

LONG THE EXCHANGES THE INLAND EMPIRE

Grant County Cattle Outlook.

Mr. J. D. Combs returned from an extensive trip through the country last week. He immediately left for the different sections where he has purchased cattle for a large shipment to be made the last part of the month.

Mr. Combs further states to a news man that notwithstanding published reports to the contrary, the stock is not being bought up on government contracts, as that deal was made during the midsummer season. The stock now purchased is for the Western Bros. of Seattle, and for William Hanley, of Burns.

There is a good deal of stock on the market, but unfortunately the market is not strong. Prices remain low and the condition of the beef on the range is only fair.—Grant County News.

Reward for Enterprise.

The hearts of the state commissioners of the 1905 fair were gladdened yesterday by a letter received from the Walla Walla County Fair Association.

The association stated that on October 3 the first fair ever held in the county would be opened, and that the only reason the enterprise had been started was to insure a desirable exhibit of the county's resources for next year at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

The fair was started solely as a public enterprise and after getting into the work and enlarging the scope of the fair as occasion demanded, the promoters found that there was a liability that they would have more debts than even public-spirited citizens could well afford to pay. So in a desire to discover what aid the state commission could render, they wrote.

The state commission will be able to pay half the cost of the Walla Walla county exhibit if the total cost is not more than $1000 and in addition will purchase such exhibits as the county may desire included in the general state exhibit and that are acceptable to the commission.

The Walla Walla exhibit at the 1905 fair will be one of the most complete and characteristic of any of the county collections and the entire county has for months been seeking out its best things to show at the county fair. Such a rare spirit of enterprise and loyalty to state interests has touched the commission and the needed money, up to the $500 limit, will be forthcoming.—Portland Journal.

A Solicitor's Hard Luck.

J. W. Ellsworth, traveler for the Baker City Democrat, met with a very painful accident one day last week, near Burns, through being thrown from his horse into a barbed wire fence. The lacerations were very severe and before he could be taken to a physician to have the needed stitching done, had lost much blood. He will recover speedily.—Sumpter Reporter.

MARKET REVIEWED

The Oregon Sunday Journal gives the following resume of the Portland livestock market:

There were many changes in the quotations on livestock in the local market last week. There was a very good demand for the better grade hogs and on Tuesday there was a 25c advance. Wednesday the market again strengthened, but on Thursday there was another rise of 25c. Friday was a bad day for hogs, and prices lost the former day's advance, but it was regained today, making a total advance of 75c on the better grade hogs of 150 for the week.

FANCY LIVESTOCK SHOW.

One of the Best Herds in the State Will Be Shown at the Fair.

The Walla Walla County Fair Association is paying extra attention to fall to exhibits of imported and domestic livestock and the program list shows that some excellent animals are made to owners and exhibitors.

Secretary Caswell has been informed that some of the best herds in the state will be shown this year. It will be of advantage to stockmen and all interested in breeding livestock to attend the fair
