RUSSIANS HAD NOT HEARD OF WAR

RECRUITS OF THE ARMY ARE TOTALLY IGNORANT.

Poor Peasants Torn Away From Their Families, Expect to Visit Japan and Get Rich on Loot—Women and Children Better Off Without the Man as it Will Be One Less to Feed and More Work for the Women in the Absence of the Men.

London, Oct. 5.—In an interview with an American officer who has just returned from a long tour through the mobilization depots of Eastern Russia proper, a London paper prints some interesting particulars of the conditions of affairs there.

The trip led the party to a district of Russia that the outside world knows little about—that wonderful country east of the Nijni Novgorod. Everywhere the party went there were troops arriving with supplies or reserves coming up, and this was particularly the case around the towns of Kazan and Samara.

Outside such centers the ignorance of the peasantry was the most remarkable feature. When the author-ities would visit the villages to lift the able bodied men toward the depots the men did not know where they were going.

When they learned of the war they hadn't the slightest knowledge of the actual condition, and were usually delighted with the prospect. They would say, "Japan is a rich country, and we will return with much loot." At Samara, which is the last place of importance in European Russia for the mobilization of the troops, many pathetic sights were noticeable.

Women would march for miles with the squads to say farewell to their husbands and relatives, and when a Russian officer was asked what those poor women who were tramping homeward with their children were going to do now that their bread-winners were taken from them, the officer replied cheerfully, "They're much better off now. Their communities will look after them if necessary, but there probably will be no need of that, because there will be plenty of work for them now that the men have gone. Besides, there will not be so much to provide, now that the biggest appetite has been taken away."

The travelers came to the conclusion that the prevailing opinion of the provincial Russians was that the war has not yet really begun, but that when it does begin Russia must win.

DYNAMITE FIENDS.

Charge of Explosive Placed Under Lane County Farmer's Barn.

The barn on the place of T. J. Brackett, about four miles below Eugene, near the river road, was badly wrecked by a charge of dynamite or other explosive Sunday morning about 1 o'clock, says the Salem Journal.

The charge was placed under a hayrack in a shed adjoining the barn, and the vehicle and shed were literally blown to pieces. The barn was pretty badly demolished also, but not completely. There is no clue to the perpetrators of this dastardly deed. The officers are now working on the case.

The detonation of the explosive was terrific. It was heard by many people in Eugene, and everywhere through it was in the city. The police officers were almost certain that some one was being blown up, but after examining all the best buildings and looking around for an hour or two, could find nothing.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed source for sweet turns or pills, Otto Hall, of Poudre, Me. writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Macken's Arctic Salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at Tallman & Co's drug store."

THE JOURNAL PAYS.

Dubious Task of Starting Portland Daily Has Been Successful.

The Salem Journal, in speaking of the great success of the Oregon Daily Journal of Portland, says:

"That dubious enterprise of establishing another high-class daily paper at Portland, seems to have succeeded. It is said the Portland Journal daily is now on a paying basis, but the Sunday paper is still a bill of expense to the company."

"Portland is one of the modern municipalities with a full-fledged New York Journal style of a newspaper."

"How yellow journalism all you want to, such a paper as the Portland Journal does advertise a town."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is, catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the conclusion, and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. TO SUPPRESS IMMORALITY.

Weston Citizens Ask for Removal of Bawdy House Near City Limits.

From the mayor and council of Weston and several farmers residing near that village, comes a remonstrance against the actions of a certain Nancy Jane Smith, who, it is alleged, is conducting a house of questionable character, just outside the city limits. Acting upon the request of the Weston officials and adjoining residents, Deputy District Attorney H. E. Collier, this morning filed an information against the woman, charging her with conducting a bawdy house.

The friction existing against the Smith woman and the city of Weston is of several months' duration. She first opened up a resort in town. She was arrested and fined by the justice of the peace. Her defense was that she was conducting a laundry.

The latest move on the part of Nancy Jane Smith was to rent a small house, east of Weston, just outside the town, but the city fathers declare she cannot remain even there, and have called upon the county officials to help preserve the peace and dignity of the community.

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I had been suffering with a wasting disease. Judge our doctor's surprise when I showed him thirty-four pills and in another day the remaining pills about the same length of a tape worm that had been sapping my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I repeat this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers." Case, Blackstock, 1212 Division Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.
