AL HINES INJURED.

Alba Farmer Escapes Luckily in a Runaway Accident.

Al Hines, whose home is near Alba, met with an accident last Saturday that was full of possibilities for serious results, but by a chance that was as fortunate as it was singular, he was but little injured.

Mr. Hines was driving a team attached to the derrick rake of George Buzan's threshing outfit, on the ridge between Wild Horse and the river, about four miles east of town, when one of the horses became unmanageable and broke into a run. Before Mr. Hines could throw the lines from about his shoulders he was jerked off his feet and being dragged about the field.

Spectators say that Mr. Hines was simply invisible because of the cloud of dust stirred up by the horses and their victim on the ground behind. The team was finally stopped and Mr. Hines extricated. He was unconscious for a time, and his head was bleeding profusely.

Mr. Hines was immediately brought to town, where his hurts were dressed by Dr. Blakeslee. Three stitches were necessary in his scalp, and two in his right ear, but the skull was not even bruised. In fact, he was not hurt at all beyond the scalp and ears mentioned, and returned to his work immediately after the wounds were cleaned and stitched.

Mr. Hines is a resident of Alba, and about 45 years of age. The fractious horse which caused the trouble has gotten Mr. Hines into trouble before, and was sold by him immediately upon his return to the scene of the runaway Saturday.

The Peters houses were among the best dwellings in the town of Umatilla. They were occupied by O. C. Smith, O. R. & N. operator; Charles Davis and C. O. White. The occupants of the houses were unable to save any of their household goods.

BANDITS ARE FOILED.

Five Men Attempt to Hold Up Union Pacific Flyer.

Cheyenne, Aug. 8.—Shortly before daylight this morning five bandits attempted to hold up the Atlantic express at Assay, two miles west of Green River, on the Union Pacific. The outlaws turned a switch intending to wreck the flyer on a short siding, but a pump man discovered the plot and got word to the trainmen of the express, which was approaching swiftly.

The robbers shot the pump man, who will probably die. Poses are out from Green River, Rock Springs and Rawlins and a Union Pacific posse of trained rangers on fast horses was started on a special train from Cheyenne.

An attempt will be made to head off the outlaws before they reach the Sierra Madre. It is believed to be members of the gang that recently held up the Great Northern and Rio Grande trains.
