FUEL WOOD CHEAPER

OVERABUNDANCE OF WOOD STACKED IN MOUNTAINS.

Pendleton Uses Two Brands of Coal Almost Exclusively—Not Believed That Heppner Coal Will Be a Competitor of Other Fuels Here While It Must Be Hauled in Wagons to the Railroad for Shipment.

Fuel wood is cheaper in Pendleton this fall than it has been for several seasons. This statement is based on the authority of Henry Laatz, of the firm of Laatz Bros., one of the largest coal and wood dealers in this city. The reason assigned is that great quantities of fuel have been cut during the past year, and an overabundance of fuel is stacked in the mountains awaiting shipment and a market.

Ordinary fire wood is retailing at the present time from $6 to $6.50 per ton. Rock Springs coal sells at $8.50 and Roslyn at $7. These two brands of coal are about the only ones used in endleton.

Laatz declares that Eastern Oregon coal deposits are not affecting the coal market. "There is a great deal of talk about the Heppner coal fields," he said, "but I think it is mostly hot air. I do not think with the present transportation facilities that coal mining in this section of the state will prove profitable."

"I understand that coal is being hauled into Heppner from the mines in wagons, but that is rather a cumbersome and expensive mode of transporting fuel. There is too much wood nowadays close at hand for people to care about using coal that has to be hauled in wagons for a score of miles. Roslyn and Rock Springs are nearer to hand when we take into consideration that the fuel from these mines can be loaded into cars where it is taken out of the ground."

RIGHT OF WAY QUARREL.

Arlington Demands $3000 of the O. R. & N. Railway Co.

The city of Arlington stands in a peculiar position, according to the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, because of its demand that the railway pay $3,000 for the privilege of running its tracks through the town, building a subway or flying over the village, to connect its branch with the main line.

The railway people declare they will build over the bluff near Arlington before they will pay $3000, and those who are familiar with the country say there is no place for the construction of the tracks other than through the town.

Dan P. Smythe, a local attorney, returned this morning for a trip to Arlington. "The Arlington councilmen are evidently acting for the welfare of their town, for there is but little doubt but that the Condon branch will be the death of the place, and they might as well get all they can out of the deal. The railroad declares that Arlington is the first town in the history of the O. R. & N. that has demanded remuneration from the company because of the construction of a road through it."

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, jaundice, fever, constipation all yield to this perfect pill. 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

Southern Wisconsin Teachers.

Baraboo, Wis., Nov. 4.—Several hundred teachers are here for the annual meeting of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' Association, which began a two days' session today. The principal topics to be considered by the general association are the importance of manual training in the modern school, teachers' wages, the betterment of the rural school and the Batavia plan of individual instruction. The prominent educators taking part include Superintendent E. G. Cooley of Chicago, A. H. Sage of Oshkosh, and Superintendent C. G. Pearce of Milwaukee.

While there is life there is hope. I was afflicted with catarrh; could neither taste nor smell and could hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus G. Shautz, Rahway, N. J.

Cream Balm reached me safely and the effect is surprising. My son says the last application gave decided relief. Respectfully, Mrs. Franklin Freeman, Dover, N. H.

BABIES ON FIRE

With Itching, Burning, Scaly Humors of the Skin

Instantly Relieved by Baths with Cuticura Soap

And Gentle Applications of Cuticura Ointment.

Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies, and rest for tired, fretted mothers, in warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, and parent of emollients, to be followed in severe cases by mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent.

"My niece's little baby boy, two years old, was so badly afflicted with eczema that he needed constant watching. It was all over his face and he scratched the sores constantly. Mornings his clothes would be stained with blood, and his face and hands would be covered. His family never could take him out, as his face was always full of large sores. They had medical treatment, and tried everything they heard of. She commenced using the Cuticura Remedies last spring and found that at last she had a wonderful healer. The sores left his face and he was entirely cured, and now his face is as smooth and rosy as though no sore had ever been there to mar it."

Mrs. L. J. ROOT, JERUSALEM, N. Y. Feb. 12, 1898.

On March 7, 1903, five years later, Mrs. Root writes: "I received your note of kind inquiry and am pleased to inform you of the permanent cure of my little boy. He is now a healthy child with pink and white skin free from all blemish. It has been a marvellous cure and brought about in a short time after all other medical aid failed."

VALUABLE INDIAN CURIOS.

Former Indian Agent Charles Wilkins Owns a Splendid Collection.

One of the most valuable and unique collections of Indian curios from all the tribes from Mexico to Canada, along the Pacific coast is owned by Charles Wilkins, of this city, former agent on the Umatilla reservation.

For the past 15 years Mr. Wilkins has been studiously engaged in collecting unique and rare specimens of Indian art and his priceless collection of Indian baskets represents the workmanship of nearly every tribe from Southern California and New Mexico to Alaska.

Some of the baskets, especially those made by the Killekitans and Yakimas, are the most perfect specimens of that art in existence. They are made from the wood of young willow and are so closely woven and made in such durable manner that the Indians used them as cooking utensils, and before the modern kettles and pans came into use they boiled their salmon and venison in these indestructible baskets.

The baskets and bead work of the different tribes show the different degrees of the Indians' ideas of art, each tribe using different figures and designs to decorate with.

Mr. Wilkins' collection of arrow heads comprises several thousand specimens of every imaginable shape, size and color. Ancient Indian dresses decorated with brass beads supposed to have been brought to the coast by Lewis and Clark, bows and arrows of the most formidable type, knives, ornaments, matings and other unique relics of Indian life and art, go to form one of the most rare and costly collections to be found in the Northwest.

Mr. Wilkins has made a specialty of securing rare articles, and many of the curious in his collection cannot be duplicated, as the Indians do not make such baskets and gaudy garments now, since modern art has supplanted them with all they need.

Around many of the articles in the collection is woven some of the most thrilling stories of the local history of the Umatilla Indians.
