PERSONAL MENTION

Charles E. Bond is ill and not able to be at work today.
 Miss Ethel Lieuallen, of Adams, is visiting friends in the city.
 H. Malstrom is here and registered at the Bowman from Hot Lake.
 William Mills, a farmer from the Juniper country, is here for a few days.
 Mrs. Fred Crawford, who has been ill for several weeks past, is now well again.
 Charles McAlavy, one of the directors of the new bank at Helix, was here yesterday.
 W. C. Minnis, the well known wood dealer who has been confined to his home with the grip, is recovering.
 C. F. Holdman, a prominent farmer from the Holdman neighborhood, was a visitor in the city yesterday.
 S. A. Barnes, mayor of Weston, and agent for the Pacific Coast Elevator company at that place, is here today.
 Mark E. Wilson, employed in the Troutman architect office, is now in Portland for a few weeks' visit at his home.
 Misses Stella and Ethel Lieuallen and Miss Bertha Otterstedt, all of Adams, were here last evening to attend the play and returned home this morning.
 George D. Goodhue, manager of the DeLavel Cream Separator agency at Walla Walla, was in the city this morning on his way to Spokane, on business connected with his house.
 O. E. Harper, one of the proprietors of the Pendleton Creamery, has just returned from a visit to Ukiah, where he met the cattlemen and owners of milk cows and found conditions very favorable for the Pendleton creamery.

BIBLE INSTITUTE.

Free Lectures by James Edmunds at Baptist Church.
 Friday evening, "The Missing Link."
 Saturday, 7:30 p. m., "The Core of the Teaching Art."
 Sunday, 11 a. m., "A Living Child and a Dying Church."
 Sunday, 3 p. m., "The Ministry of Teaching."
 Sunday, 7:30 p. m., "The Moral and Religious Education of the Child."
 These five lectures are all free to the Sunday school workers of Pendleton, and should be well attended. It is not often that a course of lectures like the above is offered free to Sunday school workers, and if you are interested in the training of children, whether as teacher or parent, these lectures will be of indescribable value to you. One might travel long distances and attend many conventions without receiving as practical and lasting instructions as will be derived from this institute. The workers from all churches are cordially invited.

PRESBYTERIAN MEETINGS.

Highly Successful Series of Revivals Now in Progress at the First Presbyterian Church.
 Interest in the Needham meetings at the Presbyterian church continues to increase, each evening. Mr. Needham is a pleasing and attractive speaker, and has had a wide experience in revival work.
 Rev. Needham spoke to a good audience at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Afternoon and evening meetings will be held each day during the continuance of the revival.
 The special music in charge of Clifton Powers is a leading feature of the meetings. Mr. Powers is an attractive singer and his music adds greatly to the interest of the meetings.
 All are cordially invited to attend the various sessions of the revival. Practically the same character of meetings will be held afternoon and evening, in order to accommodate those who may not be able to attend the evening sessions.

Congregational Church.

The revival meetings which have been held continuously since January 1, closed last night on account of the throat trouble experienced by the pastor as the result of the grip. The meetings have been very successful, in fact, the most successful meetings held by the Congregational church for several years. A number have already united by profession and by letter, with many to follow. The meetings will probably begin again in a few weeks. The meetings next Sunday evening will be evangelistic.

Hogs in New Mexico.

According to reliable reports Edward Chisholm of New Mexico, is the most extensive individual hog raiser in all the Southwest country. Mr. Chisholm is located in the arid district in the eastern part of that territory, where irrigation has to be relied upon to raise any grain. He raises 1300 tons of Kaffir corn each year, and besides this he raises large quantities of alfalfa on which his young hogs run till they are large enough to be fed on the Kaffir corn. Mr. Chisholm raised last year on his ranch 5000 head of hogs.

Tonight at Opera House.

Tonight the dramatic recital and musical entertainment for the benefit of the Commercial association gymnasium will be given at the Frazer theater. At that time all who delight to listen to good elocution and music may have an opportunity to gratify their tastes. The program arranged is an exceptionally good one.

Carnegie has raised his donation for the Spokane public school library from $75,000 to $85,000, conditioned upon a proportional increase in the local subscription and maintenance fund.

WRITE OF THE WAR

MISS OGLESBY WILL TELL OF THE BANNOCK TROUBLE.

Daughter of Dr. W. W. Oglesby of Weston, Will Compete for Prize in Lewis and Clark Contest—Story of Willow Springs Battle Will Be Told—Many Pendleton Pioneers Remember the Fight on Butter Creek in June, 1878.

A daughter of Umatilla county, Miss Anna Oglesby, formerly of Weston, but now a resident of Cottage Grove, will compete for the prize to be given by the Lewis and Clark commissioners for the best short history of the various Indian wars of Oregon, written by any native of the state.
 Miss Oglesby is a daughter of Dr. W. W. Oglesby, formerly a well known physician of Weston, and captain of the Weston company of volunteers, which took part in the battle of Willow Springs, on Upper Butter Creek, in June, 1878.

Miss Oglesby will write a short history of the Bannock war, and in order to secure authentic data, and asked and received permission to examine the files of the East Oregonian, during the months of June and July, 1878.

Many Pendleton pioneers now living were in the battle of Willow Springs, in which four men were killed by a sudden attack of the Indians. Nine volunteers were wounded.

Dr. Oglesby was well known in this county and took part in the early settlement of Eastern Oregon. His brother, Rev. E. W. Oglesby, was one of the first presiding elders of the Methodist church, South, for the district of Eastern Oregon, and made hundreds of miles on horseback, over the Blue mountains to Union, Summerville, Wingville and Baker City, in the early seventies.

Miss Oglesby is employed on a newspaper at Cottage Grove, and will write her history from personal reminiscences and from the files of the East Oregonian.

Surely a Bad Pen.

An Alabama statesman was writing with a noisy, spluttering pen. Laying the pen down, he smiled and said:

"Once I was spending the evening with a friend of mine in Selma. We sat in the dining room, and from the kitchen came a painful scratching sound.

"Martha," said my friend to the maid, "what is that scratching in the kitchen? It must be the dog trying to get in."

"Huh!" said Martha. "Dat's no dawg scratchin' de do'. Dat's de cook a-writin' a love letter to her honey-suckle."

Crosses on Beer Barrels.

Beer barrels are invariably marked with a series of crosses, which nowadays denote the quality of the beer contained in the cask. These crosses were originally put on by the monks, who then made all the malt liquors, as a sort of trademark. The crosses were not of the same shape as now shown, but were more akin to the shape of a crucifix and were intended to show that by "their oath sworn on the cross" the beer supplied was of a fit and drinkable condition.—London Times.

The Utah legislature has appropriated $30,000 for an exhibit at the Lewis and Clark exposition.
