

CHAMBERLAIN GETS RESULTS

OREGON'S GOVERNOR ON THE FOREST RESERVE.

Upon Receiving His Sharp Protest Against the Slipshod Methods of Handling the Reserves, the Interior Department Acted Quickly in Making Amends—Forest Lands Unfit for Reserves Restored to Entry.

A special to the Oregon Daily Journal says:

The interior department has suddenly decided to restore to entry about 345,000 acres of land in Eastern Oregon, now included within forest reserve withdrawals. About 325,000 acres lie around the exterior boundaries of the Blue mountain withdrawal; the remaining 20,000 along the borders of the Wallowa withdrawal.

This decided change in the policy of the department is largely ascribed to a very pointed letter from Governor Chamberlain, which was received only yesterday.

In this letter Oregon's executive takes issue with the department for its indecision, or its aversion to act on forestry matters, and insists that one of two things be done, either that forests reserves be immediately erected and the surplus lands restored to entry, or that the lands so far found unfit for forestry purposes be thrown open to entry, leaving the actual creation of forest reserves to a later day.

His protest made it plain that, in his opinion, the department's policy of delay is injuring the state, interfering with settlement, and is, in all, indefensible.

It is no exaggeration to say that Governor Chamberlain's letter created more excitement than has been witnessed in the department in many months, and brought about such activity among clerks as is without precedent. Since that letter was received the department has been unable to act with enough expedition.

Immediately upon receipt of Governor Chamberlain's note the forestry bureau, which definitely recommended the creation of the Blue mountain forest reserve last May, was called upon to state what lands in the Blue mountain and Wallowa withdrawals had been unfit for reserve purposes.

The bureau promptly replied that about 325,000 acres in the Blue mountain withdrawal were deemed unsuitable for permanent reservation, and 20,000 acres in the Wallowa withdrawal.

Some of this land is good only for grazing; other tracts are barren and could not produce trees, while still other tracts lying in the valleys along the streams which penetrate the proposed reserves are distinctly agricultural lands, and not desirable in a reserve.

In other words the forestry bureau recommended that all public lands included in these two withdrawals which are in any way desirable for settlement or entry—except under the timber land laws—be restored to the public domain, retaining under withdrawal only those lands that are valuable for their timber and essential in the preservation of the water supply.

"JOSHUA SIMPKINS."

Stirring Sawmill Scenes the Acme of Stage Realism.

"Joshua Simpkins," a four-act New England play, will be presented at the Frazer Monday, August 22. The climax of stage realism, it is asserted, has been reached in the presentation of the stirring sawmill scene in "Joshua Simpkins," and will be presented in this city by a peculiar mechanical contrivance which has never been introduced here before.

This sawmill scene is claimed to be a vast improvement over many attempts in a similar line. The company also boasts of a splendid orchestra, which is carried complete by the organization, to aid in the proper presentation of the play, which is said to abound in musical and dancing specialties of a high order.

To assist "Joshua Simpkins" in popularity, a band of music is also carried, and a concert is given which is said to be far in advance of anything usually heard with a traveling musical organization. The parade will leave the theater at the usual time and take the usual route, making a burlesque parade.

RINGLINGS MAY COME.

Manager Taylor Will Patch Up Differences Between Pendleton and the Circus.

Manager K. J. Taylor of the Frazer theater left last night for Walla Walla to attend the performances of Ringling Brothers' circus in that city today. "Ringlings have not been in Pendleton for four years," said Mr. Taylor, "and I will endeavor to bring them here next season, if possible."

"The show men had trouble with the city council regarding their license the last time they showed here, and since then they have given the town the go by. Now that an ordinance providing that no circus shall be obliged to pay more than $100 a day, is in effect, I believe I may be able to persuade the Ringlings to come here next year."

Drinking Healths.

This was a Roman custom. The drinking was accompanied by some such words as "Here's to myself," "Here's to you" and "Here's to I shan't say who." The ancient Greeks also drank healths. When Thieramerus was condemned to drink hemlock he said, "Hoc pulcro Critice."

The ancient Saxons also had the same custom. Hengist invited King Vortigern to a banquet to see the new lewis. After the dishes were removed Rowena, the beautiful daughter of Hengist, appeared before the scene holding in her hand a golden cup full of wine. She then made obeisance and said, which in modern English means, "Lord king, your health." The king drank and replied, "Here's to you."

The Greeks handed the cups to the person they toasted and said, "This to thee." Our custom of holding out the cup comes to us from ancient Greece.—American Queen.

Thistles.

In the fourteenth century thistles were used as food for cattle, and they were considered as a crop. In the old priory of Lindisfarne there is a note in the archives of 1344-45 of thick leather gloves required for the harvesters of the thistle crop. It is curious that, though the thistle is the emblem of Scotland, the Scot never seems able to say which kind of thistle is the true national emblem. It is said that a thistle which resembles Carduus marianus was figured on the old coinage of the day of James V., who was first to put thistles on the Scotch money. The horn spoons sold in Edinburgh sometimes have little silver thistles on the end of the handles.

AN IDEAL HARVEST

WEATHER HAS BEEN HIGHLY SATISFACTORY.

Wheat Yields Are Better Than Expected—Oats in the Willamette Valley Below the Average—Spring Wheat Being Cut for Hay in Some Localities—Gardens Need Moisture to Make Full Yields and Maturity.

The past week has been dry, warm, and in most sections quite smoky. The grain harvest has proceeded uninterrupted, and in the Willamette valley and the southern part of the state most of the fall grain has been threshed. Fall wheat yields east of the Cascades continue excellent, but in the Willamette valley and Southern Oregon only an average crop has been secured.

Early seeded spring wheat made a good crop, and that seeded late is turning out better than expected, notwithstanding which much of it has already been cut for hay on account of the straw being too short to be harvested with binders. Oats are below the average in quantity. Barley yields are variable, but mostly good. The quality of all grain this year is better than usual.

Pasturage is getting very short and the milk supply in the dairy districts is diminishing. Hop buds are forming nicely and the vines continue free of lice. It is expected that even with favorable weather from now on the hop crop will be smaller than last year, notwithstanding the increased acreage.

Corn is doing nicely, but it would be benefited by rain, while potatoes and gardens are actually suffering for moisture; late planted potatoes will, however, turn out well if good rains occur within the next two weeks. Early apples, Crawford peaches and blackberries are ripe and being marketed.

Columbia River Valley.

Simnasho, Wasco county, J. O. Ashenurst—A very hot week; no rain; hay and grain harvest progressing.

Lexington, Morrow county, Edwin R. Beach—Exceedingly warm; north wind; threshing commenced and wheat is coming to the warehouse; yields fairly good; peaches, plums and harvest apples ripening.

Athens, Umatilla county, E. L. Barnett—Harvesting progressing rapidly; considerable inconvenience and some delay owing to lack of sufficient machinery; yields excellent and quality good; barley crop light; corn making good growth; third crop of alfalfa almost ready to cut; weather cool and favorable for harvest work.

Pendleton, Umatilla county, H. J. Taylor—Fine harvest weather and the yield is satisfactory; the frosted wheat did better than expected; most of heading done and threshing from stack begun; gardens generally good; melons beginning to ripen.

Plateau Region.

Cove, Union county, Jasper G. Stevens—Last week's hot weather caused some damage by burning grain; threshing will commence next week; it appears there will be considerable shortage of wheat in the county on account of frost and heat; the local mills will be able to use this year's crop; cherry season just closing; peach plums are being picked and packed for shipment.

Haines, Baker county, J. K. Fisher—Weather warm and dry; first crop of hay secured; grain harvest well along; grain of all kinds well filled and quantity good; apples a full crop. Clarno, Wheeler county, L. H. Hale—Hot, dry and very smoky; grass drying up; grain harvesting well under way; late peaches getting ripe.

"The Breakers"

Where to Stop at North Beach

The Breakers Hotel is conducted to attract the best patronage, and is a summer hotel that is unsurpassed on the Pacific Coast north of the famous California beach resorts.

The building has an ocean front of 100 feet, is 76 feet wide and four stories high, or 73 feet from the ground floor to the top of the observatory.

It has handsomely furnished rooms, single or en suite, for 250 guests, each room being carpeted.

The house is lighted by electricity with electric lights and electric call bells in every room, and these lights make it one of the most brilliant beacons on the entire coast.

The entire lower floor is thrown open to the public, and, being beautifully carpeted, the spacious reception room and large, airy halls always form favorite gathering places for guests. The billiard and pool room is also quite popular for merry gatherings.

An Aeolian and Pianola in the commodious parlor furnishes delightful music at all times, and musicals are pleasant features during the entire season.

The Breakers has a regular orchestra which furnishes music for informal dances and balls, and the large dining room, with its smooth, hard floor, makes an ideal hall for regular dancing parties.

An abundance of fresh and salt water fish, clams, oysters, crabs and other sea food is always on our menu; our entire supply of milk, butter and cream comes from our own herd of Jersey cows, and poultry and eggs are supplied from the hotel farm adjoining the grounds.

There are hot and cold, fresh and salt water baths in the house, with private baths and toilets.

The waves of the ocean at high tide roll within 200 feet of the hotel, and the beach in front is superb for surf bathing.

On the grounds are bowling alleys, golf links, tennis courts and croquet sets; on the lake, just back of the hotel, is a fleet of sail and row boats, and on Shoalwater bay, just east of the lakes, is a gasoline launch for parties of fishermen, picnickers or others who prefer the warm, still-water bathing to the tumbling of the surf.

All trains stop at the railroad station in the hotel grounds, and no crowding into hotel omnibuses or walking in sand is necessary, since the hotel ground is a perfect velvety lawn, where the guests are practically landed at the hotel door.

The Breakers Hotel is located at Breakers Station, a regular ticket office, where all trains stop. It is one and a half miles north of Long Beach Station.

In purchasing tickets see that they read to Breakers, Wash., and have baggage checked through to that point.
