

Mothers! Retain Your Youthful Figures.

To be beautiful is to be loved by all. If there lives the woman who is indifferent to this she is yet to be heard of. Yet from time immemorial society has recognized what they thought to be a detriment in the way of such a realization. The bearing of children has meant to them the marring of physical beauty of figure, without which beauty of face would be of little account. Nothing could be more remote from truth than this; childbirth is purely a natural phenomenon, accompanied by pain, to be sure, but if properly managed no more harmful in its effects upon the human form divine than any other natural function.

AN EVENT OF THE WAR

Immigrants Camped in the River Brakes Hit the Trail at the Suggestion of a Friendly Indian-First Intimation of War Was a Midnight Warning and They "Didn't Stop

Running Till They Reached Port-

Conners Bell, a San Francisco photographer, is in town en route for a tour of the Northwest and the Northern Central states before winter sets

Mr. Bell states that in 1878, during the Umatilla Indian war, he was a mere lad, and a member of a party of immigrants from Iowa which was camped in the Umatilia brakes for several days while the horses rested and the "women folks" cleaned and patched in readiness for the last stages of a journey which began in Northeastern Iowa, and was to end in Curry county, Oregon. They had been in camp several days without having any intimation that anything was wrong until a young Indian came into camp about 1 o'clock in the morning and sententiously told the man who had been detailed to watch the horses to "hike." The rest of the party were at once awakened and inside of an hour the caravan hit the trail, "and never stopped running until we reached Portland."

Mr. Bell claims to not believe that the party was in any particular danger, further than they they may have saved their horses by their haste in leaving the neighborhood. The outfit was well provisioned, and having no need of purchasing supplies of any kind had not kept in touch with the settlements, and knew nothing of the uprising until the young Indian warned the watchman

"A TEXAS STEER."

Drew a Large Audience Which Was Highly Pleased.

The production of Hoyt's "A Texas Steer," at the Frazer last night, was all that could be desired by the large audience that witnessed it. There is not a slow line in the entire play, and only regret is that the company could not remain longer.

This play has enjoyed a phenomenal run since it was first produced a dozen years ago, and never falls to draw a large crowd. It is a political satire of Washington life and of the change wrought in an honest old Texas cattleman and his family by a taste of real society.

The Sutton repertoire company will be the next to appear at the Frazer. They will play an engagement of three days, beginning next Monday.
