LEE'S REMAINS BACK TO OREGON

METHODISTS WILL RE-INTER ASHES OF JASON LEE.

Pioneer Missionary Who Started First Missionary Work in Oregon to Be Brought Back and Buried in His Wife in Salem Cemetery—Is Now Resting at His Boyhood's Home in Canada.

The conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held at Eugene City, among a number of other things of a great deal of importance, has decided on a step that should have been taken a great many years ago in justice to a great man, and one whose labors made possible much of the greatness of not only the Methodist church in this state, but of all that great territory at one time known as the Oregon Territory, but now comprising all of the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and part of Montana, says the Salem Statesman.

This refers to the bringing of the remains of the late Rev. Jason Lee to Oregon and depositing them in the lot beside those of his wife and child, in Lee Mission cemetery, in the eastern part of this city.

This matter should have been attended to long ere this, but the money necessary for the removal was not so readily forthcoming. Now it is said that the funds are supplied, although the name of the donor of the amount necessary is not known.

A committee from the Oregon conference, consisting of A. M. Smith, president of the board of trustees of Willamette university, Rev. Dr. Coleman, president of the university, and a like committee from the Columbia River conference, consisting of Mrs. Smith French and G. M. Booth of The Dalles, will meet at the Imperial hotel today to perfect arrangements for carrying out the proposal.

Rev. Jason Lee was the first Protestant missionary to come to the Oregon country, and the first mission was established on what is now the Oliver Beers place on Mission Bottom, to the north of this city, which was established there in 1834. Ten years later the mission was removed to this city, then just being established.

Rev. Jason Lee was accompanied in his earlier work by his cousin, Daniel Lee.

These yet remains but the matters of detail as the family of the late missionary have consented to the removal.

The summer of 1844 Jason Lee spent in Washington City, giving much information to all inquirers concerning Oregon. He was taken sick, however, and returning to his former home at Stanstead, Canada, he died March 12, 1845, in the room in which he was born. His remains thus were buried at that place.

Jason Lee's daughter by his second wife, Lucy Ann Lee, was for many years a teacher in the Willamette university and later married F. H. Grubbe who survives her and is now living in Portland.

The grave in which lie the remains of Ann Maria Pittman, first wife of Jason Lee, and beside whom the remains of this great missionary will be laid, is in a small enclosure in the Lee Mission cemetery in the eastern part of the city, dedicated to the burial of the more prominent missionaries and their wives.

WARDE AND KIDDER.

"Salamambo" to Be Played by Stars at Frazer October 10.

Few plays in recent years have caused the enthusiastic comment that has been accorded Frenchais and Kemper's gorgeous dramatic spectacle, "Salamambo," which will be presented on Monday night, October 10, by Frederick Warde and Kathryn Kidder.

The plot of the play is a story of ancient Carthage once the most powerful and wealthy city in the world. The central characters are Matho, a barbarian chieftain, which will be assumed by Mr. Warde, and Salamambo, a priestess of one of the Pagan temples, which will be played by Miss Kidder.

The production has been acknowledged on all sides as one of the most alluring and magnificent stage spectacles presented in many years and excels anything heretofore attempted by the well known firm of Wegenhals and Kemper.

MAKES WORK EASIER.

Pendleton People Are Pleased to Learn How It Is Done. It's pretty hard to attend to duties with a constantly aching back; with annoying urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills make Work easier. They cure backache. They cure every kidney ill. J. W. Horn, stone mason, living on Webb street, near Lillieth street, says: "Reading an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills led me to procure a box at Brook & McComas Co.'s store. Some three years ago I strained my back lifting, and ever since then any extra work, lifting, or cold which settled in my back affected the kidneys. I tried a great many different remedies but obtained little if any benefit from them. The first dose of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me. I used in all three boxes and they cured me. I shall always recommend this remedy to others as I know it can be depended upon."
