

We have lots of confidence in our own ability to give you good coffees at fair prices. If we didn't have, we wouldn't keep at you so persistently to sell you our blends. We know positively we can please you no matter what you have been buying. All we want is an opportunity to prove our assertion by sending you a small order.

A reputation for selling good coffees is worth more to a grocer than a reputation along almost any other line.

Let us send you samples or quote you prices, or send you a small trial order, or anything else to get you started.

HORSES FOR PHILIPPINES.

Breeding of Good Stock Has Been Miserably Neglected.

There are many things lamentably lacking in the Philippines, according to our standard of civilization, but nothing in more urgent demand at present than good horses. The islanders have never paid any serious attention to the horse business and have always depended on the slow, easy-going caribou or water ox for a beast of burden. In order to give the natives a good start and also a good example, the government has sent over a ship load of breeding animals.

"It is interesting to note," says the World's Work, "that this is the first time our government has taken any part in horse breeding. And even now it may not be proper to say that it is taking a part, for the present experiments are made by the civil government of the Philippines, and the expenses are paid out of the Philippine revenues.

If the experiments succeed, however, it will not be wonderful if the federal government should establish a breeding plant of its own, so that cavalry and artillery horses of uniform types could be obtained. France, Germany, Austria and Russia breed horses for military use, and also to foster horse breeding.

"Of course, this mingling of American and Filipino horse blood is an experiment and no one can tell, with absolute certainty, what the result will be. That the progeny as individuals will be an improvement over the native horses is tolerably sure; but the experiment cannot be considered entirely successful unless the mingling of blood, aided by infusion of Arab blood, results in a breed of sturdy horses able for work on the farms and also fit for use by the army and constabulary. This can, no doubt, be accomplished in time."

BORAX PRODUCTION.

Valuable Mineral is Found in But Few Places in United States.

The borax fields of the United States are mainly in the desert "dry lake" region of Southern California, though deposits are found also in Nevada and Oregon. Borax was first produced in the United States in 1864, at Borax Lake, Cal. The borax was contained in the water of the lake and was obtained by evaporation.

The saline crusts of the so-called dry lakes or borax marshes of the Mohave valley were next mined for borax, and afterward, about in 1888, work was begun on the beds of colemanite, or borate of lime, in San Bernardino county, Cal., from which most of the borax mined in the United States has since been obtained.

The amount of crude borax produced in the United States in 1903 was 34,430 short tons, valued at $661,400. The production in 1902 was 17,404 short tons of refined borax, valued at $2,447,614, and 2600 short tons of crude borax, valued at $91,000, a total of 20,004 short tons, valued at $2,538,614. Of the refined borax 862 short tons, valued at $150,000, were boric acid. Had the valuation in 1903 been taken on the refined instead of the crude product the figures would have been $2,735,000 instead of $661,400.

The amount of borax, borates and boric acid imported into the United States in 1902 was 1,694,251 pounds, valued at $65,236. In 1903 the amount imported was 909,251 pounds, valued at $47,018.

Refineries for borax are located at Bayonne, N. J., Brooklyn, N. Y., New Brighton, Pa., Chicago, Ill., and San Francisco, Cal., where various more or less secret processes are employed to convert the crude material into product designed for various uses.

The way of the transgressor is very like skating on thin ice. You may glide along all right, or you may land in a mighty cold berth.

"Yes," assented Golden Gate, "I know you make more profit on bulk coffee, but don't you realize that a satisfied coffee customer will always buy other things from you?"
"I give satisfaction, draw trade and yield you a fair profit. See the point?"

Nothing does with GOLDEN GATE COFFEE but satisfaction. No extras—no coupons—no crockery. 1 and 2 lb. aroma-tight tins. Never sold in bulk.
