

AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Indorses Manual Training.
The introduction of manual training into the public schools will be a most important factor in bringing back refractory truants, said O. L. Whitecomb, who has charge of the courses in manual training and domestic arts in the city schools. "In the larger cities it has been proven that this phase of instruction has done a great deal toward making school a place of interest to the wide-awake boy, who is more for getting out with nature and things than he does for the monotonous book drill."
Friday closed the first week's work in manual training and domestic arts, and found 655 children of the seventh and eighth grades enrolled for the work. When the board ordered the introduction of a course in manual training the pupils had the option of taking the work if they wanted it, and no compulsion was put upon them, but thus far not a single pupil, either among the boys or girls, has asked to be excused from the work. Rather than that, high school students have asked permission to take the manual training course, which is to be held on Friday the first boy from the high school was admitted into the manual training classes, with the prospect of others following.—Stockman-Review.

A "scold" Fined.
Mrs. M. Stevenson, defendant in the famous "common scold" case of Alderwood park, which was tried in court two weeks ago—decision being reserved—was found guilty by Justice Hinkle last evening. Her fine was fixed at $5 and costs.
In administering punishment to Mrs. Stevenson, who was in court last evening, Justice Hinkle said: "You have had trouble with all your neighbors. It has been proven that you have used profane language and that you are guilty of acts of violence."
"You have been guilty of this offense in the other neighborhoods in which you have lived and—
"That isn't so, judge."
"I'm talking now. You must attend to your own affairs and let the people alone."—Spokane Press.

Redmen Speak Glibly.
For the Redmen's dance, which is to be given on Wednesday evening, the program committee of the order will issue invitations in Chinook Indian phraseology. The recipients of the invitations will have to guess as best they can what they mean. Only the date and the place, the Odd Fellows' temple, are printed in English. The invitation reads:

"Walla Walla Tribe, No. 22, I. O. R. M., wa-wa mika pe clochman chaco to-to-ah wit, kopa Odd Fellows' Temple, Wednesday, ten-as po-lak-le, quin-num sun, Two-19 moon, G. S. D. tab-tle-lum ta-ka mo-nuk kwat-let ko-mo-nuk pe lock-it."
Which is, being interpreted:
"Walla Walla Tribe, No. 22, Improved Order of Redmen invites yourself and ladies to attend a dance at Odd Fellows' temple, Wednesday evening, October 5, 1904. Admission: Gentlemen, 50 cents; ladies, 25 cents."
Members of the Redmen themselves will not receive invitations, but are expected to attend without. About 200 of the friends of the order will be invited.—Walla Walla Union.

Will Inspect Horses.
United States Stock Inspector Dr. E. S. Roberts returned yesterday from Culeduc where he completed the inspection of 2650 sheep that were shipped yesterday for the Chicago market. The sheep were sold by Canyon Brothers to a Chicago company and were in excellent condition for the market.
Dr. Roberts states that the work of his office is increasing rapidly and that within a short time it is expected the department will commence the inspection of horses. The inspectors are now under instructions to inspect all cattle and sheep and by adding the inspection of horses and hogs the work of the inspectors will be nearly doubled.—Lewiston Tribune.

Lewiston School Increase.
The first month of the Lewiston public schools closed Friday with an attendance of 891 as against 725 at the close of the first month last year. This shows an increase of 12 per cent and it is believed that the enrollment this year will easily pass the 1000 mark. The first month of the school has been most successful and every department is doing excellent work.—Lewiston Tribune.

IMMENSE PASTURE INCLOSED.
Horseman Brothers of Gardane, Have 6400 Acres Under Fence.

Horseman Brothers of Gardane, have just finished seeding 75 acres of winter wheat for hay. They will next spring sow from 50 to 75 acres of oats and barley for hay. They are entirely "out of all conceit" with the hay, claiming that it does not have over one-half the nutritive qualities of either wheat, oats or barley. If indeed, it has as much. It is simply "fillin'" but nothing more.
The Horsemans now have 4000 acres of pasture under fence, since the seven miles of fencing which they began last spring was finished. They have all but about one-half mile of fencing completed for an addition 2,500 acres, and thus will have, when that one-half mile is finished, 6400 acres of pasture under fence.
The recent rains in the Gardane country wet the ground to an average depth of five inches over a large territory, and put the fall pasturage in fine condition. The rain was not followed by frost, and the grass came through at once in regular spring style.
G. W. Horseman is building a large addition to his barn, and Al Horseman is building a six-room residence.

HORSES SICKEN IN TRANSIT.
Shipment of Myron Briggs to Alberta Delayed En Route.

Two of the fine horses with which Myron Briggs started for the Alberta country, were taken sick en route. The termination of their illness has not been learned by their friends here. One of the horses—the three-fourths Clyde stallion—had to be taken from the train and put under the care of a veterinarian before the end of the journey was reached. The other sick horse was one of the best brood mares. She was taken on to the final destination.
Nait Tattinger, who is largely interested in the "horses to Alberta" proposition, declares that it is a mistake to take horses through from here in the fall, and that care must be taken at any time of the year to acclimate them. After all is said to the contrary, the fact remains that that country has a much more severe any trying climate than this. In that the winters are much colder there is much more snow, and a long season of sloppy, chilly, pneumonia-al weather every spring.
It is understood that Nelson and Briggs have made some extra preparations, such as stabling and wind-breaks and profuse food supply, for the care of their horses this winter.
