

WARDE IS COMING

TRAGEDIAN TO BE SEEN HERE IN "SALAMMBO."

Frederick Warde and Kathryn Klidder to Present Thrilling Play Founded on the Siege of Carthage at the Frazer Monday Night, Oct. 10—Comes as the Best Treat of the Early Theatrical Season in Pendleton—Favorite Tragedian is Well Known Here.

Al E. Lohman, representing Waggonhals & Kamper, who are presenting Frederick Warde and Kathryn Klidder this evening in "Salamambo," the thrilling story of the siege of Carthage, 309 B. C., as dramatized by Stanislaus Strange, is in Pendleton today. "Salamambo" will be presented at the Frazer theater next Monday night, October 10.

Newspaper critics throughout the country have the highest praise for the dramatization of the sensational novel of Flaubert, which, when it was first made known was to be staged, caused a gasp of horror. Blanche Walsh appeared in the title role in the initial production.

Speaking of the production Mr. Lohman said:

"The great scene of the play, or at least that in which curiosity will mostly center, is where Salamambo as an act of self-sacrifice undertakes to visit the barbarian Matho's tent at night and place herself at the mercy of his savage lust in order to procure from him the sacred veil of Tanit, the restoration of which alone will save Carthage from destruction and her brother from being burned on the altar of the Sun God. The scene is a dangerous one and needs handling by the most resourceful dramatist, in order that the spectator may be thrilled without being shocked."

It is said that the staging of "Salamambo" is almost as gorgeous as "Ben Hur," "L'Aiglon," and other dramatic spectacles of recent years.

Mr. Lohman declares that theatrical business this season has opened much better than last year. "If we keep up the present lick," he laughed, "we will make a million dollars." Last season and the year before were not very good. It is still the age of the musical comedy, and there are a great many lovers of that form of theatrical amusement, although the thing has been overdone to some extent."

BERGER KNOWN HERE.

Swindling Book Agent Who Beat Umatilla Districts Is in Trouble.

R. Berger, whom certain Umatilla county school districts allege to know to their sorrow, is charged by the courts of Pacific county, Washington, with forgery. Berger is a school supply agent and the specific charge is that he raised school district warrants. It is said his frauds amount to over $400.

Former County School Superintendent J. F. Nowlin, of this city, when apprised of the fact that Berger was in trouble, said: "Yes, I know the man, and I have no hesitancy in saying that he is the biggest swindler who ever came to this part of the county."

He secured recommendation from City Superintendent Conklin, and myself and other school officials, to place libraries in the districts. In re-

PURE DRUGS

It is easy to say "pure drugs." So easy that many druggists say so from force of habit. The reality requires more than mere "say so." It requires knowledge, experience, constant and conscientious vigilance.

We say we have pure drugs because we have. We spent time and money to make sure of the fact.

There are no better drugs to be had than we provide. There are no pure drugs that can be had for lower prices than ours.

placing books he put in the worst kind of yellow-back literature. Anything he could get to complete the series would be placed on the shelves. Then, too, it is alleged he forged duplicate warrants and made two different districts pay twice for supplies purchased from him. He had left the country, however, before the fraud was discovered."

More Pleased With Umatilla County.

Peter Westbaum is a German farmer from Will county, Illinois, who lately bought land in Lincoln county, Washington, and returns East to settle up his affairs. To gratify his curiosity he visited through the Palouse country on his way East, and also stopped at Walla Walla and afterward at the small towns in the northern part of this county. He was in Pendleton Saturday and Sunday last, and before leaving on last night's train frankly confessed that he wished he had come West over the Short Line and the O. R. & N. instead of the Great Northern, as he would have had an opportunity to have inspected this district before investing.

Dave Johnson Has Returned.

Dave Johnson, who is Enoch Pierson's business partner in the sheep business, returned from the East some days in advance of his friend and his wife. Mr. Pierson declares that because Mr. Johnson did not get him a wife while East it certainly was not because he could not. On the contrary, it was because he became confused in the multiplicity of chances offered him there, and he concluded to turn the whole subject of matrimony over until he returned home.

Lambs Sold to Yakima.

Stock Inspector Bean went to Milton this morning to inspect 2000 lambs about to be shipped for feeding into the Yakima country. They were sold by Johnson & Pierson to John McKilvey, of Wallula, and will be wintered on the ranges of the Yakima, not being intended for full feeding this winter. All these sheep are one-half Lincoln bred to grade Merinos.

Washington Sheep Exodus.

The movement back into Washington of sheep brought upon our mountain ranges last spring has begun. Thirty-seven thousand four hundred sheep from Washington were listed for taxation in this county last spring and of course paid the same rate as the home product. In addition to this number many more thousand Washington sheep are being driven through this county from Wallawa and Union counties.

Gone to Wallawa.

George Welty and wife have gone to Wallawa county for the winter, after a visit with Milton Welty, who lives west of Pilot Rock, and with Oscar Welty, of this place. George Welty is a machinist who came into this country during July from Pueblo, Col. On his physician's advice he has quit indoor work altogether and will follow farming.

THRESHER BURNED

THIRD MACHINE DESTROYED ON THE LEE BEAM FARM.

Joe Snyder Loses New Machine From Smut Explosion, Just as He is Finishing Up for the Season—Lee Beam Insured the Separator for $500 Before Mr. Snyder Would Attempt to Thresh the Smutty Wheat.

Last Saturday, late in the afternoon, Joseph Snyder's separator was burned in the field on Lee Beam's farm, 14 miles west of town. Mr. Snyder that day had moved the machine to the last setting on the place, and into almost exactly the spot whereon the Elders' separator was burned some time ago, and but a short distance from the spot where the Robertson separator was also burned a short time after the Elder fire, and also on the same place.

Mr. Snyder had about 25 sacks more to thresh for Mr. Beam and the Beam contract was the last of the season. He was a few moments before the fire broke out, congratulating himself to one of his men that he had a machine that would handle smutty wheat without firing. The wheat was very smutty and Mr. Snyder had refused to thresh it until Mr. Beam had paid for having the separator insured. This Mr. Beam had agreed to, and the machine was carrying $500 insurance.

The phenomena attending the breaking out of the fire was exactly that noticed at the inception of all the smut fires: Without the slightest intimation of anything wrong there was a sudden smothered "chug" and the flames broke from the central mechanism of the machine and in an instant it was ablaze from end to end. Not even a belt was saved. No grain was burned, or other property than the separator and its attachments.

This was the machine's second season, but last summer it was completely overhauled and put into as good shape as though entirely new.

AGENCY AFFAIRS.

Building Will Be Moved and New Ones Erected.

It is stated as probable that the office building, two cottages and the barn at the Agency will be moved to the school, and that later a cottage for a residence for the superintendent will be built there; also a new barn will be built at the agency.

The coming year the full section surrounding the government school buildings will be farmed. This includes about 140 acres of brush lands which will be pastured. The remaining 500 acres will be cropped, but what division will be made of it between products has not yet been determined.
