

AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Reward for Murderer.
Shoshone county, Idaho, has offered a reward of $500 for any information leading to the apprehension of the murderer or murderers of Ed Boulet, who was killed two weeks ago on Marble creek in the St. Joe district, Shoshone county.

Boulet and several of his companions were known as claim jumpers, and to rid themselves and the country of them it is supposed the squatters of that section deemed it advisable to kill one or all of them. While Boulet and a companion by the name of Lindsley were traveling they were ambushed and the former was killed. Lindsley dodged into the thick timber and escaped with a slight wound.—Spokesman-Review.

Praised Oregon Flowers.
C. D. Frazer, who travels for the Wadhams & Kerr Bros., of Portland, says the Hotel Willamette at Salem, has the finest flowers in the dining room of any hotel on the road. He is there every Monday, and has become an enthusiast over the gladioli. The gladioli grown in the open air at Salem are certainly the most showy flower for hotel use that has ever been developed. One Salem grower has been furnishing these flowers to several hotels to convince the traveling public that this is more of a flower state than some others, as he believes that our summer climate is adapted to flower culture out doors better than any climate in the world. It is gratifying to find that they are appreciated.—Salem Journal.

Irrigate Idaho Lands.
R. C. Massey and James Garbutt, of North Dakota, who came here the first of May and purchased the old Owyhee Land & Irrigation Company's ditch at Grand View on the Snake river, together with 13,000 acres of land, are in the city today on their way to their former home in North Dakota to harvest their wheat and close up their affairs preparatory to giving their new enterprise their undivided attention.

The ditch is about 20 miles long and was constructed many years ago, but owing to continued litigation it has been in disuse much of the time. There are about 7000 acres under the ditch susceptible to irrigation. Since acquiring the ditch they have done considerable work cleaning it out and enlarging it.

It is their intention to fully develop the land which they acquired and to get settlers on the other land under the ditch. They intend to engage extensively in fruit raising for which that section has become famous. On their return from North Dakota they expect to bring back a number of families to settle on the lands.

They are constructing a ferry at Grand View which will be ready for use about the first of October. It is said to be one of the finest crossings on the Snake river.—Boise Capital News.

Praises Washington Exhibit.
"Washington's state building is filled with products of the state," said C. H. James, who has returned from a three month's trip through the Eastern states. "Only two other states are doing this and for this reason Washington is making a hit. Other state buildings are furnished as parlors for visitors. They are fitted up handsomely, have concerts and otherwise provide for the entertainment of the people who come from their states. Washington, however, is exhibiting its resources and this is doing a great deal of good for the state. The Washington fruit is the finest at the exposition."—Spokesman-Review.

Football Outlook Good.
The high school lads seem very sanguine over the football outlook and declare confidently that they are going to have a fine team. Practice will begin at once so as to get ready for the first game, which will probably be played in the latter part of this month. C. B. Stewart is manager of the team and a captain will be elected Wednesday. Although he absolutely definite scheduling has been arranged as yet, it is quite certain that games will be played with Pendleton academy and Walsburg academy, while Dayton and Colfax are also probable. There are also sure to be games between the high school and Whitman.—Walla Walla Statesman.
