MANY UNEMPLOYED

FARM HANDS AND MILL WORKERS IN MAJORITY.

Unemployed Railroaders and Miners as a Rule Make Their Headquarters at Portland—The Opening of Spring Will Open the Labor Market by Affording Employment—Supply and Demand for Female Help Are About Even.

This is the time of the year that the unemployed laborers are most numerous. A visit to a local employment office this morning elicited the fact that there is now a large number of workmen here waiting for something to turn up. Most of these men, according to the employment men, are farm hands and mill workers. But few railroad or mining workmen congregate here in the winter, as they prefer to make their headquarters in Portland.

When the lambing season commences in March, many who are now idle will be able to secure employment in the sheep camps, should they desire such work. Also, about that time considerable farming work will have commenced, and there will then be little trouble for all to find work.

With female help the employment agencies find the situation quite different, as there the supply is unequal to the demand. This is especially true of housekeeping positions, for which there seems to be an aversion. However, there is no difficulty in finding girls to accept positions as waitresses and chambermaids.

OREGON PIONEER DEAD.

David Smith, father of Mrs. George Peebler, died yesterday at Tallman, Linn County.

David Smith, father of Mrs. George Peebler of this city, died yesterday at Tallman, Linn county, of Bright's disease, aged 79.

Mrs. Peebler and her son, David A. Peebler, left last evening on the delayed train for Tallman to attend the funeral. They will be joined in Portland by Mr. Peebler, who is serving on the federal grand jury.

Mr. Smith came from Iowa to Oregon in 1851, and has resided in the state ever since. He has visited his daughter and her family in this city a number of times and has many acquaintances in Pendleton. He has been suffering with Bright's disease for the past eight years.

RADER LEASES UPPER STORY.

Second Floor New Matlock Building Has a Tenant.

Yesterday afternoon papers were signed by the owners of the Brownfield-Matlock building and M. A. Rader for the leasing of the upper story of that building. The second floor is now in an unfinished state, and it is provided in the lease that it shall be completed by March 1. It will be made into one large room, which will be used by Mr. Rader as a furniture salesroom.

By securing this room Mr. Rader will greatly enlarge his floor space, and better enable him to display his stock. The frame workshop behind the main store will also be torn down and replaced by one of brick within a short time.

Special Service Tonight.

At 7:30 this evening a special service of interest to all school children will be held at the M. E. church, when parents and their children are both urged to be present. At the service last evening there was a good attendance and much interest manifested. Saturday is set aside as a day of fasting and prayer for the salvation of souls during the revival services now being held in Pendleton and elsewhere. On Sunday afternoon a special children's mass meeting is to be held at the M. E. church.

Returned From the East.

E. J. Muir, a reservation farmer, returned last night from an extended trip through the Middle states, where he has been in company with his wife. Most of his time has been spent at his old home in Bloomington, Ill. He reports that the weather in the Middle states is extremely cold, with much snow, and greatly in contrast to what he found on his return to Pendleton. Mrs. Muir will not return until March.

Steam Fitters at Work.

Steam fitters are employed today installing the heating plant in the Schmidt building, and in a few days the stoves at present in use will be removed. Sullivan & Bond are now fully located in their new quarters, and the Great Eastern store will commence moving next week.

STOCK INSPECTION

JAMES HACKETT PROPOSES AN UP-TO-DATE LAW.

Would Provide an Office and Prescribed Set of Books for the Inspector, in Which Should Be Duties Performed by the Inspector, the Number of Each Class of Stock, by Age—It Would Prevent the Present Conditions in Livestock Counties.

While James Hackett is not a member of the legislature, not even of the third house, he has proposed a law regulating the inspection of stock and providing for the duties of that office, which is worthy of the earnest consideration of the legislature.

Mr. Hackett proposes to make the stock inspector's office one of the departments of the stock counties, just as the clerks, surveyors or treasurers, having an office and a set of books, in which would be kept an actual account and classification of every hoof of stock in the county, showing the various classes by age, every year, the number of each class shipped out, the number produced, the number held over each winter and other vital facts concerning the livestock industry in the stock counties.

As the production of livestock is one of the leading and vital industries of the state, he believes it should be treated as such and given a place in the county government, as other branches.

By keeping an office of this kind with these statistics and features available to the public, it would be an easy matter for any one desiring authentic information on the subject to secure it, the health of stock would be insured as an active, efficient man could be elected by the people, and paid a fair salary. In the hop growing counties there are public hop inspectors, whose duties are specified by special codes, in the different states, and in many of the stock growing states the livestock inspector maintains an up-to-date office.

Under the present system of livestock inspection, there is no regularity or organization, each inspector being a law unto himself with the result that stock diseases are prevalent in the midst of the best stock districts in the state, and there are no statistics nor other information available, in half the stock counties.

DIVES MAY CONTINUE.

Mayor Williams Permits of Violations of Portland's City Charter.

Backed by the republican machine, the city council, with the assistance of Mayor George H. Williams, has defeated the resolution of Councilman A. F. Fogel and H. R. Albee to revoke the licenses of 23 combination houses which are illegally conducted in the red light district north of Burnside street, says the Oregon Daily Journal. A substitute resolution presented by Councilman Rumeln to instruct Chief of Police Hunt to enforce the laws was carried.

When the question came to a vote the count stood five to five, in the hands of Mayor Williams rested the fate of the dives and dance halls. Without any hesitation whatever, he voted to allow them to run.

The 23 places under consideration are the worst dives in the city. They are the trysting places of criminals and their female consorts, who inveigle men into the dens, where they are drugged, robbed and beaten. They are allowed to run because from them the machine gets much of its support, and the council voted to license vice and crime of the lowest and most degraded type in direct violation of the city ordinances.

NEW TRAINMASTER.

O. R. & N. Company Installs New Official on the Washington Division.

William Connolly, formerly air brake inspector of the Oregon division of the O. R. & N., has been transferred to Spokane, where he is now trainmaster of the Washington division of the O. R. & N., his territory extending from Spokane to Umatilla.

He holds the same position on the Washington division held by Thomas Walsh on the mountain division, that of superintending the train crews and the employment and discharge of men in the train service. Mr. Connolly is a pioneer conductor and is an efficient railroad man. The O. R. & N. system is more thoroughly organized in all its departments than ever before.

BELLINGER WILL SERVE TIME.

Returned by Judge Bellinger to Umatilla County Jail.

Last night Deputy U. S. Marshal J. A. Wilson arrived from Portland with Charles Bellinger in charge, who on January 26 was sentenced to serve 60 days in the Umatilla county jail or pay a fine of $100, for selling liquor to Indians. Bellinger is a laborer and was arrested here a month or two ago for his offense. His trial was before Federal Judge Bellinger in Portland.

MRS. RAGSDILL DEAD.

Pioneer of Freewater Passed Away, Aged 74.

Freewater, Feb. 3.—At an early hour yesterday morning Mrs. Phoebe Isabel Ragsdill died at her home near this place. The body was taken to Walla Walla in the afternoon, and the funeral will be held from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Taylor of that city.

Deceased was 74 years old at her death and had been a resident of Freewater for the past 14 years, during which time she earned the respect of all who knew her. She was a native of Green county, Tenn. She is survived by her husband, three sons and two daughters.

MRS. MYRICK DEAD.

Pioneer of Umatilla County Passes at Age of 73.

This morning at 7:30 Mrs. Olive J. Myrick, one of the oldest pioneer women of the county, died at her home in Helix, of Bright's disease. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the Christian church at Helix, Rev. Simons officiating, and the interment will be in the Helix cemetery.

Deceased was 73 years of age at the time of her death and is survived by five children, John, James, Frank and Perry Myrick, and Mrs. Andrew Stamper, all of whom reside at or near Helix. It was for Mr. Myrick, who has now been dead for several years, that Myrick station was named.

Saved a Boy's Life.

Edward Leonard of Dayton, is said to have performed a rather remarkable and altogether very brave act in seizing the bits of a runaway team of horses on the streets of Walla Walla yesterday, and by that means saving the life of a young boy who was being dragged by the team. Mr. Leonard was dragged some distance by the team, and repeatedly nearly thrown under their hoofs. Mr. Leonard is the manager of the Preston flouring mills at Dayton.

Baseball in High School.

Whenever the weather will permit them to play, the baseball boys of the high school have a practice game, so as to be in training when the season opens in the spring. It is the hope of the boys to have a successful baseball team as well as a track team. Some of the most enthusiastic ball players are Will Penland, captain; George Strand, Clarence Bollerman, Carl Leonard, Hoover, Fred Anderson and Newton Johnson.

Dr. Blakeslee's Family Coming.

Dr. Lynn K. Blakeslee, who purchased the John Schroeder property on Lewis street for $5000, is preparing to move his family from Los Angeles to this city, as soon as his son and daughter finish the high school course in that city. He will improve the property and make an elegant home of it. His son will take up the study of civil engineering as soon as he completes the high school course.

Putting in Call Boxes.

Tim Donovan, lineman of the O. R. & N. and Western Union, is in the city from La Grande putting in place a large number of new call boxes for the A. D. T. messenger service. It costs the user nothing to have the box installed, and the company will put in boxes where there is a prospect of but two calls a month. Many homes and nearly every business house in the city are now supplied and the service will be further extended.

Will Resume Irrigon Meetings.

Rev. Lovell left for Irrigon on No. ings which were first begun several weeks ago, then dropped on account of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Lovell's little child. Altogether nearly three weeks' meetings have been held, and the people of Irrigon request Mr. Lovell to continue the work.

Largely Increased Business.

The business of the messenger service of the Western Union in this city for January, was over 200 per cent greater than in January a year ago. Nearly every business house in the city is now contemplating using the messenger service altogether instead of private delivery.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following warranty deed was recorded today in the office of the county recorder: Joel Halstead and wife to Cloyd Oliver for lots 7 and 8 in block 3, Halsted's addition to the town of Echo. Consideration $120.

Moving Here From Echo.

The family of A. W. Robinson, manager of the Oregon Lumber company of this city, arrived from Echo last evening, and will reside permanently here. Mr. Robinson has rented the Bell residence on the north side of the river.

Moved From Echo.

A. W. Robinson, the manager of the new Wind River Lumber company, for the Oregon Lumber company, has moved his family here from Echo, and will reside at 708 Raleigh street.
