

CONSTANT CHANGE OF STYLE IS A GREAT INFLUENCE

with the man who knows how to dress well. This man does not wear cheap or poorly made clothes. His tastes are fastidious; he demands correctness in cut, style, material and finish. When dressed he appears among his friends up to date—a man of taste.

For just such fastidious men Crouse & Brandegee make such particular garments as their double-breasted overcoat with belt. Their similar coat last season proved one of the greatest sellers of the year. Of course this year the style has improved; it is a long coat, as such a coat should be—not a cheap one; when you see it you won't want a cheap coat. It is the same with their paletot, also a long-skirted coat, for the man who likes a dress overcoat. It is excellent taste for formal or every-day wear. Long in length, exactly as it should be.

Human Horses in Japan.

In Tokio, the capital and model city of Japan, various kinds of vehicles are used for the purposes of conveyance; wagons, jinrikishas, omnibuses, horse cars, electric cars. Of these, the jinrikisha or man power carriage is a notable feature. There are several thousand men engaged in pulling kurumas or two-wheeled carts. To foreigners the idea of human beings taking the part of beasts of burden may appear simply incredible, but in Japan one sees these very incredible things are going on.—Express Gazette.
