MRS. VAN ORSDALL GOES EAST.

Will Attend Meeting of Woodcraft Officials and Fraternities Congress.

Mrs. Carrie C. Van Orsdall, grand guardian of the Pacific jurisdiction, Women of Woodcraft, expects to leave Pendleton tomorrow evening for Leadville, Col., to attend the semi-annual meeting of the board of grand managers of the order. She will be accompanied by her daughter, Miss Carol Van Orsdall, and Grand Manager Mrs. Cora Wilson, of Pullman, and Mrs. Annie Hawkins, of Toledo.

The principal business to come before the board will be the investment in securities of $30,000 for the equalization fund of the order.

"I will go to St. Louis from Leadville," said Mrs. Van Orsdall, "to attend the National Fraternities Congress, which convenes on September 26. I intend to transact other lodge work while East, and expect to return to Pendleton about October 16."

FRUIT FROM FREEWATER.

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Engaged in Packing—Three Cars a Day Sent Out.

Freewater is a busy and prosperous community these days. In addition to the industries common to the better class of country towns, the fruit industry is added, and its volume is hardly understood or appreciated by outsiders, even many in the county not fully understanding it.

There are three firms engaged in buying and packing the products of tree and vine—the Mumford company, the Shields company, and Fruit Union. These three firms employ 150 persons, of whom 120 are packers and the remainder boxers and haulers.

Most of the packers are women, who are only excelled in the business by the Chinamen who for years have followed orange and lemon packing in California. These women earn from $1 to $2.50 per day, being paid

SEARCH FOR WATER

GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL ADVISES WATER COMMISSION.

N. H. Darton, Chief of Exploration of Underground Flow of Water Comes to Pendleton on Special Instructions From F. H. Newell—Investigates Geological Formation of Country Adjacent to Pendleton and Advises Well in River Bottom Near the City, as an Experiment.

In an effort to secure an increased supply of water for the city of Pendleton, the city water commission secured a visit from an official of the geologic survey for the purpose of investigating the geological formation of the country, adjacent to Pendleton with a view to locating artesian water or finding an increased flow from surface springs.

Yesterday afternoon N. H. Darton, chief of the department of underground water exploration, of the interior department, in company with F. H. Clepton and Leon Cohen, of the city water commission, visited the hills on the northeast of Pendleton, in view of finding evidences of a permanent water supply. Mr. Darton carefully investigated the geological formation of the country and noted the evidences of water now found.

The country between the Cascades and the Blue mountains is an old lava bed, lying in layers or sheets, and is one of the most difficult of formations to deal with, the underground flows being so erratic and uncertain.

After inspecting the country thoroughly and observing all the visible prospects, Mr. Darton advised the commission to drive a well in the river bottom, near the city, this being the most feasible plan to pursue. He held the formation of the earth in this entire district precludes the possibility of making even a guess at the hidden water supply. The well would be simply an experiment.

He also advised the development of water sources on the brow of the hills overlooking the Wild Horse, where there are surface evidences of a flow of water.

It had been the hope of the city water commission that an official from the geologic survey could be located here for a short time, to fully investigate the water supplies in this vicinity, and give the commission some definite information on the permanent underground flows, but Mr. Darton says this will be impossible, for the reason that the department is short of men, having not enough practical men now available to carry on the necessary work in relation to the reclamation projects being carried on.

Mr. Darton came to Pendleton for the special purpose of investigating the condition here. He was engaged in investigations near Denver, when he received instructions from F. H. Newell to come to Pendleton. He left this morning for Western Nevada, where he has a corps of men at work.

ROE BUYS THE HERALD.

Former Freewater Farmer Engages in Newspaper Business.

J. L. Roe, who recently sold 50 acres of alfalfa land near Freewater for $11,000, has purchased the entire plant and business of the Baker City Herald, the famous hobby of Letson Balliet.

Mr. Roe's son, Carl, formerly of the Enterprise, Chieftain, had purchased a half interest in the Herald some time ago, and in company with W. J. Lachner, has been issuing it since the suspension of the old Herald company in May.

J. L. Roe and son have now purchased Mr. Lachner's interest and will edit and manage the paper, jointly.

Mr. Roe was formerly a prosperous farmer of the Sand Ridge in Grand Ronde valley, and for several years has been a resident of Umatilla county. He was a prominent republican politician while a resident of Union county, and is a political writer of much force.

WONDERFUL HYPNOTISM.

Thomas Nye Performs Feats That Are Truly Professional.

Thomas Nye entertained a large number of friends at the Commercial Association last night with a demonstration of his powers as a hypnotist. Mr. Nye had complete control over three subjects he performed with.

As an amateur he ranks at the head and some of his work is even beyond that practiced by the professional. For instance, The instant change of a cataleptic from a condition of utter relaxation to rigidity. In this Mr. Nye raises the subject so that his heels and the back of his head are all that rest on the floor.

Another act is to suggest that the subject return to a sub-conscious state at the end of a given time without further command or act on the part of the hypnotist. This evening Mr. Nye will entertain at the home of W. J. Furnish.

BACK TO GRANT COUNTY.

George Elliott, Arrested for Stealing Horses, Taken to Long Creek.

Deputy Sheriff Kelley of Grant county, is in Pendleton from Long Creek to secure George Elliott, under arrest for horse stealing. Elliott was arrested last week by Sheriff T. D. Taylor as he rode into town with three stolen horses in his possession. The animals are the property of John Johnson and J. W. Wilson of Long Creek.

It is alleged that Elliott and Ralph Lumford stole the horses and the former was sent to this city to dispose of them. Lumford was arrested a few days ago at Long Creek. Both of the accused are boys. Elliott is 16 years of age.

When arrested by Sheriff Taylor, Elliott declared the horses belonged to him, but later he confessed the theft.

TRAMPS STEAL TRUNK.

Found in a Vacant Lot Broken Open, But Nothing Missing.

A trunk belonging to Frank Snyder was stolen from the O. R. & N. company depot platform last night. It was discovered in a vacant lot this morning by Officer Coffman.

The trunk has been broken open but nothing had been taken. It is thought tramps took the trunk. Mr. Snyder was awaiting the train for Portland and left the trunk on the platform until time for the baggage office to open. Another trunk setting beside Snyder's was not molested.

Adventist Ministers in Town.

F. M. Callicott and family arrived this morning and will spend several days here and in this vicinity, looking at the town and surroundings, but with no present intention of locating. Their home is in Denver. Mr. and Mrs. Callicott are ministers of the Seventh Day Adventist church and from here will go to Walla Walla, where their daughter will enter the Adventist College at College Place. From Walla Walla the remainder of the family will go to Seattle and other Sound points.

Walla Walla Pioneer.

Lewis McMorris, one of the pioneer residents of the Inland Empire, spent last night in Pendleton. His home is in Walla Walla. This morning he went to Weston, where he will visit for a day or two. Mr. McMorris came west over 50 years ago. "This is the first time I have been in Pendleton for a year," said Mr. McMorris, this morning. "There has been a decided change in 12 months. Pendleton has been a good town and there has been plenty of life here ever since the first house was built."

Furnishing Department Moved.

The men's and boys' furnishings department of the Peoples Warehouse is being moved today into the new quarters. New show cases for this department have arrived and the new stock is now being displayed to the best advantage. A large and elegant stock is now shown in an attractive manner. The new quarters add greatly to the convenience and appearance of the store.

High School Principal.

George W. Eyre, principal of the Pendleton high school, arrived in Pendleton last night. Mr. Frye graduated from the University of Oregon, in 1903. He taught school last year at Astoria. He is well known in Eastern Oregon and Washington as an athlete. While attending Whitman he gained the title of the "big little man" in the college. Mr. Eyre has been spending the summer at various points on the coast.

Will Attend St. Helens.

Mrs. Alice Sheridan, her daughter Gertrude, and Miss Bertha Alexander left this morning for Portland, where the young ladies will attend St. Helen's Hall for the ensuing year. Mrs. Sheridan will return in a few days for a short stay, but will spend the fall and winter in Portland.

Teachers' Contracts Filed.

Contracts to teach were filed with County School Superintendent Frank K. Welles this morning as follows: Miss Bessie McDaniel, district 94; Adelle Mulkey, district 21; Miss Nellie Darr, district 15, and David McGinnis, district 44.

New Cement Paving.

The laying of the 350 feet of 12-foot cement pavement around the new Matlock and Bowman buildings is in progress and will be completed within the next two weeks.

Eastern Oregon staple wool, in the dirt, is quoted at 20 cents per pound in Boston.

FROM LAST TO FIRST

People used to take plain cod liver oil for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles after other remedies had failed.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern idea of cod liver oil—the first instead of the last resort when such ailments appear.

The taste of the oil is not apparent and the oil itself is partly digested—makes it easy for the stomach. Scott's Emulsion is a quick, reliable help at all ages.
