MIXED TRAIN WAS WRECKED

WALLA WALLA LOCAL MET SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Ditched-Engine and Tender Passed Over the Culvert - Passenger Train No. 7 From Spokane, Due Here Last Evening at 5:35 p. m., Arrived at 7:30 This Morning by Way of Umatilla.

Eight freight cars were piled up beside the O. R. & N. track at Saxe the ensign. Station, six miles east of Pendieton, royally treated wherever they went. as the result of the sinking of a culvert yesterday evening. The wreck occurred as the mixed freight from Walla Walla, in charge of Conductor Frank Willis, was passing over the The engine crossed the defective place in safety when the accident took place, leaving the coach, score of passengers, with a standing on the opposite side. No one was injured. Four freight cars are badly damaged, and their cargoes of grain and flour are scattered along the track. Four other cars are slightly damaged.

The west-bound passenger train from Spokane, was obliged to return to Walla Walla and reached this city by way of Wallula and Umatilla. It and are sold, the proceeds going toarrived at 7:30 o'clock this morning. The track where the wreck occurred was cleared this morning and the Spokane train departed at 10 o'clock an hour late.

The culvert that caused the accident had just been put in and it is thought the roadbed was still soft.

Passengers on the mixed train were brought to this city last night on the engine and tender. Several passengers of the passenger train instead of remaining on the train and coming in this morning by way of Umatilla, walked to Pendleton last night from Saxe.

The exact loss occasioned by the smashup is not known. It is thought that most of the flour and wheat in the damaged cars can be saved. There has never been a wreck entailing heavy loss of life in the history of the branch line between Pendleton and Walla Walla, although the road has been in operation about 18 A cattle train was derailed near Blue Mountain several years ago and scores of animals were destroy A brakeman was hurled from the train and killed.
