RELIGION REVIVAL

of the Holy Ghost in the hearts of men.

Revivals are needed because of the tendency to degeneration in men, in organizations and in churches. They had a distinct meaning for sinners, for the church as a whole and for individual Christians.

A Pentecostal revival was the greatest need of the church. With it, sinners would be attracted and convicted of sin without direct preaching to them, and if they truly repent this conviction would lead to genuine heart conversion.

For the church it meant a quickening of its four-fold life. It would settle disputes of doctrine and prevent schism. It would solve financial problems and would quicken church fellowship and create a new social life. And best of all, it would institute a life of prayer for each individual.

Dr. Smith believed in a church that was in a state of constant revival. He had himself been converted in a church where they had had a continuous revival for 15 years. There was no room there for feuds, feasts and social functions. Conversions were seen at every prayer meeting, and on Sunday nights when the young people adjourned their meeting to the preaching service, they took with them from one to 10 new converts.

Nothing less than a Pentecostal quickening would make a united, happy, symmetrical church.

For the individual the Pentecost meant much. It gave him complete and constant victory over sin. Many have victory over most sins all the time, others have victory over all sins some of the time, but a Pentecostal revival in the individual meant victory over all sin all the time. It meant the complete salvation of the soul; a fulness of liberty in Christian life and service.

And this Pentecost must be paid for. Those who want it must give concentrated effort—must wait on God in earnest, united prayer for that one thing.

The meeting closed with a short consecration service in which a large number took part.

Dr. Smith is to preach every afternoon and evening for the next 10 days. The afternoon services at 2:30, will be for Christians of all denominations, where "no nicknames" will be used. The evening meetings are to commence at 7:30 and are for all who care to go.

The attendance last night left hardly a vacant seat and by Sunday it will be the early comers who secure seats. Dr. Smith is an eloquent divine whose exceptionally wide experience and depth of thought make him an interesting and instructive speaker.

Dr. Joseph H. Smith, D. D., gave his first sermon at the Street M. E. church last night to an audience that filled the sanctuary. Dr. Smith is noted among the people as a Pentecostal revivalist and in his opening service he asked and answered the question "What does it mean?"

At his text the 12th verse of the Acts of the Apostles, "What meaneth this?" he said that revivals were being held, but that the Old Testament had been fulfilled with them. The time of Ezra's time was a law. The revival led by him was a revival of religion. The revival at Pentecost was a complete revival of the church and of the fulness

DO YOU HAVE YOUR LUNGS?

BEWARE OF CONSUMPTION?

Make it into consideration that one out of every seven dies of consumption, is it not feared by the million who have weak lungs, colds and coughs?"

of the Brock & McLeod local druggists, to an expert.

London physician has cured his patients, when they were unable to consume anything, by all the cod liver oil, and his systems, and physicians have recognized its value, colds, bronchitis, and all wasting diseases, few could take it, but benefit from its use, the indigestible grease.

Mr. Brock, "I was in Pendleton to see of our new cod liver oil, Vinol. It actually concentrated form all the elements of cod liver oil, without a drop of oil or fat in the stomach and wherever old-fashioned emulsions will do far more good. Vinol will improve the digestion, make you create strength, cure colds and strengthen you from people who are up to die in consumption. Among others is the late Mrs. I. G. Brown of was on the verge of consumption. Our doctor said she could not take any more. She was so weak we gave her half a teaspoonful at a time, this being the dose she could take into her stomach. After several bottles, our doctor said she was now as healthy as ever. We hope other dear ones who are suffering from consumption, to express our appreciation, Vinol."

EX-MAYOR TO HANG

CONVICTED OF MURDER OF HIS WIFE LAST FALL.

Jealousy on the Part of the Wife Was the Source of Much Quarreling and is Believed to Have Resulted in Murder—The Woman Had Been Shot and Beaten—The Husband a Lawyer and Prominent Physician.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 20.—Jan. Samuel McCue, a former mayor of Charlottesville, was hanged in the county jail here today for the murder of his wife. The execution attracted more public attention than any previous hanging in this section of the state.

The crime for which the ex-mayor paid the death penalty occurred on the night of September 4 of last year. Mr. and Mrs. McCue had gone to church, returning home about 9 p. m. Shortly afterward Mrs. McCue's dead body, clad in a night robe, was found in a bath tub filled with water. Mr. McCue told those who came in that some one had entered the house upon their return from church; that he had been knocked senseless and his wife probably killed. An investigation led to the arrest on the charge of murder of the man who only four days before had retired from the highest office in the city.

Mrs. McCue had received the contents of a shotgun in her breast, a sufficient wound to cause instant death, but in addition she had been struck a heavy blow on the head, cutting an ear nearly in two.

Mr. McCue at first laid the crime to a stable boy, and offered $1000 reward for evidence to convict the murderer. The day after he offered the reward he was himself arrested for the crime. At the trial which followed several witnesses testified that the married life of Mr. and Mrs. McCue had been marred by jealousy on the part of the wife, and that they were continually quarreling. One sad feature of the trial was the fact that McCue had for years been a lawyer at the bar before which he was tried and convicted, and had been on friendly terms with most of those identified with the trial.

DISCUSS INSURANCE TOPICS.

Nebraska Mutual Companies Are Confering.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 20.—The Nebraska Association of Mutual Insurance Companies, in tenth annual session here, today listened to papers and addresses as follows:

"The Adjustment of Stock Losses," John Emanuel, North Bend, Neb.; "The Adjustment of Farm Losses," S. J. Plymester, secretary Pierce County Farmers' Mutual Insurance company; "How Can We Best Promote the Cause of Mutual Insurance in Nebraska?" P. J. Hallberg, president Scandinavian Mutual Fire Insurance company; "The Advantage of Chemical Fire Extinguishers on the Farm," James Platt, president Sterling Farm Mutual Insurance company; "Would a Fire Marshal Law be Advantageous to Mutual Insurance Companies in Nebraska?" J. D. Garmire, state agent, Trans-Mississippi Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

Bristow Quits Office.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—Employees of the postoffice department gave many evidences of regret at the departure of Joseph L. Bristow, who today relinquished his duties as fourth assistant postmaster general. After a brief vacation Mr. Bristow will enter upon his new duties as special commissioner to make an investigation into the trade conditions and freight rates between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and between the west coast of South America and the east coast of the United States and Europe, to determine the best policy of managing the Panama railroad.

A Grim Tragedy.

is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as death claims, in each one, another victim of consumption or pneumonia. But when coughs and colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oklahoma, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by Tallman & Co., druggists. Trial bottle free.

Italians Pay Death Penalty.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 20.—Antonio Graconi, an Italian, was hanged in the district of St. Francis today for the murder of Theodore Duval last August. The murder of Duval was the result of a barroom quarrel. On August 29 the two men and a number of others who had been drinking heavily were in a barroom on Notre Dame street when a quarrel arose and Graconi, who claimed he was threatened by Duval, pulled a revolver and shot Duval, who died soon afterward.

Spotted Her Beauty.

Harriett Howard, at one time had her beauty spotted with skin trouble. She writes: "I had Salt Rheum or Eczema for years, but nothing would cure it, until I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve." A quick and sure healer for cuts, burns and sores. 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.
