MEETING TONIGHT

POSTPONED MEETING OF COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Business of Importance is Coming Up and a Full Attendance is Requested—Membership Dues and Library Questions Will Be Discussed—Membership is Growing and Association is Highly Prosperous.

The postponed meeting of the Commercial Association will be held tonight, and as matters of vital importance are to be considered, President Borie urges that every member in the city be present.

The association is now in a highly prosperous and thrifty condition, and there is a wide sentiment in favor of reducing the dues to $1 per month, immediately, and this matter will be discussed.

The library is being placed in first-class condition by Librarian Nye, and as a school will soon open, steps will probably be taken to increase the active library membership among the school patrons, as the library is invaluable to students, on account of the many first-class reference, historical and literary works it contains.

At this time there are about 110 members, some few having dropped out for the summer months, but there is every evidence that the number can be increased to at least 150 within a month if the dues are reduced.

A full attendance is requested tonight. So many are out of town that it will require everybody left in town to make up an interesting meeting.

STOCK CONVENTION REPORTS.

Seventh Annual Reports of National Livestock Association Now Out.

The East Oregonian is in receipt of the seventh annual report of the National Livestock Association, through the courtesy of its secretary, C. F. Martin.

The report shows the occasion to have been about the most notable in the history of the organization.

Space will not permit going into detail, but an idea of the rare occasion can be gleaned from the remarks of the newly elected president, Hon. Frank J. Hagenbarth of Utah, when he assumed the chair. He said: "You have been listening to a galaxy of splendid orators and profound thinkers. You have heard the flow of Simpson's matchless wit, beneath the foam of which gleams the good gold of truth; the lucid logic and fearless facts of a Nichols, a Stubbs, and a Brooks; the brain and brevity of a Cohen; the pungent and pertinent paragraphs of an Andrews; the insidious and incautious legal sophisms of a Judge Cotton; the winsome ways and words of a Pinchot and a Newell; the sarcastic shrapnell and ironical innuendo of a Governor Wells, and, finally, you have listened to that peer of orators and prince of good fellows, our president, ever our president, the only Springer."

The book is handsomely printed and bound and contains the portraits of several score of stockmen closely identified with the work of the organization.

These reports are sent free to the members of the association, and a limited number can be secured by persons interested by remitting 25 cents to the secretary at Denver, Col.

Pendleton Woman Dead.

Long Creek, Aug. 9.—Word was brought over from Fox yesterday of the death of the wife of Charles H. Wood, at their home west of the post-office, at about 2 o'clock, the cause being severe hemorrhages after childbirth. The child was living at the time and is reported to be hearty. Mr. and Mrs. Wood came to Fox valley last summer from Pendleton, and settled on the abandoned homestead of Bert Keene. The deceased leaves two or three other small children, her husband and mother to mourn her sad death. Frankie McGill and Herman L. Horse came over last evening after a cassette, and the funeral will probably take place today.
