TEACHERS' MEETING

MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.

Department of Superintendence of the National Association is in Session—Will Discuss Many Topics of Absorbing Interest to All Educators and Public Spirited People—Over Twenty Superintendents Present.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 28.—The Davidson theater, spacious though it is, was scarcely able to accommodate the scores of men and women who filled it this morning at the opening of the annual meeting of the department of superintendents of the National Educational Association. Occupying seats of honor upon the stage were such leading lights of the educational world as President Elliot of Harvard university, United States Commissioner of Education W. T. Harris, Superintendent Albert G. Lane of Chicago, Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, and Professor George E. Vincent of the University of Chicago. More than 20 states, including several of those south of the Ohio river, were represented by their state superintendents of public instruction. Of principals and city superintendents there were several hundred in attendance.

The session was called to order shortly after 9 o'clock by President Edwin C. Cooley of Chicago. After several selections of music and the exchange of greetings and responses, the convention listened to a review of the educational features of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. This feature of the program, which occupied the entire forenoon, comprised a symposium of addresses and papers presented by Howard J. Rogers, chief of the department of education and director of congresses of the late world's fair, and several of his associates.

Means of increasing the efficiency of our public school work was the general topic at the afternoon session. Prominent among those who took part in the general discussion were District Superintendent Albert G. Lane of Chicago, Superintendent William I. Crane of Marshalltown, Iowa, and Superintendent Carroll G. Pearce of Milwaukee.

An interesting program has been arranged for the open meeting this evening. William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, will speak on the subject, "Some of the Conditions Which Cause Variation in the Rate of School Expenditure in Different Localities," and "Group Morality—Children," will be the subject of an address by Professor Geo. E. Vincent of the University of Chicago.
