Philippine Coffee Exhibit

In the Agricultural building of the Philippine exposition at the World's fair, is on exhibit coffee grown in 21 different provinces, which clearly goes to show that the Philippines are naturally adapted to coffee growing.

That misfortune never goes single-handed is verified by the advent of a destructive insect, which in recent years has played havoc with the coffee crop of the Philippine islands. On account of the ravages of this insect the native owners of coffee plantations have become disheartened and discouraged, and have in a measure given over the cultivation of coffee. The bureau of agriculture of the Philippine islands is giving special attention to this insect, and it is hoped that soon a remedy will be discovered against this new enemy of the coffee plant. When this is done a forward movement may, with confidence, be expected, and coffee raising again restored to one of the foremost industries of the islands.

It is often related that the production of coffee in the Philippines was formerly so remunerative that those engaged in its culture could find no way sufficiently extravagant in which to spend their money, save by the purchase of diamonds, which were profusely worn, even to the extent of using them as ornaments for their shoes and slippers.

There are many thousand acres of gullied hillsides especially adapted to the culture of the coffee plant, which are now idle and covered with a dense growth of tropical plants, which will need both capital and energy to reclaim and turn into coffee plantations.

There are exhibits of coffee at the fair from provinces of Rizal, Bulacan, Patangas, Bataan, Abra, Panay, Cebu, Surlago, Zamboanga, Tarlac, Laguna, Isabela, Jolo, Nueva Ecija, Cavite, Occidental Negros, Ilocos Sur, Ilocos Norte, Romblon, Bontoc, and Lapan-to.

The bureau of agriculture has an experiment farm in the province of Batangas, where particular attention is being given to the culture of coffee and it is given out that encouraging progress is being made. When the coffee industry in the islands was in the most flourishing condition, over $4,000,000 worth was exported per annum, and there seems to be no question but that with scientific attention directed to its culture these figures may easily be surpassed.

It is suggested that the congress of the United States should extend encouragement to her eastern insular possessions to furnish the greater part of the $71,000,000 worth of coffee imported annually by Cuba, Java and other foreign countries in the way of a bounty or by placing a duty upon foreign products.

The flavor of Philippine coffee is particularly favored and highly appreciated in Spain, where there is always a ready market for this product. The coffee comes into bearing in three years and the elevation of 2000 feet and less supplies a climate healthful and vigorous, and renders it practicable for white labor to expend any amount of energy in its cultivation.

There is much capital and energy in the United States that could find profitable employment in the growing of coffee in the islands.

There are few sights more beautiful than a well conducted coffee plantation. Neither the blush of the apple blossom, the snowy plum, nor the pink of the peach, can compare with the exquisite beauty of the coffee tree where nature has excelled herself in combining these rare qualities which delight the eye, tickle the palate and render good return for labor and capital invested.—Eber C. Smith.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 30c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. F. W. Schmidt & Co., special agents.
