FRANCE'S DISEASED PEOPLE.

Ravages Made by Alcoholism and Tuberculosis.

A prominent physician in France paints a gloomy picture of the prevalence of certain forms of disease in that country. He writes that alcoholism is making deplorable ravages, while tuberculosis carries off more than 150,000 victims every year, and says the strength of 500,000 in addition.

He declares that whereas in other civilized lands smallpox is not prevalent, in France there are still many cases, while typhoid fever, dysentery and other maladies are distressingly frequent.

Traditions have been widely accepted that the excellence of Gallic cookery lessened the multitudes of the sick in our sister republic in comparison with those of other nations. It would be interesting to know whether the British channel and Italy take gloomy and pessimistic views of the future of France.

LONGEST CHAIN IN THE WORLD.

Lies at the Bottom of the River Elbe.

A curious means of moving boats is employed on the River Elbe. A chain 290 miles long lies at the bottom of the stream, which is too swift to navigate in the usual way. The boats are 180 feet long and provided with 200 horse power steam engines which turn a drum fastened on the deck.

The chain comes in over the bow, passes along on rollers to the drum, around which it is wound three times. The chain is then carried to the stern where it drops back into the water. It is the longest chain in the world.
