Wonderful Pacer Under Frank Frazier's Able and Skillful Training—After Frazier Sold Him He Utterly Failed to Make Good His First Records.

It was with genuine regret that turfmen and horsemen in Pendleton learned of the death of Chehalis, the famous pacing stallion, for so many years the property of Frank Frazier of this city.

When the colt Chehalis became the property of Mr. Frazier, that well known horseman little dreamed that one day the animal would cause his name as well as its own to be known in every racing stable and on every track from the Pacific to the Atlantic. For it was Frazier's understanding of the driving of the horse that caused him to make such good time. After Chehalis was sold by Frazier the animal failed to show up as well as in former years.

While driving the horse to sleigh and buggy Mr. Frazier became convinced that the stallion was speedy, and he began training him for the track. As a 3-year-old he raced first on Irvington track at Portland, Ore., in the 2:18 class, taking third money.

Of 13 races in which Chehalis started in Oregon in his fifth year, he won 12. Before the season closed he had lowered his record to 2:07 1/2.

Dan Patch's two-mile record of 4:17 made at Memphis last year, was the first time since 1867 that Chehalis was obliged to give up the long distance championship. During 1897 the famous horse smashed the world's two-mile record by going in 4:19 1/2. According to the best critics and horse race judges of America, track conditions considered, Chehalis' two-mile-gait was superior to that of Patch.

That the horse was a beauty none who ever saw him will deny. Of him the Horse Review said, when he first appeared on the grand circuit in 1898:

"He is only 15 hands and an inch high and is rather a light boned horse, but in his makeup, end to end, he is a model of beauty, and his conduct at all times would indicate that he knows it. But he not only wears hobbles, but he wears them down on his legs half way between the knees and his elbows, and on his front feet he wears 10-ounce shoes and four-ounce toe weights."

GOLD DUST FROM NOME.

Transaction at Tallman's Recalls Pioneer Days in Eastern Oregon.

A rather out of the ordinary commercial transaction took place yesterday in Pendleton. Tallman & Co. received an order from Mastodon, Alaska, for drugs. Accompanying the order was $4.50 in gold dust.

Time was when gold dust was in common use in Eastern Oregon, but now such transactions are very much out of the ordinary. In Mastodon, Alaska, where the purchaser of the drugs lives, gold dust is legal tender. In fact in some places in Alaska gold is accepted at the postoffice in payment for stamps and money orders.

In 1900 the reporter happened to witness a rather unusual proceeding. A man stepped up to the money order window at Nome, Alaska, made out an application for a money order for a considerable amount to be sent back to the states. He paid for the money order in "dust."

The clerk, in weighing it out, became suspicious of it, and asked if it was Nome dust or Yukon dust. "It looks like a New York gold brick to me," said the clerk, and proceeded to test it with acid. Instantly heavy green fumes rose from the bogus gold, showing it to be brass or copper filings. Such things are comparatively rare, however, in a mining camp.

BAKER CITY MADE BRICK.

Find a Ready Sale in the City of Portland.

A few days ago the Oregon Sand and Lime Brick Company of this city, sent a carload of pressed brick to Portland for the purpose of disposing of the same, says the Baker City Herald.

News just came from there that the carload was sold before they could take it off the car. This is good news for the new industry that is promising to become a leading business institution of Baker City. This was the first carload ever shipped out of Baker, and the owners of the plant were somewhat skeptical as to the result; but this sale confirms them in the belief that they now have an industry that will grow into one of the leading business institutions of eastern Oregon.

End of Bitter Fight.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. The benefit I received was striking and I was on my feet in a few days. Now I've entirely regained my health." It conquers all coughs, colds and throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed by Tallman & Co.'s drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

IRRIGATION FOR IDAHO.

Plans for Boise-Payette Project Are Now Complete.

J. H. Lowell, of Caldwell, one of the leading spirits in the Boise-Payette irrigation enterprise, was in Nampa yesterday, on his way home from Boise, and reported that the preliminaries of this great reclamation project were being rapidly disposed of, says the Nampa Herald.

The articles of incorporation that were recently forwarded to Washington were returned this week, having received the approval of the government, after a few minor changes had been made by the legal department of the reclamation service.

The attorneys are now at work upon the by-laws, which will define the relations between the water users and the government and set forth the nature of the lien that the government will hold. The work of apportioning the cost to each tract of land will be taken up soon and the land owners will then be asked to subscribe to the stock.

No persons will be able to secure water for more than 160 acres of land and the owners of larger tracts will be obliged to cut up and transfer their holdings.

Mr. Lowell states that plans are being perfected for a grand irrigation mass meeting to be held at Boise August 8, under the auspices of the Woman's Columbian club. Messrs. Newell and Bien, of the reclamation service and Chief Pinchot, of the forestry division, will be present and deliver addresses and it is hoped that this meeting will stimulate interest in irrigation and forestry subjects.

WHITE SWAN TANGLE.

Delinquent Stockholders Have Their Innings.

The troubles of the delinquent stockholders of the White Swan mine have hardly begun, says the Baker City Herald. A notice has been published in which they are asked to pay their assessments that have been duly levied by their board of directors and if they fail to pay the assessment their stock will be sold according to law.

In a day or two the names of at least 3200 delinquent stockholders of the White Swan mine will be published for a period of 10 days after which time their stock will go a glimmering to the highest bidder for cash; and thus will end the delinquent stockholders interest in the now famous White Swan mines that once laid golden eggs with prospects of laying many more. Let her go Gallagher.

NEWS OF ATHENA

FRED KERSHAW HAS MOVED TO ATHENA FROM MILTON.

Immense Wheat Yields, Many Fields Averaging From Forty to Fifty Bushels—Athena Urged to Use Electricity—Sneak Thief Stole Revolvers—Returned From Kamela.

Athena, Aug. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kershaw of Milton, have moved to Athena, where they will make their home. Mr. Kershaw has resumed his old position at the W. & C. R. depot. John Bell's wheat in Sand Hollow is averaging 50 bushels, and Cass Connor's 45 bushels. Henry Smith's made 45 bushels, and Link Swaggart's field, which was damaged by hail, is averaging close to 50 bushels.

It is hoped that Athena will avail herself of the opportunity which she will have later on, to put in electric lights and power.

Some thief visited Charles Gay and Will Peterson's offices from the back doors, and helped himself to a revolver at each place. No clue was left to show who the thief was.

Mr. and Mrs. Green Estes, who have been spending the summer at Kamela, have returned home.

IDAHO POLITICS.

Boise City Editor Reviews the Situation There.

Charles H. Fisher, editor of the Boise, Idaho, Capital News, stopped over between trains last night, on his way to Roseburg for a few days' visit. He says that his city is growing rapidly, and is very prosperous, says the Salem Journal.

The News has just absorbed the Evening Bulletin, a paper started by the Daily Statesman when the Oregon men went there and established an evening paper.

So they now have both the Scripps news service and the Associated Press evening service for that territory.

Mr. Fisher says Idaho will go republican, as Roosevelt is strong all over the West. He says Dubois will control the democratic organization, and the democrats will come out strong against the Mormons, and that this will play into the hands of the republicans.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a 16c spoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
