ADJUTANT GENERAL BELL,

OF COLORADO, DOOMED.

Pirst Act of Governor Adams Will Be to Oust the Cruel Tyrant Who Has Made a Hell of Colorado's Mining Camps During the Past Year.

Adjt. Gen. Sherman Bell must go. It is known that if Governor Adams holds his seat Bell will be compelled to stap down, but in the event James Peabody is reseated he will walk the plank just the same, says the Bell has been pitched everboard by the Mineowners' assotion and part of the agreement ex-Governor Peabody will have to enter into before he is seated is that he will fire Bell as soon as he gets back to

This is the report that circulated ough the legislative halls and created quite a stir, because of the auth oritative source from whence it eman-It was rumored in connection with the report that ex-Governor Peabody is kicking, because he does not to drop his favorite adjutant eral. The ex-governor's objections said to be of no aval, however, for the mineowners have tabooed Bell and are said to have told Mr. Peabody that he cannot have the gubernatorial seat unless he unqualifiedly agrees to

The fight against Bell is said originate from a realization by the mineowners that the "war" of the past two years cost them about twice as much as it should have.

Recently they made a careful check of expenses to find that General Bell, his system of warfare, spent $2 every place he should have spent They appreciate that the war is over and they are awake to the further realization that they will not have the easy time collecting from state the moneys they advanced during the military campaign.

Many of the members of the Mine owners' association have become bad-by worried for fear that the Owen bill. which provides for the issuance of bonds to take care of the indebtedness will not pass. They also realize that while no further hostilities are expected, they might break out.

If such should be the case, they not only want an adjutant general at the head of the military who will use their money sparingly, but one who will not make other bad breaks of which Bell has been repeatedly guil-

METAL TRADES WILL MERGE.

Important Trades Union Movement Coming to a Head.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.-An amaignmation of all the local organiz-ations of the metal trades in the United States is expected to result from a conference begun here today. Heretofore the associations have been separate and distinct organizations, though they have oftentimes acted in barmony. The amalgamated associa-tion will be the largest and strongest organization of employers in the country.

The new association will be known as the National Metal Trades association and will embrace the local organtrations in Cleveland. Cincinnati. Brooklyn, Chicago, Philadelphia, Minneapolis and a number of other large cities. The association will maintain national headquurters in Cincinnati, Rubber Shoes Dearer.

New York, Feb. 17 .- An advance in the prices of rubber boots and overshoes is announced by the rubber trust. The advance amounts to about 6 per cent net over the new schedule of prices announced on January 1, which was an advance of 5 per cent over former prices. The cause of the advance is stated to be the rising price of crude rubber, coupled with the ex-traordinary demand caused by the severe winter. In some sections of the evershoes has more than doubled this

Of the rigid economy practiced by Mrs. Disraeli there is one very good story told: Mrs. Disraeli and her hus had come down from Londo apend the Easter vacation at Hughen-den and had called on the various tradesmen at Wycombe to order the groceries and other requirements for their ten days' or fortnight's stay. It so happened that their sojourn rather abruptly shortened, and Mrs. Disraeli was seen calling at the gro cers and other purveyors, taking out of and asking the shopkeepers to receive them back and have them reweighed and so to make a reduction in their ac

Flight of the Woode Some writers have claimed that the roodcock is sure in his flight, never becoming entangled in briers or creep ing vines when in swift flight through close cover. That may have been their experience, but is not mine. I have seen woodcocks when flushed in such spots become so entangled that they were forced to cense flying and drop to the ground to again make a new start in flying. I remember one old fellow that sat hidden before the stand of one of my setters until I simost step-ped on him and then, rising nearly into my face, got tangled in a clump of fronweed and fell at my feet. Had I been so disposed I could have caught him in my hands, but my desire was to later he proved that he was only a badly frightened woodcock, as he darted away through cover while I watch ed and laughed at him.-Amateur

How He Proposed. "How did he do it? What did he say?" inquired a girl impudently. Then, seeing her friend turn away with a smile upon her face, she went on: "I knew you wouldn't tell. Nobody ever will. You will never get a girl to tell just how her sweetheart proposed to her. She'll tell you anything else you like to ask her. If they've had a quarrel she may often in her indignation let out the horrid things he said to her, but she'll keep as silent as the grave about the way he proposed. When I asked my sister she said that when I get older I shall realize that a proposal from the man you promise to marry is one of the things no woman could ever tell another. And I've found this quite true, although no one minds telling me what 'he' said when they didn't want him to propose at all."

A Clever Surgeon "I tell you," exclaimed the young medical student, "our bouse surgeon is a clever fellow."

"How's that?" asked his chum "Well, a man was brought in with a crushed leg. The surgeon said it must come off. But by some means or other he cut off the wrong leg."

"But I don't call that clever." "Wait a bit. The surgeon said it would be terrible for the poor fellow to go about with no legs at all, so he doctored up the crushed leg instead of cutting that off, too, and now it is as good as ever. An ordinary surgeon would have left the fellow legiess. Wonderfully skillful, wasn't it?"

I have heard Carlyle pour forth a continuous stream of impassioned declamation for more than an hour at a time, and so keen were his charac terizations, so felicitous his arrow shots of criticism, so rich his satire, so intense his patriotic sympathy with all that belonged to national life and character, that no listener could wish the wonderful utterance to cease.-"Retrospects."

NEGRO AND WHITE WOMAN REPRIEVED FOR A MONTH.

Woman's Life Has Been One of Poverty, Neglect, Ignorance and Abuse -In Her Behalf and That of Her Negro Paramour, the Sympathies of Many Influential People Have Been Enlisted, and a Long and Complicated Legal Battle Has Been

Reading, Pa., Feb. 17.-The crime of Mrs. Edwards and the negro Greason, both of whom have been reprieved, was one of the most dastardly and cowardly outrages in the criminal annals of Pennsylvania. The woman is 40 years old and the mother of six children. In 1882, when she was little more than a girl, she was married to John Edwards, a farmer, 10 years her senior. From her birth the girl had been brought up in the midst of dire poverty. As soon as pelled to contribute to the mainte of the household. From the beginning of their married life her husband drank to excess, and at times was brutal. He beat her, choked he and clubbed her. Shunned by white associates, Edwards sought the companionship of a lone negro, Greason, who worked in the quarry at which he was employed. The negro associhe brought to his home and introduced to his wife and 14-year-old daughter. He brought him constantly, until his presence became an acustomed fact, and the negro became a familiar friend of the family.
On the morning of July 4, 1981,

Edwards was found dead. The badly mutilated body was found at the bottom of a cistern. His head had been pounded into a jelly with a hammer. Kate Edwards, the daughter Mary, Samuel Greason, Charles Rollins, Bill Jones and "Shorty" Thompson, (all of the men negroes) were at one time or another committed to prison information alleging the murder of Edwards. The woman was tried and convicted in September, 1861. Samuel Greason was tried and convicted two months later. All the others were discharged.

On the trial of the cases, the Commonwealth advanced the theory that Kate Edwards had been criminally intimate with Greason, and that, fear-ing the vengeance of her husband when her child was born, she secured Greason's assistance, and that to-gether they murdered Edwards. The child, Alma Edwards, was born in the Berks county prison on July 13, 1961, nine days after the crime, and proved to be a mulatto.

The progress of the case was filled with many surprises. Three separate appeals were taken to the suprem court in Greason's case. An act of the legislature was passed for the spe-cial purpose of making his appeal possible. Hearings were had before the board of pardons time and again. The case of Mrs. Edwards was re-fused by the board of pardons on three separate occasions.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

By Cuticura After the Most Awful Suffering Ever Experienced

EIGHT DOCTORS

And Many Remedies Failed to do a Cent's Worth of Good

"I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the tesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none did me any good, as my hands were as had when I got through doctoring as when I began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discouraged and heart-sore. I would feel so bad mornings, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, I often felt like giving up my position. Before I started to work I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft, and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves; in fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. But thanks to Cuticura, that is all over now. three years. I tried everything, but

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Gradual loss of strength, hervousness, bearing-down pains and extreme irritation compailed me to seek medical advice. The dector said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration of the womb, and advised an operation if I wanted to get well. I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I seen found that all the good things said about this great medicine were true. OSTEOPATHY IN PNEUMONIA. Said one of Chicago's most eminent physicians last winter: "Not a medicine is known that will do one particle of good in pneumonia, and the sooner we resume the search for one, the better for ourselves and the people." But he must add: failure must always meet the research for a medicine, for the cause lies beyond medicine. Medical text-books say the state in pneumonia is a filling of the lung tissue with blood and serum which has exuded from the weaken-ed and dilated blood vessels. The osteopath goes further and finds that these blood vessels ar- weakened by a loss of nerve force which is cut off London & Lancashire Fire by pressure on the vaso-motor nerves to the lungs.
